FPWA is a registered investment adviser and an indirect, wholly owned subsidiary of FMR LLC (collectively with FPWA and its affiliates, “Fidelity Investments,” “Fidelity,” “us,” “our,” or “we”). FPWA was formed in 2017 and offers a number of investment advisory programs, including the Fidelity Go® (“Fidelity Go”) program described in this brochure (the “Program”). In addition, FPWA has retained the services of its affiliate Strategic Advisers LLC (“Strategic Advisers”), a registered investment adviser and an indirect, wholly owned subsidiary of FMR LLC, to provide the discretionary portfolio management services for the Program accounts (each a “Program Account,” and together “Program Accounts”) described in this brochure. As of December 31, 2022, FPWA had approximately $652,548,367,853 in discretionary assets under management.

The Program is designed for a client ("client" or "you") who seeks a digital, discretionary investment management experience. To participate in the Program, you must complete an online enrollment process and agree to accept electronic delivery of contracts, disclosure documents, prospectuses, trade confirmations, account statements, and other Program materials and regulatory documents (herein, “Program documents”). You should not participate in the Program if you do not wish to interact digitally.

Regular and continuous Internet access is required to enroll in the Program and to access all related Program documents. You also have an obligation to maintain a current and accurate email address to ensure that you can receive your Program-related communications and/or Program documents, and your participation in a Program can be terminated by us if you request to unenroll from electronic delivery for your Program-related communications and/or Program documents.

The Fidelity Go Program includes discretionary investment management services made available to clients through the Fidelity Go website. There is no minimum to open a Fidelity Go Program Account; however, a Program Account will not be invested according to the selected asset allocation strategy until the Program Account has a balance of at least $10.

The Fidelity Go Program offers nondiscretionary financial planning through the Program website or via telephone by a team of Fidelity representatives. To be eligible for the nondiscretionary financial planning available through the Program, you must invest and maintain at least $25,000 in at least one Fidelity Go Program Account. Clients who maintain Health Savings Accounts through the Program and clients who are nearing or in retirement will have access to the nondiscretionary financial planning offered in the Program, but should understand that such financial planning will not address health care spending strategies or retirement income planning.

Identification and Selection of an Asset Allocation Strategy

As part of the Program’s enrollment process, you will be required to provide us with certain initial information about yourself, including but not limited to your age, goal, initial investment, time horizon, household income, and risk tolerance (collectively, “Initial Information”), that we will use to identify a long-term asset allocation strategy for your Program Account. Please note that, if you are converting a Fidelity Brokerage Services (“FBS”) individual retirement account into a Program Account, we will assume a “retirement” goal for your Program Account. You are able to change the goal for your Program Account when filling out the Initial Information.

Each asset allocation strategy is composed of Fidelity Flex® mutual funds (as described below), which provide exposure to a combination of stocks, bonds, and short-term investments and is one in a series of asset allocations that range from conservative (lower risk and return potential) to aggressive (higher risk and return potential). You can and we encourage you to also provide us with additional information about yourself (including but not limited to your investment experience and knowledge, emergency fund, other assets, and financial situation, collectively, “Additional Information”), which will allow us to know you better. The Initial Information and Additional Information (together, “Profile Information”) help us create your personal profile and will impact the asset allocation strategy that is proposed to you. You can update your Profile Information online anytime, and we encourage you to keep this information current.
In the event that you do not provide Additional Information, we will propose an asset allocation strategy for your Program Account using your Initial Information along with assumed responses based on information derived from investors in the Program and other Fidelity programs and services (our “profiling assumptions”). A portion of the profiling assumptions for Program Accounts with a retirement goal are based on similarly aged investors in Fidelity programs and services, and a portion of the profiling assumptions for Program Accounts with other goals are based on investors in the Program with a similar investment time horizon. This means that the profiling assumptions will differ depending on the goal of your Program Account.

We use a proprietary framework based on aggregate investor data to inform our profiling assumptions. You should understand that if you do not answer certain questions aimed at collecting your Profile Information, including those concerning your emergency fund, financial situation, and investment knowledge/experience, we will assume values for those responses. For example, if you have a Program Account with a retirement goal, our profiling assumptions will generally assume that your emergency fund, investment experience, and investment knowledge increase as you age. It is also important to understand that the profiling assumptions are periodically reviewed and updated based on the investor information we have in our database, and such updates can result in changes to the profiling assumptions that are used as part of your Profile Information. We encourage you to provide the Additional Information to ensure that the Program services you receive are based on your particular information rather than our profiling assumptions, and to keep such Additional Information updated as appropriate.

As part of the Program enrollment process, you can select the proposed asset allocation strategy or another asset allocation strategy that you believe is appropriate for you, subject to certain constraints and limitations. You should understand that the performance of a Program Account with a client-selected asset allocation strategy likely will differ, at times significantly, from the performance of a Program Account managed according to the asset allocation strategy we proposed. Unless you are enrolled in Smart Shift, as described below, your Program Account’s asset allocation strategy will not change unless (i) you initiate a change, or (ii) the asset allocation strategy for the account is no longer appropriate based on your Profile Information.

The Program offers Smart Shift, an account feature through which we manage your Program Account to a target time horizon that reflects when you anticipate starting to withdraw from your Program Account. Smart Shift is only available to clients who are invested in the asset allocation strategy that we recommend. Program Accounts managed with Smart Shift are designed to align to our suggested asset allocation based on your Profile Information, and, if Additional Information is not provided, our profiling assumptions. The asset allocation strategy for your Program Account will change over time if Smart Shift is enabled.

Clients with a retirement goal that are within three years of when they anticipate withdrawing from their Program Account (their “Retirement Year”) must provide an anticipated withdrawal amount as part of their Profile Information for us to manage their account in Smart Shift. You will not be eligible for Smart Shift if you are within three years of your Retirement Year and fail to provide your anticipated withdrawal amount, and we reserve the right to discontinue your participation in Smart Shift unless and until you provide us with your anticipated withdrawal amount. Smart Shift is not available for clients with a retirement goal once they reach their Retirement Year.

In addition, information regarding the potential value of a Program Account over time can also be provided to you. Using client-provided inputs and a number of assumptions, we will display information about hypothetical asset projection scenarios and roughly estimate how those scenarios can perform over time. It is important for you to understand that the modeling provided is hypothetical in nature, is provided for illustrative purposes only, does not reflect actual investment results, and does not guarantee future investment outcomes. The information shown or made available to you can vary with each use and over time.

Discretionary Investment Management Services

FPWA has retained the services of its affiliate Strategic Advisers to provide the discretionary investment management services for the Program. Your Program Account, and each asset allocation strategy used in the Program, will be invested in certain Fidelity Flex® mutual funds (“Flex Funds”) that are available only to certain fee-based accounts offered by Fidelity. The Flex Funds are managed by Fidelity Management & Research Company LLC (“FMRCo”) and its affiliates. Unlike many other mutual funds, the Flex Funds do not charge management fees or, with limited exceptions, fund expenses. Instead, compensation for access to the Flex Funds is paid out of the fees charged by certain fee-based accounts offered by Fidelity that include Flex Funds as underlying investments, including the Program. A Program Account will be periodically rebalanced or reallocated to the portfolio identified for your selected asset allocation strategy as further described the Strategic Advisers Fidelity Go Program Fundamentals (“Strategic Advisers Program Fundamentals”). The specific Flex Funds or number of Flex Funds in which a Program Account is invested could change, and the underlying Flex Funds held in a Program Account can differ based on whether a Program Account is a taxable, health savings, or individual retirement account. For additional information about the Flex Funds selected for a Program Account, please see the respective fund’s prospectus.

A client can impose reasonable restrictions on the management of any Program Account. You can request a restriction on the Program website. All requested investment restrictions are subject to our review and approval. If a restriction is accepted, Program Account assets will be invested in a manner that is appropriate given the restriction. It is important to understand that imposing an investment restriction can delay the start of discretionary management on and can impact the performance of a Program Account, at times significantly, as compared with the performance of a Program Account managed without restrictions, possibly producing lower overall results. Not all requested restrictions will be considered reasonable for each asset allocation strategy, and a previously accepted restriction will be removed if we change your asset allocation strategy to one for which that restriction is not considered reasonable. For Program Accounts that are not enrolled in Smart Shift, any client-imposed restrictions will be removed if the client changes the asset allocation strategy for the Program Account, and the client can subsequently request new investment restrictions for the Program Account on the Program website. You can reevaluate restrictions at any time.

Important information about Strategic Advisers, including details about its discretionary portfolio management process, can be found in the Strategic Advisers Program Fundamentals.

Responsibility of Clients
We rely on client information to provide the services for the Program. As a client, you have a responsibility to regularly review and, should it become inaccurate, update your Profile Information for your Program Account and to maintain a current and accurate email address to receive Program-related communications and Program documents. Your Program Account will continue to be managed on a discretionary basis using your Profile Information, and it is your responsibility to advise us through the Program’s website if there are any changes to your Profile Information. It is important for you to understand that your Profile Information, which is used to determine an appropriate asset allocation strategy for your Program Account, will not automatically update as a result of any changes you model on your own in any financial planning tool that is made available online. If you maintain multiple relationships with Fidelity, then you should ensure that your personal, financial, and other important information is independently updated for each respective service or account.

Personalized Planning & Advice Financial Planning Services and Access to a Fidelity Representative
In addition to the discretionary investment management services described above, clients who invest and maintain $25,000 or more in at least one Program Account will have access to nondiscretionary financial planning services designed to assist you in evaluating one or more identified goals. As part of the Program enrollment, you will assign a goal for each Program Account you open. Once enrolled, you can use the Program website to view your Program Accounts and engage with self-guided planning tools and resources. These tools are designed to help you evaluate your ability to meet your identified goals; identify action steps; and select, prepare for, and complete financial planning sessions designed to present strategies to help you evaluate your financial needs (the “Personalized Planning & Advice Services”).
You have access to the Personalized Planning & Advice Services through the Program website and via telephone assistance from a team of Fidelity representatives, but the Personalized Planning & Advice Services do not include in-person or in-branch financial planning services with a Fidelity representative. The team of phone-based Fidelity representatives can help you evaluate your financial goals and objectives, and provide general assistance with products and services provided by Fidelity outside of the Program. We use various financial planning analytics and applications to look at your identified goals, the assets held in your Program Account(s), and any other assets you identify that are held in other Fidelity programs or accounts, or at a third party that you have designated toward a goal (“Other Assets”). We will help you in evaluating your ability to meet your identified goal(s); however, we are not obligated to provide ongoing financial planning advice, update any analysis provided, or monitor your progress toward a planning or investment goal. Any self-directed modeling, including any “what-if” or other changes you model on your own in any financial planning tool that is made available to you online, either through the Personalized Planning & Advice Services or otherwise through Fidelity, will not automatically update your Profile Information or your asset allocation strategy for your Program Accounts.

It is important to understand that there can be significant differences between any asset allocation modeling shown in a financial plan and the performance you will experience in a Program Account. The Personalized Planning & Advice Services do not include initial or ongoing advice regarding specific securities or other investments, any financial analysis provided outside this Program (including prior to enrolling in the Program), or any financial planning that you engage in on your own in a financial planning tool that is made available online. Other than with respect to your Program Accounts, which are managed on a discretionary basis through the Program, whether and how to implement any asset allocation or other recommendations provided as a component of our financial planning services is your responsibility and is separate and distinct from the Personalized Planning & Advice Services. Specifically, Other Assets are not managed as part of the Program and are subject to separate and distinct terms, conditions, and, as applicable, fees. In addition, if you choose to implement some or all of the asset allocation or other recommendations provided as part of the Personalized Planning & Advice Services through Fidelity, a Fidelity entity will act as a broker-dealer or investment adviser depending on the products or services selected, and you will be subject to separate, applicable charges, fees, or expenses. Please see the “Guide to Brokerage and Investment Advisory Services at Fidelity Investments” available at Fidelity.com/information or speak with a Fidelity representative for more information.

It is important to understand that Fidelity representatives can act in the capacity of a registered representative of FBS, FPWA’s affiliated broker-dealer. Any financial planning a client receives from a Fidelity representative prior to us accepting your Program Client Agreement is provided by FBS and is not part of the Program services.

FEES AND COMPENSATION

Advisory Fees
The Program charges an advisory fee based on a Program Account’s average daily asset balance, payable quarterly after the end of each quarter. Program Accounts will be charged an advisory fee in accordance with the table below by calculating average daily assets at the end of each month to determine the advisory fee rate to assess for that month, and the advisory fees for each month during a quarter are added together to determine the quarterly advisory fee. If the end of the month falls on a non-business day, then the Program Account value on the end of the last business day of the month will be applied to any subsequent non-business days in that month. The Program advisory fee paid includes the ongoing discretionary management of a Program Account; the brokerage, clearing, and custody services provided by FPWA’s affiliates; and, as applicable, the financial planning and Fidelity representative access noted above. Please see the table below for the advisory fee rates for the Program.
ADVISORY FEE SCHEDULE FOR PROGRAM ACCOUNTS

<tr>
<td>Account balances of less than $25,000</td>
<td>No advisory fee</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Account balances of $25,000 and above</td>
<td>0.35% annually</td>
</tr>
</table>

*Average daily assets of the Program Accounts are determined on the last business day of the month and used to calculate the advisory fee rate to assess for that month. The quarterly advisory fee deducted after the end of each quarter from Program Accounts will be the sum of each month’s advisory fee for that quarter, and the advisory fee rate can vary from month to month during a quarter based on the average daily assets determined on the last business day of each month during the quarter.

Billing

The advisory fee will be deducted from your Program Account on a quarterly basis after the end of each quarter. Program Accounts are not aggregated for billing purposes. Certain assets in your Program Account could be liquidated to pay the advisory fee; this liquidation could generate a taxable gain or loss in taxable Program Accounts.

Accounts that cross from one advisory fee tier to another advisory fee tier during a billing period will be assessed a pro rata fee for the number of days within the billing period for which the Program Account was funded. For example, if your average Program Account balance does not exceed $25,000 during the months of July and August but does exceed $25,000 for the month of September, you will be assessed the 0.0% advisory fee for the days in July and August and the 0.35% advisory fee for days in September.

It is important that you understand that the 0.35% advisory fee applies to the entirety of your Program Account balance. For example, in the scenario described above, you would not pay an advisory fee for the months of July and August, but the 0.35% advisory fee would be applied to the entirety of your Program Account, not just the amounts of $25,000 and above, for the month of September.

Additional Fee Information

As described in greater detail below, your Program’s advisory fee could be reduced by a Credit Amount (as defined below) if you elect to transfer securities to fund your Program Account. The Credit Amount is intended to address the conflicts of interest that arise from Program Account investments that generate revenue for Fidelity by reducing the advisory fees paid to FPWA by the amount of compensation, if any, FPWA or its affiliates retain that is derived as a direct result of investments imported into Program Accounts. As stated above, your Program Account assets will be invested in Flex Funds and the fee structures of the Flex Funds afford transparency into the total fees you pay. The Flex Funds are not subject to the Credit Amount because Fidelity receives no fees from the Flex Funds for managing or handling the business affairs of the funds and pays the expenses of each fund, with limited exceptions. See “Client Referrals and Other Compensation” below for additional information about the Credit Amount and the sale of transferred securities imported into Program Accounts.

All fees are subject to change. In rare circumstances, FPWA negotiates the advisory fee for certain Program Accounts. FPWA could also agree to waive fees, in whole or in part, in its sole discretion, including but not limited to in connection with promotional efforts and other programs (including situations designed to facilitate transitions between advisory programs), or for certain current and former employees of Fidelity.

This will result in certain clients paying less than the standard fee. In addition, and to the extent applicable, Program Accounts with waived, negotiated, or no advisory fees do not receive the Credit Amount for the sale of transferred securities; instead, any Credit Amount generated from such Program Accounts will be allocated, pro rata based on assets, among the open Program Accounts in a Program at the time the Credit Amount is applied.

You will not generally pay any commissions for transactions executed through affiliates of FPWA, transaction fees, or sales loads on the securities purchased in a Program Account. You are responsible for any fees incurred in connection with wash sales that can occur in a non-Program Account, as well as fees resulting from the sale of any securities used to fund your initial investment in a Program Account (whether such sale is inside or outside a Program Account) and any subsequent withdrawals that you initiate. If a mutual fund purchased for a Program Account incurs a redemption or other administrative fee as a result of not being held for a minimum time period, Fidelity can, in its sole discretion, choose to pay any such redemption fees on behalf of Program clients, but is under no obligation to do so.

While you will not generally pay commissions for transactions executed through FPWA's affiliates, FPWA and its affiliates incur costs to make the Flex Funds available to you and incur costs to execute transactions in your Program Account. This is a conflict of interest, as FPWA and its affiliates are disincentivized to execute transactions in your Program Account. FPWA mitigates this conflict by evaluating Strategic Advisers' investment performance in Program Accounts in connection with its investment oversight.

Your Program's advisory fee does not cover the charges resulting from transactions executed with or through broker-dealers that are not affiliates of FPWA, including but not limited to commissions, markups and markdowns, transfer taxes, exchange fees, regulatory fees, odd-lot differentials, handling charges, electronic fund and wire transfer fees, or any other charges imposed by law or otherwise agreed to with regard to Program Accounts. These transaction charges will be reflected on trade confirmations and/or Program Account statements to the extent applicable. FPWA or an affiliate can voluntarily assume the cost of certain commissions for equity transactions executed through broker-dealers unaffiliated with FPWA; Program clients will not be charged commissions for such transactions. Your Program's advisory fee also does not cover a regulatory charge of a few cents per $1,000 of securities sold. Please note that the amount of this regulatory fee varies over time, and because variations will not be immediately known to Fidelity, the amount will be estimated and assessed in advance. To the extent that such estimated amount differs from the actual amount of the regulatory fee, Fidelity will retain the excess. These charges will be reflected on Program Account statements and/or trade confirmations.

The Program's advisory fees includes fees paid to Strategic Advisers for the discretionary investment management services provided to Program Accounts; FPWA pays Strategic Advisers a portion of the Program advisory fee that varies based on the Program's assets under management. The advisory fee does not cover costs associated with implementing any suggestions provided as part of our Personalized Planning & Advice Services, other than the discretionary investment management services provided through the Program.

FPWA's affiliates sponsor promotional offers that provide clients with the ability to receive cash compensation for opening and funding certain accounts. Accounts opened through the Program are, from time to time, included in the list of account types and investment solutions eligible for such promotional offers. The Program's eligibility for such promotional offers creates a conflict of interest, as FPWA and its affiliates are incentivizing clients to utilize the Program rather than FPWA's other managed account programs or self-directed investment options available through FBS. FPWA will also, from time to time, provide cash compensation to Program clients for taking qualifying actions with respect to their Program Account, such as certain interactions with Program features.

Any compensation will be deposited into the client's Program Account, will be subject to the advisory fee applicable to the Program, and may have tax consequences. A promotional offer is not a recommendation to implement any asset allocation strategy or select a particular account type or investment solution.

Also, during the time you are enrolled in a Program, you could be eligible to receive certain cash or non-cash compensation or services offered by FPWA's affiliates based, in whole or in part, on the amount you invest with a Program. It is important to understand that such services are not part of the Program's services for which the Program's advisory fee is paid. In addition, while enrolled in a Program, you could receive information about how to access financial wellness and/or professional support resources and services that are offered by entities unaffiliated with Fidelity, some of which pay a compensation to Fidelity as a result of your use of such resources or services. Such resources and services are not included as part of a Program's services, and any applicable costs associated with enrolling in or subscribing to these resources or services would be in addition to the Program advisory fee.
Other Considerations

In evaluating the Program, please consider that Fidelity offers a variety of investment advisory services and brokerage offerings. These offerings are summarized below to assist you in understanding and comparing the services and offerings. For more detailed information regarding an investment advisory service, please review the respective Program Fundamentals available at Fidelity.com/information or through a Fidelity representative. Refer to the “Guide to Brokerage and Investment Advisory Services at Fidelity Investments” available at Fidelity.com/information for more information regarding our roles and responsibilities when providing brokerage and advisory services. Please note that, other than the self-directed brokerage account offered by FBS, the advisory programs included in the chart below are each offered by FPWA.

As described in the chart above, FBS offers self-directed brokerage accounts and financial planning and can provide dedicated support from a Fidelity representative depending on a client's overall relationship with Fidelity. A client could therefore purchase planning services separately from another firm, plan independently using the tools and analytics that are used to support the financial planning services provided through the Program that are also made available by FBS at Fidelity.com without a fee, or, if the client qualifies for dedicated support from a Fidelity representative, work with the Fidelity representative to receive planning services offered by FBS without a fee.

While you can obtain similar products and services from Fidelity or other firms without enrolling in the Program, you would not receive the same discretionary services offered through the Program; the Flex Funds used by the Program would not be generally available for purchase outside of the Program; investments could be subject to sales loads or transaction and redemption charges that are generally waived as part of the Program; and, if you invest and maintain at least $25,000 in at least one Program Account, you would not generally be able to obtain the same combination of investment and financial planning services. The overall cost of purchasing the products and services separately will most likely differ from the Program's advisory fee. Clients should consider the value of these advisory services when making such comparisons.

In addition, FPWA and Strategic Advisers offer Fidelity® Personalized Planning & Advice at Work, which is available exclusively through workplace savings plans that have selected FPWA and Strategic Advisers to provide advisory services to eligible plan participants. The references to Personalized Planning & Advice in this brochure refers solely to the financial planning services available through the Program and not to Fidelity Personalized Planning & Advice at Work.

Information about Fidelity and Fidelity Representative Compensation

Fidelity representatives who support the Program are associated with FPWA and FBS. Program recommendations are made when the Fidelity representative is providing FBS services. Once a client enrolls in the Program, the Fidelity representative will be providing FPWA services. Separate and apart from a Program, Fidelity representatives, including those that support a Program, can provide clients with a variety of FBS services, including investment education and advice, financial analyses, and planning services. When providing services for FBS, these Fidelity representatives are acting solely as registered representatives of FBS, and the Program's fees are not related to those FBS services.

Fidelity representatives receive a percentage of their total annual compensation as base pay—a predetermined and fixed annual salary. Base pay varies between Fidelity representatives based on experience and position. In addition to base pay, Fidelity representatives are also eligible to receive variable compensation or an annual bonus, and certain representatives are also eligible to receive longer-term compensation. Whether and how much each Fidelity representative receives in each component is generally determined by the representative’s role, responsibilities, and performance measures.

Fidelity and the Fidelity representatives who support the Program and who are eligible to receive variable compensation receive different amounts of compensation depending on the type of product or service a client selects. Depending on the specific situation, the compensation received by Fidelity and those Fidelity representatives in connection with a client enrolling in the Program could be greater than the compensation received by Fidelity and its representatives if a client participated in another Fidelity advisory program or maintained a brokerage account.

Products and services that generally require more time to engage with a client and/or that are more complex provide greater compensation to a representative. This compensation structure creates a financial incentive for Fidelity and its representatives to recommend investments in more complex or time-consuming products and services over others, and to recommend that a client maintain an investment in such products and services over time. Fidelity addresses these conflicts of interest by having processes in place that require our representatives to make recommendations that are in the best interest of clients, training and supervising our representatives, and disclosing these conflicts of interest to clients so that they can consider the conflicts when making financial decisions.

To see specific compensation levels for the managed account programs mentioned above and other products, please see the “Fidelity Investments Compensation Disclosure” document (available at Fidelity.com/information), or contact a Fidelity representative. Clients should read the information contained in the Fidelity Investments Compensation Disclosure document carefully and contact a Fidelity representative.
with any questions regarding the financial incentives and conflicts of interest that Fidelity has when making recommendations to you.

PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

FPWA does not charge performance-based fees in connection with the Program. In addition, FPWA does not engage in side-by-side management.

TYPES OF CLIENTS

The Program is generally available to individual investors who are U.S. persons (including a U.S. resident alien), typically reside in the United States, and have a valid taxpayer identification number. The Program is not available to foreign investors. You can enroll taxable, health savings, or individual retirement accounts in the Program. You must also have regular Internet access and be comfortable with a digital investment experience and online services. All Program-related communications, materials, and Program documents will be delivered electronically. You will be sent an electronic notification regarding the availability of Program documents, and a link or website address where the Program documents can be accessed. It is important to note that if you want to revoke your consent to electronic delivery of Program-related communications and/or Program documents, you will need to terminate your participation in the Program.

Opening and Funding a Program Account

To enroll in the Program, you must agree to the Program Client Agreement, which details the terms and conditions under which the client appoints FPWA to provide the Program services. Our advisory relationship with a client begins when we accept the client's Program Client Agreement.

Except with respect to a Program investment proposal, preliminary discussions or recommendations made before we accept your Program Client Agreement are not intended as investment advice provided by FPWA, including but not limited to any financial planning provided by Fidelity representatives, as described above. The Program Client Agreement requires that you delegate discretionary authority to FPWA and acknowledge that FPWA has retained its affiliate Strategic Advisers to provide discretionary investment management for your Program Account, which includes the authority to determine which funds to purchase or sell and the total amount of such purchases and sales, subject to certain Program and regulatory limitations and Strategic Advisers' internal policies and procedures. Your Program Client Agreement establishes a brokerage account with FBS. During your participation in a Program, your Program Account will not be available for self-directed brokerage activities.

There is no minimum to open a Program Account; however, once you have enrolled in the Program, you will have 90 days to fund your Program Account. You must deposit at least $10 for us to begin managing your account, and you must invest and maintain $25,000 or more in at least one Program Account to be eligible for the Personalized Planning & Advice Services. If you have not funded your Program Account within 90 days, we can terminate your participation in the Program. We reserve the right in our sole discretion to remove your access to the Personalized Planning & Advice Services if you do not maintain $25,000 in at least one Program Account. In general, your Program's fees will begin to accrue after a Program Account has been deemed in good order for management purposes. We can, in our sole discretion, change the Program Account opening minimum, the minimum amount at which we will begin managing your account, or the minimum amount at which clients become eligible for the Personalized Planning & Advice Services at any time.

You can fund your Program Account by depositing cash, or by depositing securities acceptable to us from an FBS brokerage account. Once we receive all the required information, and the funding process, including, if applicable, the settlement of funds used to fund the Program Account, are completed, a Program Account will be reviewed for investment and will typically begin trading within five business days. The Program's general policy is for cash deposits to be invested in the core Fidelity money market fund identified as the cash sweep vehicle for your Program Account ("Core Money Market Fund") as soon as reasonably practicable, then further invest portions of these assets in accordance with your selected asset allocation strategy. Fidelity will determine, in its sole discretion, which securities will be eligible to fund a Program Account. A Fidelity representative can provide information as to whether a specific mutual fund, exchange-traded product ("ETP"), or other security is available to fund a Program Account.

It is important that you understand that the long-term asset allocation strategy we recommend for your Program Account will not consider funds deposited into your account by Fidelity pursuant to any promotional offers, which are described in more detail in the “Fees and Compensation” section of this Program Fundamentals. You should add the value of any such funds to the amount you list as your initial investment in the Initial Information if you want us to consider such funds in recommending an asset allocation strategy to you.

Program Accounts cannot receive a transfer of securities from an account (an “in-kind” transfer) that is not held by FBS. Clients who desire to transfer securities in-kind from an account not held at FBS must first transfer the securities in-kind to an FBS brokerage account, and then transfer such securities in-kind from the FBS brokerage account to a Program Account. Transferred securities imported into Program Accounts must be held free and clear of any liens, pledges, or other legal or contractual restrictions. At times, Fidelity will not accept individual securities that are otherwise generally available to fund a Program Account due to internal guidelines or state or federal regulations.

We will liquidate transferred securities imported into Program Accounts as soon as reasonably practicable, and the transfer of such securities into a Program Account is deemed to be your directive to Fidelity to sell any such securities upon transfer. We do not consider the potential tax consequences of these sales when following your deemed direction to sell such securities. We also reserve the right to transfer an ineligible security back to the account from which you are transferring the assets.

Sales of transferred securities will be subject to redemption and other applicable fees, including commissions on sales of securities; however, under certain circumstances, we can voluntarily assume the costs of certain commissions. You could realize a taxable gain or loss when these shares are sold. In addition, when Fidelity Funds are purchased in taxable Program Accounts, you could receive taxable distributions out of earnings that have accrued before purchase (a situation referred to as buying a dividend).

Additional Deposits
Additional deposits can be made to your Program Account at any time, including funding your Program Accounts with transferred securities as described above and acceptable to us. Discretionary management of additional deposits will generally occur as soon as reasonably practicable but could be delayed for various reasons, including time needed to liquidate securities, special handling instructions, or funding your Program Account in accordance with the investment minimum. Depending on the size of the deposit made and the size of the positions held in your Program Account, deposits can remain invested in your Core Money Market Fund until such time as your Program Account is rebalanced. In general, we will begin charging the Program advisory fee on additional deposits once assets have been received into the Program Account and have been deemed in good order for management purposes.

Withdrawals, Account Closure, and Program Termination
At any time, you can contact us to request a withdrawal from a Program Account, elect to close one or more of your Program Accounts, or elect to close all Program Accounts and terminate Program enrollment. If you instruct us to terminate your participation in the Program, we will cease managing your Program Account, additional deposits will no longer be accepted into your Program Account, and any Program Account features will be terminated. In addition, FPWA reserves the right to terminate your participation in the Program (or to limit your rights to access any or all Program Account features, products, or services) for any reason, including but not limited to (i) if you fail to maintain a current, accurate, and valid email address, (ii) if you revoke your consent to electronic delivery of Program-related communications and/or Program documents, (iii) if any authorized person on a Program Account resides outside the United States, (iv) if the balance of your Program Accounts falls below the minimum investment level required for your Program, (v) opening multiple Program Accounts to avoid paying Program advisory fees in accordance with the fee schedule included in this brochure, or (vi) if the Program is deemed no longer appropriate for you.

Should either party terminate the investment advisory relationship, the Program’s advisory fee will be prorated from the beginning of the last quarter to the termination date, which is defined as the date when the Program Account is no longer managed by Fidelity on a discretionary basis.

You will be required to provide instructions to be used in the event of withdrawals or Program Account closure. You have the option of electing either that assets be liquidated and the proceeds sent to you by check or transferred to a bank account (or other account), or, as permitted, having the assets transferred in-kind to another account.

While the timing of trading and settlement can vary, liquidating trades for partial and full withdrawal requests will typically be placed within the next five business days of the request. While such instructions are pending, we could place trading restrictions on the Program Account.

It is important to understand that the Flex Funds purchased in a Program Account can only be held in certain Fidelity fee-based accounts. When a Program Account holds Flex Funds, termination from the Program will result in the sale of those securities held in the Program Account unless you transfer the Flex Funds to another Fidelity fee-based account that includes or accepts the Flex Funds held in your Program Account. FPWA will not transfer the Flex Funds held in your Program Account to another financial institution or to another Fidelity account, and any request a client makes to transfer the Flex Funds will result in our redeeming such fund and transferring the proceeds in cash. Taxable Program Accounts could incur a taxable gain or loss in connection with such sale. If any proceeds remain in a Program Account after you terminate from a Program, the proceeds will be held in the Core Money Market Fund, and we will restrict the account pending your liquidation or transfer instructions. Note that liquidation of assets in taxable accounts could have tax consequences.

There can be instances where we need to place a “do-not-trade” restriction on one or more Program Accounts, including but not limited to when processing a trade correction, when we need to comply with a court order, or when we need additional Profile Information from a client. For the period when a do-not-trade restriction is in effect, discretionary management of the Program Account(s) will be suspended and we will not monitor the Program Account(s) for potential purchases and sales of securities, and any deposits made during the do-not-trade period will not be invested until the do-not-trade restriction is removed.

METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES, AND RISK OF LOSS

Investment Approach

As discussed above, FPWA uses a proprietary algorithm to identify one in a series of long-term asset allocation strategies for your Program Account based on your Profile Information. FPWA’s affiliate Strategic Advisers has been retained to create portfolios for each asset allocation strategy and to invest Program Accounts in alignment with the respective portfolio, subject to reasonable restrictions that you can impose. Strategic Advisers’ portfolio construction process uses an approach that combines a set of investment options whose overall risk characteristics, when viewed as a portfolio, are designed to be similar to those of an appropriate asset allocation strategy for a particular risk profile of an investor.

Investment Universe

The Program is designed to provide investors with a portfolio of Flex Funds. For the equity and certain fixed income portions of a portfolio, Program Account assets will be invested in passively managed Flex Funds that seek to replicate the performance of relevant market indexes. Short-duration non-municipal fixed income and all municipal asset portions of a Program Account can be invested in both passively and actively managed Flex
Funds. Program Accounts that have a more conservative asset allocation strategy will typically hold a higher percentage of bond funds than other Program Accounts. The specific mix of Flex Funds chosen will depend on the asset allocation strategy selected for your Program Account, could change over time in light of changes to your personal situation, and could deviate at times from the asset allocation strategy you originally viewed as part of the Program’s online enrollment process.

For additional information about Strategic Advisers’ investment methodology, the investments selected for Program Accounts, and the risks associated with those investments, please see the Strategic Advisers Program Fundamentals included in your Program materials.

Material Risks

Risks Associated with Financial Planning. The projections and other analyses presented to a client in the course of providing the Personalized Planning & Advice Services are not guarantees. In particular, projections are hypothetical in nature; are for illustrative purposes only; do not reflect actual investment, tax, or other planning results; and are not guarantees of future outcomes. Any modeling results shown will vary with each use and over time. In addition, our assumptions and methodologies used in financial planning are adjusted from time to time, which can have an impact on the results obtained. The financial planning analyses provided through the Program are based on the information provided by clients and certain static assumptions—for example, fixed return rates, fixed life expectancies, and fixed rates of income or cash flow. In reality, these variables will not be static—market fluctuation will affect overall asset performance, and uncertain life expectancy could cause clients to outlive their resources or fail to accumulate necessary resources. In addition, financial planning analyses include probabilistic modeling, whereby the probability of success varies based on differing assumptions and on changing circumstances and market information.

The financial planning services can include asset allocation modeling to help a client evaluate their ability to meet identified goals; however, there can be significant differences between any asset allocation modeling shown to a client and the performance a client will actually experience for their Program Accounts. Asset allocation modeling is performed at the asset class level, assumes broad diversification within each asset class, and is not designed to predict the future performance of any particular security or investment product, and results will vary with each use and over time. In addition, the financial planning analyses do not model the individual return characteristics of every security or investment a client owns, and, as a result, the modeling process is subject to significant variability based on the differences in performance between the securities actually owned by a client and the capital market assumptions used in the modeling process. To the extent that the characteristics of a client’s assets vary significantly from those of the broadly diversified asset class assumptions used, actual performance can deviate significantly from the projections provided as a component of our financial planning services.

If an asset allocation recommendation with respect to a particular goal is provided as part of our financial planning services, it can differ from the asset allocation strategy identified for a Program Account associated with that goal. The financial planning analysis assumes that the asset allocation of all the accounts associated with a goal, when aggregated, will generally reflect the asset allocation recommended with respect to the goal. Clients remain responsible for the asset allocation of any Other Assets associated with a goal. If the aggregated asset allocation for all of a client’s accounts associated with a goal does not match the goal asset allocation recommended for that goal, the differential can have a significant impact on the outcome of our financial planning analyses.

As part of the financial planning services, we can identify certain account types or account structures that are generally designed to help investors reach their goals, including the use of tax-deferred or tax-free retirement, insurance, and educational savings accounts. There is no guarantee that a client’s use of these account structures will be beneficial in helping the client reach their goals.

In addition, the legal and tax treatment of these types of accounts could change in the future, leading to unexpected consequences for any such accounts, and we are under no obligation to update you about potential changes in the tax law or the tax treatment of any account. Any financial planning analysis services made available to clients will provide more specific details about the risks and limitations associated with that analysis.

Fidelity does not provide tax, accounting, or legal advice. Accordingly, any resource or information presented to clients in conjunction with the Program about tax considerations affecting financial transactions or estate arrangements is provided for informational purposes. Clients should consult their tax and legal advisors regarding their particular circumstances.

Risks Associated with Investment Strategies. The discretionary investment management strategies implemented for clients in the Program, including conservative investments, involve risk of loss. Investments in a Program Account are not bank deposits and are not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (“FDIC”) or any other government agency. You could lose money by investing in mutual funds.
You could lose money by investing in a Program Account.

Many factors affect each investment’s or Program Account’s performance and potential for loss. Strategies that pursue investments in equities will be subject to stock market volatility, and can decline significantly in response to adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments. Strategies that pursue fixed income investments (such as bond or money market funds) will see values fluctuate in response to changes in interest rates, inflation, and prepayment risks, as well as default risks for both issuers and counterparties; changing interest rates, including rates that fall below zero, can have unpredictable effects on markets and can result in heightened market volatility. Developments that disrupt global economies and financial markets, such as wars, acts of terrorism, the spread of infectious illness or other public health issues, recessions, or other events, can magnify factors that affect performance. These strategies are also affected by impacts to the individual issuers, such as changes in an issuer’s credit quality, or changes in tax, regulatory, market, or economic developments. In addition, investments in certain bond structures are less liquid than other investments and therefore are more difficult to trade effectively. Municipal bond funds carry additional risks, which are discussed below.

Nearly all investments or accounts are subject to volatility in non-U.S. markets, through either direct exposure or indirect effects in U.S. markets from events abroad. Those investments and accounts that are exposed to emerging markets are potentially subject to heightened volatility from greater social, economic, regulatory, and political uncertainties, as the extent of economic development, political stability, market depth, infrastructure, capitalization, and regulatory oversight can be less than in more developed markets.

It is important to understand that a Program Account’s actual asset allocation can deviate from the identified asset allocation strategy for reasons that include market movement and investment decisions to overweight or underweight certain asset classes to seek to increase potential returns or reduce risks. If you have selected an asset allocation strategy for your Program Account that differs from the allocation proposed, the performance of your Program Account could differ, at times significantly, from the performance of an account managed according to the asset allocation strategy originally proposed to you.

For more details about the risks associated with discretionary investment management strategies implemented for clients in the Program, please see the Strategic Advisers Program Fundamentals included in your Program materials.

In addition to the risks identified above, a summary of additional risks follows:

Investing in Mutual Funds. Your Program Account bears all the risks of the investment strategies employed by the mutual funds held in your Program Account, including the risk that a mutual fund will not meet its investment objectives. For the specific risks associated with a mutual fund, please see its prospectus.

Money Market Funds. Cash balances in Program Accounts will be invested in the Core Money Market Fund.
You could lose money by investing in a money market fund. Although a money market fund seeks to preserve the value of a client’s investment at $1.00 per share, it cannot guarantee it will do so. An investment in a money market fund is not insured or guaranteed by the FDIC or any other government agency. Fidelity, the sponsoring Fidelity’s money market funds, has no legal obligation to provide financial support to a Fidelity money market fund, and a client should not expect that Fidelity will provide financial support to a Fidelity money market fund at any time. Fidelity’s government and U.S. Treasury money market funds will not impose a fee upon the sale of shares or temporarily suspend an investor’s ability to sell shares if a fund’s weekly liquid assets fall below 30% of its total assets because of market conditions or other factors.

Foreign Exposure. Investing in foreign securities and securities of U.S. entities with substantial foreign operations are subject to interest rate, currency exchange rate, economic, tax, operational, regulatory, and political risks, all of which are likely to be greater in emerging markets. These risks are particularly significant for funds that focus on a single country or region or emerging markets. Foreign markets can be more volatile than U.S. markets and can perform differently from the U.S. market. Emerging markets can be subject to greater social, economic, regulatory, and political uncertainties and can be extremely volatile. Foreign exchange rates can also be extremely volatile.

Growth Investing. Growth stocks can react differently to issuer, political, market, and economic developments from the market as a whole and other types of stocks. Growth stocks tend to be more expensive relative to their earnings or assets compared with other types of stocks. As a result, growth stocks tend to be sensitive to changes in their earnings and more volatile than other types of stocks.

Value Investing. Value stocks can react differently to issuer, political, market, and economic developments from the market as a whole and other types of stocks. Value stocks tend to be inexpensive relative to their earnings or assets compared with other types of stocks. However, value stocks can continue to be inexpensive for long periods of time and as a result never realize their full expected value.

Bond Investments. In general, the bond market is volatile, and fixed income securities carry interest rate risk. As interest rates rise, bond prices usually fall, and vice versa. This effect is usually more pronounced for longer-term securities. The ability of an issuer of a bond to repay principal prior to a security’s maturity can cause greater price volatility, and if a bond is prepaid, a bond fund might have to invest the proceeds in securities with lower yields. Fixed income securities also carry inflation risk, as well as credit and default risks for both issuers and counterparties. Unlike individual bonds, most bond funds do not have a maturity date, so holding them until maturity to avoid losses caused by price volatility is not possible. In addition, investments in certain bond structures are less liquid than other investments and therefore more difficult to trade effectively.

Municipal Bond Funds. The municipal market can be significantly affected by adverse tax, legislative, or political changes, and by the financial condition of the issuers of municipal securities. Municipal bond funds normally seek to earn income and pay dividends that are expected to be exempt from federal income tax. If a fund investor is a resident in the state of issuance of the bonds held by the fund, interest dividends could also be exempt from state and local income taxes. Income exempt from regular federal income tax (including distributions from municipal and money market funds) could be subject to state, local, or federal alternative minimum tax. Tax code changes could impact the municipal bond market. Tax laws are subject to change, and the preferential tax treatment of municipal bond interest income could be removed or phased out for investors at certain income levels.

Legislative and Regulatory Risk. Investments in your Program Account could be adversely affected by new (or revised) laws or regulations. Changes to laws or regulations could impact the securities markets as a whole, specific industries, or individual issuers of securities. Generally, the impact of these changes will not be fully known for some time.

Cybersecurity Risks. With the increased use of technologies to conduct business, FPWA and its affiliates are susceptible to operational, information security, and related risks despite taking reasonable steps to mitigate them. In general, cyber incidents can result from deliberate attacks or unintentional events that can arise from external or internal sources. Cyberattacks include but are not limited to gaining unauthorized access to digital systems (e.g., through “hacking” or malicious software coding) for purposes of misappropriating assets or sensitive information; corrupting data, equipment, or systems; and causing operational disruption. Cyberattacks can also be carried out in a manner that does not require gaining unauthorized access, such as causing denial-of-service attacks on websites (i.e., efforts to make network services unavailable to intended users). Cyber incidents affecting FPWA, its affiliates, or any other service providers (including but not limited to custodians, transfer agents, and financial intermediaries used by Fidelity or by an issuer of securities) have the ability to cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses, interference with the ability to calculate asset prices, impediments to trading, the inability to transact business, destruction to equipment and systems, violations of applicable privacy and other laws, regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement or other compensation costs, or additional compliance costs. Similar adverse consequences could result from cyber incidents affecting issuers of securities in which an account invests, counterparties with which an account engages in transactions, governmental and other regulatory authorities, exchange and other financial market operators, banks, brokers, dealers, insurance companies and other financial institutions (including financial intermediaries and service providers), and other parties.

Operational Risks. Operational risks can include risk of loss arising from failures in internal processes, people, or systems, such as routine processing incidents or major systems failures, or from external events, such as exchange outages. In addition, algorithms are used in providing the Program Services and contribute to operational risks. For example, algorithms are used as part of the process whereby FPWA recommends an appropriate Asset Allocation that corresponds to a level of risk consistent with a client’s Profile Information. In providing financial planning services, algorithms are also used in analyzing the potential for success of a client’s financial plan. Strategic Advisers uses algorithms in support of its discretionary portfolio management process. There is a risk that the data input into the algorithms could have errors, omissions, or imperfections, or that the algorithms do not operate as intended (generally referred to as “processing incidents”). Any decisions made in reliance on incorrect data or algorithms that do not operate as intended can expose Program Accounts to potential risks. Issues in the algorithm are often extremely difficult to detect and could go undetected for long periods of time or never be detected. These risks are mitigated by testing and human oversight of the algorithms and their output. We believe that the oversight and testing performed on our algorithms and their output will enable us to identify and address issues appropriately. However, there is no assurance that the algorithms will always work as intended. In general, we will not assess each Program Account individually, nor will we override the outcome of the algorithm with respect to any particular Program Account.

Not all processing incidents arising from operational failures, including those resulting from the mistakes of third parties, will be compensable by FPWA to clients. FPWA maintains policies and procedures that address the identification and resolution of processing incidents, consistent with applicable standards of care, to ensure that clients are treated fairly when a processing incident has been detected. The determination of whether, and how, to address a processing incident is made by FPWA or its affiliates, in their sole discretion.

Processing incidents will be reviewed to determine whether there was a financial impact on a client’s Program Account, and to evaluate the materiality of the impact among other things. If we determine that a material financial impact has occurred, we will generally return the Program Account to the position it would have been in had the processing incident not occurred. Typically, processing incidents that result in a financial impact of less than $10 per Program Account are not considered material. Other examples of impact that could affect the performance of a Program Account but would likely not be material include impacts arising from computer, communications, data processing, network, cloud computing, backup, business continuity or other operating, information, or technology systems, including those we outsource to other providers, failing to operate as planned or becoming disabled, overloaded, or damaged as a result of a number of factors. These factors could include events that are wholly or partially beyond our control and could have a negative impact on our ability to conduct business activities. Though losses arising from operating, information, or technology systems failures could adversely affect the performance of a Program Account, such losses would likely not be reimbursable under FPWA’s policies and procedures.

Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns. Investing in securities and other investments involves a risk of loss that a client should understand and be willing to bear.
DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

There are no legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client’s or prospective client’s evaluation of FPWA's advisory business or the integrity of its management personnel.

Additionally, FCM operates CrossStream®, an alternative trading system that allows orders submitted by its subscribers to be crossed against orders submitted by other subscribers. FCM charges a commission to both sides of each trade executed in CrossStream®. CrossStream is used to execute transactions for investment company and other clients. NFS provides transfer agent or subtransfer agent services and other custodial services to certain Fidelity clients.

- Luminex Trading & Analytics LLC ("LTA"), a registered broker-dealer and operator of two alternative trading systems ("ATS"), operates the LTA ATS and the Level ATS, which allow orders submitted by subscribers to be crossed against orders submitted by other subscribers. Fidelity Global Brokerage Group, Inc., and FMR Sakura Holdings, Inc., each a wholly owned subsidiary of FMR LLC, have membership interests in Titan Parent Company, LLC, a holding company that owns LTA. LTA charges a commission to both sides of each trade executed in the LTA ATS and Level ATS. LTA ATS and Level ATS are used to execute transactions for Fidelity affiliates’ investment company and other advisory clients. NFS serves as a clearing agent for transactions executed in the LTA ATS and Level ATS.

- FBS, a wholly owned subsidiary of Fidelity Global Brokerage Group, Inc., which in turn is wholly owned by FMR LLC, is a registered broker-dealer under the Exchange Act and provides brokerage products and services, including the sale of shares of registered investment companies in the Fidelity group of funds to individuals and institutions, including retirement plans administered by Fidelity affiliates. In addition, along with Fidelity Insurance Agency, Inc. ("FIA"), FBS distributes insurance products, including variable annuities, which are issued by Fidelity Investments Life Insurance Company ("FILI") and Empire Fidelity Investments Life Insurance Company® ("EFILI"), Fidelity affiliates. FBS provides shareholder services to certain of Fidelity’s clients. FBS is the introducing broker for managed accounts offered by FPWA and places orders for execution with its affiliated clearing broker, NFS.

- Digital Brokerage Services LLC ("DBS"), a wholly owned subsidiary of Fidelity Global Brokerage Group, Inc., which in turn is wholly owned by FMR LLC, is a registered broker-dealer under the Exchange Act. DBS operates a primarily digital/mobile application–based brokerage platform that enables retail investors to open brokerage accounts via the mobile application and purchase and sell equity securities, including shares of investment companies advised by FMRCo or its affiliates. DBS receives remuneration from FMRCo for expenses incurred in servicing and marketing FMRCo products.

Insurance Companies or Agencies

- FILI, a wholly owned subsidiary of FMR LLC, is engaged in the distribution and issuance of life insurance and annuity products that offer shares of registered investment companies managed by Fidelity affiliates.

- EFILI, a wholly owned subsidiary of FILI, is engaged in the distribution and issuance of life insurance and annuity products that offer shares of registered investment companies managed by Fidelity affiliates to residents of New York.

- FIA, a wholly owned subsidiary of FMR LLC, is engaged in the business of selling life insurance and annuity products of affiliated and unaffiliated insurance companies.

Banking Institutions

- Fidelity Management Trust Company (“FMTC”), a wholly owned subsidiary of FMR LLC, is a limited-purpose trust company organized and operating under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts that provides nondiscretionary trustee and custodial services to employee benefit plans and IRAs through which individuals can invest in affiliated or unaffiliated registered investment companies. FMTC also provides discretionary investment management services to institutional clients.

- Fidelity Personal Trust Company, FSB (“FPTC”), a wholly owned subsidiary of Fidelity Thrift Holding Company, Inc., which in turn is wholly owned by FMR LLC, is a federal savings bank that offers fiduciary services that include trustee or co-trustee services, custody, principal and income accounting, investment management services, and recordkeeping and administration.
CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

FPWA has adopted a Code of Ethics for Personal Trading (the “Code of Ethics”). The Code of Ethics applies to all officers, directors, employees, and other supervised persons of FPWA and requires that they place the interests of FPWA’s clients above their own. The Code of Ethics establishes securities transaction requirements for all covered employees and their covered persons, including their spouses. More specifically, the Code of Ethics contains provisions requiring the following:

(i) Standards of general business conduct reflecting the investment advisers’ fiduciary obligations;
(ii) Compliance with applicable federal securities laws;
(iii) Employees and their covered persons to move their covered accounts to FBS unless an exception exists or prior approval has been granted;
(iv) Reporting and review of personal securities transactions and holdings for persons with access to certain nonpublic information;
(v) Prohibition of purchasing securities in initial public offerings unless an exception has been approved;
(vi) Reporting of Code of Ethics violations; and
(vii) Distribution of the Code of Ethics to all supervised persons, documented through acknowledgments of receipt.

Core features of the Code of Ethics generally apply to all Fidelity employees. The Code of Ethics also imposes additional restrictions and reporting obligations on certain advisory personnel, research analysts, and portfolio managers. Such restrictions and reporting obligations include (i) the preclearing of transactions in covered securities with limited exceptions, (ii) a prohibition on investments in limited offerings without prior approval, (iii) a prohibition on personal trading by a portfolio manager within seven days before or after a trade in any covered security of the same issuer by a fund or account managed by such portfolio manager except in limited circumstances, (iv) the reporting of transactions in covered securities on a quarterly basis with limited exceptions, (v) the reporting of securities accounts and holdings of covered securities at the time of hire and annually thereafter, and (vi) the disgorgement of profits from short-term transactions with limited exceptions. Violation of the Code of Ethics can also result in the imposition of remedial action. The Code of Ethics will generally be supplemented by other relevant Fidelity policies, including the Policy on Inside Information, Rules for Broker-Dealer Employees, and other written policies and procedures adopted by Fidelity and FPWA. A copy of the Code of Ethics will be provided to any client or prospective client upon request.

From time to time, FPWA’s related persons buy or sell for themselves securities and recommend those securities to clients. The conflicts of interest involved in such activities are contemplated in the Code of Ethics and other relevant Fidelity policies. In particular, the Code of Ethics and other Fidelity policies are designed to make it clear to Fidelity personnel that they should never place their personal interests ahead of Fidelity’s clients in an attempt to benefit themselves or another party. The Code of Ethics and other Fidelity policies impose sanctions if these requirements are violated.

From time to time, in connection with its business, certain supervised persons obtain material nonpublic information that is usually not available to other investors or the general public. In compliance with applicable laws, FPWA has adopted a comprehensive set of policies and procedures that prohibit the use of material nonpublic information by investment professionals or any other employees.

In addition, Fidelity has implemented a Corporate Gifts & Entertainment Policy intended to set standards for business entertainment and the giving or receiving of gifts, to help employees make sound decisions with respect to these activities, and to ensure that the interests of FPWA’s clients come first. Similarly, to support compliance with applicable “pay to play” laws, Fidelity has adopted a Personal Political Contributions & Activities Policy that requires employees to preclear any political contributions and activity. Fidelity also has a Global Anti-Corruption Policy regarding commercial bribery and bribery of government officials that prohibits directly or indirectly giving, offering, authorizing, promising, accepting, or receiving any bribe, facilitation payment, kickback, of payoff (whether in cash or any other form) with the intent to improperly obtain or retain business or any improper advantage.

BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Transactions in your Program Account are facilitated by FBS, which is a registered broker-dealer, a member NYSE and SIPC, and an affiliate of FPWA. NFS, another affiliate of FPWA, is a registered broker-dealer and member NYSE and SIPC, and has custody of your assets and will perform certain Program Account services, including the implementation of discretionary management instructions, as well as custodial and related services. Certain personnel of FPWA, FBS, NFS, and Strategic Advisers share premises and have common supervision. Clients will be sent prompt confirmations from NFS for any transactions in a Program Account; however, with respect to automatic investments, automatic withdrawals, dividend reinvestments, and transactions that involve the Core Money Market Fund, the account statement will serve in lieu of a confirmation. Clients will also receive a prospectus for any new fund not previously held in a Program Account. In addition, clients will be sent Program Account statements electronically from NFS. Program Account statements and transaction confirmations are also available online at Fidelity.com. Clients should carefully review all statements and other communications received from FBS and NFS.

REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

We will contact you at least annually to request that you evaluate whether there have been any changes to your personal financial situation that could affect your Profile Information or the Program services, including whether you wish to impose any reasonable restrictions on the management of your Program Account or reasonably modify any existing restrictions. If you advise us of a change, we will evaluate whether that change requires us to propose a different asset allocation strategy for your Program Account. If we fail to hear from you during this process, we will update your goal time horizon and Program Account balance and, when applicable, the profiling assumptions that can be used for your Profile Information, but we will otherwise assume that your Profile Information has not changed. We will typically notify you of a proposed change to your asset allocation in advance; however, if we determine that your current asset allocation strategy is no longer appropriate based on your Profile Information, we will reassign your Program Account to an appropriate asset allocation strategy and we will notify you after the change has been made. Your continued acceptance of a Program's services subsequent to notification of a change to your asset allocation strategy will be deemed as your consent to any modification to the discretionary investment management services for your Program Account. For clients who are eligible for the Personalized Planning & Advice Services, we can also suggest that you review and update your Profile Information during your financial planning sessions with a Fidelity representative. You also have access to periodic reports that detail the performance of your Program Account and summarize the market activity during the period. Industry standards are applied when calculating performance information. FPWA also makes available account performance on a password-protected website. At least quarterly, we will also send you a reminder to notify us of any change in your financial situation or investment needs. You can access and update the Profile Information you have provided to us on the Program's website, and we encourage you to periodically review your Profile Information and provide updated Profile Information any time there is a change so that we can identify a more personalized asset allocation strategy for your Program Account.

CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

Affiliates of FPWA are compensated for providing services, including for investment management, distribution, transfer agency, servicing, and custodial services, to certain Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs, and other investments a client could use to implement any financial planning recommendations made through the Program. These affiliates include Strategic Advisers, FMRCo, and their affiliates as the investment adviser for the Fidelity Funds; FDC as the underwriter of the Fidelity Funds; and Fidelity Investments Institutional Operations Company LLC ("FIIOC") as transfer agent for the Fidelity Funds, servicing agent for non-Fidelity funds, and recordkeeper of certain workplace savings plans. FPWA affiliates also receive compensation and other benefits in connection with portfolio transactions executed on behalf of the Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs, and other investments. FMRCo and its affiliates also obtain brokerage or research services, consistent with Section 28(e) of the Exchange Act, from broker-dealers in connection with the execution of the Fidelity Funds’ portfolio security transactions.

FBS and NFS receive compensation for executing portfolio transactions and providing, among other things, clearance, settlement, custodial, and other services to Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs, and other investments, and NFS provides securities lending agent services to certain Fidelity Funds for which it receives compensation. FBS, NFS, and FIIOC also offer Fidelity’s mutual fund supermarket, FundsNetwork®, and provide shareholder and other services to participating mutual funds for which FBS, NFS, and FIIOC receive compensation. Neither FBS nor NFS receives any compensation in connection with directing equity trades for Program Accounts to market makers for execution. We can execute trades through alternative trading systems or national securities exchanges, including ones in which a Fidelity affiliate has an ownership interest, such as Members Exchange, a registered national securities exchange. Any decision to execute a trade through an alternative trading system or exchange in which a Fidelity affiliate has an interest would be made in accordance with applicable law, including best execution obligations. For trades placed on certain national securities exchanges, not limited to ones in which a Fidelity affiliate has an ownership interest, Fidelity could receive exchange rebates from such trades for Program Accounts, and these rebates will be subject to the Credit Amount (as described below) and will be allocated, pro rata based on assets, among Program Accounts.

If you transfer securities to fund a Program Account, the advisory fee applied to a Program Account can be reduced by a credit amount (the “Credit Amount”). The Credit Amount is intended to address the conflicts of interest that arise from Program Account investments that generate revenue for Fidelity by reducing the advisory fees paid to FPWA by the amount of compensation, if any, FPWA or its affiliates retain that is derived as a direct result of investments imported into Program Accounts, as detailed below. A Credit Amount is applied quarterly after the end of each quarter. Fund expenses, which vary by fund and class, are expenses that mutual fund and ETP shareholders typically pay. Details of mutual fund or ETP expenses can be found in each mutual fund’s or ETP’s respective prospectus. These expenses are not separately itemized or billed; rather, the published returns of mutual funds and ETPs are shown net of their expenses.

To the extent applicable, a Credit Amount will be calculated for any mutual funds or ETPs transferred to a Program Account, as follows:

• For Fidelity Funds and ETPs, the Credit Amount will equal the underlying investment management and any other fees or compensation FPWA or its affiliates retain from these funds and ETPs, as a direct result of such investments transferred into Program Accounts.

• For non-Fidelity funds and ETPs, the Credit Amount will equal the distribution fees, shareholder servicing fees, and any other fees or compensation FPWA or its affiliates retain from these funds and ETPs (or their affiliates), as a direct result of such investments transferred into Program Accounts.

A total Credit Amount is allocated to a Program Account to arrive at the net advisory fee you pay. Individual securities transferred into a Program Account do not affect the calculation of the Credit Amount, and the Flex Funds are not subject to the Credit Amount calculation because the Flex Funds do not charge management fees or, with limited exceptions, fund expenses. It is important to understand that FPWA’s affiliates receive compensation for providing a variety of services to mutual funds and ETPs. Such compensation is included in the Credit Amount only to the extent that it is retained as a direct result of investment by Program Accounts. Compensation that is not directly derived from Program Account assets is not included in the Credit Amount.

In addition, certain de minimis revenue received by FPWA’s affiliates can be donated to charity rather than included in the Credit Amount.
Credit Amounts for non-Fidelity funds and ETPs are calculated one month after the end of each month, and as a result, a Credit Amount for non-Fidelity funds and ETPs will not be applied against the advisory fee for any partial period during the month in which a Program Account is closed. In such circumstances, Credit Amounts not applied to a closed Program Account are allocated, pro rata, based on assets, among the open Program Accounts in a Program at the time the Credit Amount is applied. This operational process results in credits that would otherwise be attributable to one Program Account being received by another Program Account.

The compensation described above that is retained by FPWA's affiliates as a direct result of investments by Program Accounts in Fidelity and non-Fidelity funds and ETPs will be included in the Credit Amount, which reduces your advisory fee. However, to the extent that FPWA's affiliates, including FBS, NFS, or FIIOC, receive compensation that is neither a direct result of, nor directly derived from, investments by the Program Accounts, such compensation is not included in the Credit Amount, does not reduce the advisory fee, and will be retained by such affiliates. Receipt of compensation in addition to the advisory fee creates a financial incentive for FPWA and its affiliates to select investments that will increase such compensation. FPWA seeks to address this financial conflict of interest through the application of the Credit Amount, which will reduce the advisory fee, as applicable, and through personnel compensation arrangements (including those of Strategic Advisers’ investment professionals and the Fidelity representatives) that are not differentiated based on the investments or share classes selected for Program Accounts. FPWA and its affiliates have also implemented controls reasonably designed to prevent the receipt of compensation from affecting the nature of the advice provided to Program Accounts. As described herein, Program Account assets will be invested in certain Flex Funds. The Flex Funds are available only to certain fee-based accounts offered by Fidelity, and compensation for access to Flex Funds is paid out of the fees charged by Fidelity fee-based accounts that include Flex Funds as underlying investments, including the Program. FMRCo is compensated for its services out of such advisory fees. FMRCo receives no fee from the Flex Funds for handling the business affairs of the funds and Fidelity pays the expenses of each fund with the limited exceptions of expenses for typesetting, printing, and mailing proxy materials to shareholders, all other expenses incidental to holding meetings of the fund’s shareholders (including proxy solicitation), fees and expenses of certain trustees, interest, Rule 12b-1 fees (if any), taxes, and such non-recurring expenses as can arise, including costs of any litigation to which the fund can be a party, and any obligation it can have to indemnify its officers and trustees with respect to litigation. The fund shall also pay its non-operating expenses, including brokerage commissions and fees and expenses associated with the fund’s securities lending program, if applicable.

FPWA engages certain non-affiliates to promote the Program's services. These non-affiliates earn a fixed fee from FPWA, paid through its affiliates, for each account opened through such non-affiliates' promotion of the Program. You will receive disclosure that describes the particular arrangement if you open a Program Account through a non-affiliate's promotion of the Program. These arrangements create a conflict of interest, as the non-affiliate is incentivized to encourage you to open a Program Account, regardless of whether the non-affiliate would otherwise do so, due to the compensation it earns from FPWA.

Client referrals are provided by affiliated entities, including FBS, or other affiliates, pursuant to referral agreements where applicable. As noted in “Information about Fidelity and Fidelity Representative Compensation,” some Fidelity representatives receive variable compensation or an annual bonus in addition to their normal base pay for distributing and supporting Program Accounts. Additionally, FPWA refers clients to other independent investment advisers in connection with a referral program in which such independent investment advisers participate for a fee payable to FPWA.

CUSTODY

FPWA does not maintain custody for Program clients’ assets in connection with Program Accounts. NFS, an affiliate of FPWA, has custody of your assets and will perform certain services for the benefit of your Program Account, including the implementation of discretionary management instructions, as well as custodial and related services. Certain personnel of FPWA, Strategic Advisers, FBS and NFS share premises and have common supervision. In addition, clients will be sent statements electronically from NFS that will detail all holdings and transaction information, including trades, additions, withdrawals, shifts in investment allocations, Program advisory fees, and estimated gain/loss and tax basis information. Statements and confirmations are also available online at Fidelity.com. Clients should carefully review all statements and other communications received from NFS (see the “Brokerage Practices” section above).

INVESTMENT DISCRETION

As discussed above, clients must agree to the terms of the Program Client Agreement, which includes delegation of discretionary authority to FPWA as well as an acknowledgment that FPWA has retained its affiliate Strategic Advisers to provide discretionary investment management for Program Accounts. Accordingly, FPWA does not exercise investment discretion in connection with the provision of Program services.

VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Neither FPWA nor Strategic Advisers acquires authority for, or exercises, proxy voting on a client’s behalf in connection with offering Program Accounts.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

FPWA does not solicit prepayment of client fees.

FPWA is not aware of any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet contractual commitments to clients.

Strategic Advisers is a registered investment adviser and an indirect, wholly owned subsidiary of FMR LLC (collectively with Strategic Advisers and its affiliates, “Fidelity Investments,” “Fidelity,” “us,” “our,” or “we”). Strategic Advisers was formed in 1977 and serves as sub-advisor to its affiliate Fidelity Personal and Workplace Advisors LLC (“FPWA”), a registered investment adviser and an indirect, wholly owned subsidiary of FMR LLC, in connection with various investment advisory programs offered by FPWA, including the Fidelity Go® (“Fidelity Go”) program described in this brochure (the “Program”). As such, Strategic Advisers will make the day-to-day trading decisions for all Program accounts and will receive a portion of the advisory fee clients pay to FPWA in connection with the Program. Important information regarding FPWA and the Program can be found in the FPWA Fidelity Go Program Fundamentals (the “FPWA Program Fundamentals”).

Strategic Advisers provides a variety of investment management services, including discretionary portfolio management services to retail and institutional clients and nondiscretionary advisory services to certain institutional clients, including but not limited to Fidelity affiliates. This brochure provides information about Strategic Advisers’ role only with respect to the Program. For additional information about services that Strategic Advisers provides, please see Strategic Advisers’ relevant Form ADV Part 2A brochures.

As described in the FPWA Program Fundamentals, the Program is designed for a client (“client” or “you”) who seeks a digital, discretionary investment management experience. The Program offers discretionary investment management based on clients’ goals and objectives, as well as trading and custody services for Program accounts (each a “Program Account,” and together “Program Accounts”). The Program’s discretionary investment management services are made available through the Fidelity Go website, and there is no minimum to open a Program Account. To be eligible for Personalized Planning & Advice financial coaching available through the Program, you must invest and maintain at least $25,000 in at least one Program Account. More information regarding Personalized Planning & Advice financial coaching is available in the FPWA Program Fundamentals. A Program Account will not be invested according to your selected asset allocation strategy until the Program Account has a balance of at least $10.

Strategic Advisers implements your selected asset allocation strategy for your Program Account. Your Program Account, and each asset allocation strategy used in the Program, will be invested in certain Fidelity Flex® mutual funds (“Flex Funds”) that are available only to certain fee-based accounts offered by Fidelity. The Flex Funds are managed by Fidelity Management & Research Company LLC (“FMRCo”) and its affiliates. Unlike many other mutual funds, the Flex Funds do not charge management fees or, with limited exceptions, fund expenses. Instead, compensation for access to the Flex Funds is paid out of the fees charged by Fidelity fee-based accounts that include Flex Funds as underlying investments, including the Program. In general, it is expected that your Program Account will be invested in approximately six to twelve Flex Funds.

Your Program Account will be periodically rebalanced to the portfolio identified for your selected asset allocation strategy. The specific Flex Funds or number of Flex Funds in which your Program Account is invested could change, and the underlying Flex Funds held in a Program Account can differ based on whether a Program Account is a taxable, health savings, or individual retirement account. For additional information about the Flex Funds selected for your Program Account, our use of the Flex Funds, and any associated risks, please see the section below entitled “Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss” and the respective fund’s prospectus.

A client can impose reasonable restrictions on the management of any Program Account. You can request a restriction on the Program website. All requested investment restrictions are subject to our review and approval. If a restriction is accepted, Program Account assets will be invested in a manner that is appropriate given the restriction. It is important to understand that imposing an investment restriction can delay the start of discretionary management on and can impact the performance of a Program Account, at times significantly, as compared with the performance of a Program Account.
managed without restrictions, possibly producing lower overall results. Not all requested restrictions will be considered reasonable for each asset allocation strategy, and a previously accepted restriction will be removed if we change your asset allocation strategy to one for which that restriction is not considered reasonable. For Program Accounts that are not enrolled in Smart Shift, as described in the FPWA Program Fundamentals, any client-imposed restrictions will be removed if the client changes the asset allocation strategy for the Program Account, and the client can subsequently request new investment restrictions for the Program Account on the Program website. You can reevaluate restrictions at any time.

As of December 31, 2022, Strategic Advisers’ total assets under management were $632,686,303,378 on a discretionary basis and $26,863,921,604 on a nondiscretionary basis.

FEES AND COMPENSATION
You do not pay Strategic Advisers for the services it provides under the Program. Instead, as compensation for its discretionary portfolio management services provided to Program Accounts, Strategic Advisers receives a portion of the advisory fee paid to FPWA by Program clients pursuant to an agreement between FPWA and Strategic Advisers.

Your Program's advisory fee could be reduced by a credit amount if you elect to transfer securities to fund your Program Account. The credit amount reduces the advisory fees paid to FPWA by the amount of compensation, if any, FPWA and its affiliates retain that is derived as a direct result of investments imported into Program Accounts. As described above, Program Account assets will be invested in certain Flex Funds. The Flex Funds are not subject to the credit amount because Fidelity receives no fees from the Flex Funds for managing or handling the business affairs of the Flex Funds and pays the expenses of each fund, with the limited exceptions of expenses for typesetting, printing, and mailing proxy materials to shareholders, all other expenses incidental to holding meetings of the fund's shareholders (including proxy solicitation), fees and expenses of certain trustees, interest, taxes, and such non-recurring expenses as can arise, including costs of any litigation to which the fund can be a party, and any obligation it can have to indemnify its officers and trustees with respect to litigation. The fund shall also pay its non-operating expenses, including brokerage commissions and fees and expenses associated with the fund's securities lending program, if applicable. Instead, a portion of the Program's advisory fees will be allocated to access the Flex Funds in which Program Accounts will be invested. Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals for information about Program fees and the application of the credit amount.

While you will not generally pay commissions for transactions executed through FPWA's affiliates, FPWA and its affiliates, including Strategic Advisers, incur costs to make the Flex Funds available to you and incur costs to execute transactions in your Program Account. This is a conflict of interest, as Strategic Advisers could be disincentivized to execute transactions in your Program Account. Strategic Advisers mitigates this conflict by aligning investment manager compensation to how closely an asset allocation strategy's performance matches its target baseline.

PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT
Strategic Advisers does not currently charge performance-based management fees for any of its advisory services and does not engage in side-by-side management with respect to the strategies employed for the Program.
TYPES OF CLIENTS

Strategic Advisers provides discretionary portfolio management services to clients enrolled in the Program. Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals for information about the types of clients eligible for the Program.

METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

This section contains information about how Strategic Advisers provides discretionary portfolio management services to Program Accounts. As part the Program’s enrollment process, you will be required to provide us with certain initial information, and FPWA will apply a proprietary algorithm to identify one in a series of long-term asset allocation strategies for your Program Account. Strategic Advisers has been retained by FPWA to create portfolios for each asset allocation strategy and to invest Program Accounts in alignment with the respective portfolio. Each asset allocation strategy is comprised of Flex Funds, which provide exposure to a combination of stocks, bonds, and short-term investments, and is one in a series of asset allocations that range from conservative (i.e., a strategy that has a lower allocation to equities and a lower risk and return potential) to aggressive (i.e., a strategy that has a higher allocation to equities and a higher risk and return potential).

You can also provide FPWA with additional information about yourself, and providing the additional information will allow us to know you better and can impact the proposed asset allocation strategy. In the event that you do not provide additional information, FPWA will propose an asset allocation strategy for your Program Account using your initial information along with assumed responses based on information derived from investors in the Program and other Fidelity programs and services (“profiling assumptions”). A portion of the profiling assumptions for Program Accounts with a retirement goal are based on similarly aged investors in Fidelity programs and services, and a portion of the profiling assumptions for Program Accounts with other goals are based on investors in the Program with a similar investment time horizon. This means that the profiling assumptions will differ depending on the goal of your Program Account.

FPWA uses a proprietary framework based on aggregate investor data to inform our profiling assumptions. It is important to understand that the various profiling assumptions FPWA considers will vary over time and based on your goal. FPWA will periodically review and update the profiling assumptions based on the investor information we have in our database, and such updates will result in changes to the profiling assumptions that are used as part of your profile information. Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals for information about how your profile information helps create your personal profile and will impact the asset allocation strategy that is proposed to you.

As part of the Program enrollment process, you can select the proposed asset allocation strategy or another asset allocation strategy that you believe is most appropriate for your situation, subject to certain constraints and limitations defined by FPWA. If you select an asset allocation strategy that differs from that originally suggested by FPWA, Strategic Advisers will provide discretionary management for your Program Account consistent with your selected asset allocation strategy. You should understand that the performance of a Program Account with a client-selected asset allocation strategy likely will differ, at times significantly, from the performance of a Program Account managed according to the asset allocation strategy originally proposed by FPWA. If you do not initiate a change to your asset allocation strategy, your Program Account’s asset allocation strategy will not change unless the asset allocation strategy for the account is no longer appropriate based on your profile information.

If you select the asset allocation strategy that we recommend and enroll your Program Account in Smart Shift, we will change your asset allocation strategy over time based on your Profile Information, your investment goal, time horizon, and when you expect to begin withdrawing money from your account, among other factors. Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals for more information about Smart Shift.

The Program is designed to provide investors with a portfolio of Flex Funds. For the equity and certain fixed income portions of a portfolio, Program Account assets will be invested in passively managed Flex Funds that seek to replicate the performance of relevant market indexes. Short-duration non-municipal fixed income and all municipal asset portions of a Program Account can be invested in both passively and actively managed Flex Funds. The Flex Funds are managed by affiliates of Strategic Advisers, including FMRCo. For additional information about the Flex Funds selected for your Program Account and the associated risks, please see the respective fund’s prospectus.

Program Accounts that have a more conservative asset allocation strategy will typically hold a higher percentage of bond funds than other Program Accounts. The specific mix of funds chosen will depend on the asset allocation strategy selected for your Program Account, could change over time in light of changes to your profile information, and could deviate at times from the asset allocation strategy you originally viewed as part of your Program’s online enrollment process.

Additional Information about Strategic Advisers’ Investment Practices

Strategic Advisers generally uses both fundamental and quantitative investment strategies to manage Program Accounts. This involves both evaluating characteristics such as sector weightings, duration, valuation, and market capitalization, as well as focusing on key economic indicators and trends. When determining how to allocate assets among underlying mutual funds, Strategic Advisers considers a variety of objectives and subjective factors, including but not limited to proprietary fundamental and quantitative fund research, a manager’s experience and investment style, fund availability, current public information about a fund, performance history, asset size, and portfolio turnover—and overall fit within Program Accounts. Strategic Advisers’ investment professionals will obtain and use information from various sources to assist in making allocation decisions among asset classes, as well as decisions regarding the purchase and sale of specific mutual funds. Sources of information used include publicly available information and performance data on mutual funds, individual securities, equity markets, fixed income markets, international markets, and broad-based economic indicators. Strategic Advisers will use both primary sources (e.g., talking directly with managers) and secondary sources (reports prepared by fund companies and other sources that provide data on specific fund investment strategies, portfolio management teams, fund positioning, portfolio risk characteristics, performance attribution, and historical fund returns) as inputs into its investment process. However, as described earlier in this brochure, Program Account assets will be invested in certain Flex Funds.

Strategic Advisers does not seek access to material nonpublic information on any investment used by the Program. With respect to Fidelity Funds used by the Program, the investment team at Strategic Advisers that manages Program Accounts does not have access to the proprietary or material nonpublic information of the Fidelity Funds.

If, based on the information you provide, FPWA determines that your Program Account requires modification to its asset allocation strategy, Strategic Advisers will generally make such changes as soon as reasonably possible, even if such changes trigger additional trading or, in the case of taxable accounts, significant tax consequences.

When investing in Fidelity Funds, Strategic Advisers from time to time consults the fund manager to understand the manager’s guidelines concerning general limitations, if any, on the aggregate percentage of fund shares that can be held under management by Strategic Advisers on behalf of all its clients. Funds are not required to accept investments and can limit how much Strategic Advisers can purchase. Additionally, Strategic Advisers can establish internal limits on how much it invests in any one fund across the programs it manages. Regulatory restrictions sometimes limit the amount that one fund can invest in another, which means Strategic Advisers could be limited in the amount it can invest in any particular fund. Strategic Advisers will work closely with fund management to minimize the impact of its reallocation activity on acquired funds. In certain situations, liquidating positions in underlying funds will be accomplished over an extended period of time as a result of operational considerations, legal considerations, or input from underlying fund managers. To the extent that a Program Account already owns securities that directly or indirectly contribute to an ownership threshold being exceeded, securities held in such a Program Account could be sold to bring account-level and/or aggregate ownership below the relevant threshold. In the event that any such sales result in realized losses for a Program Account, that Program Account will bear such losses depending on the particular circumstances.

From time to time, Strategic Advisers and/or its affiliates can determine that, as a result of regulatory requirements that apply to Strategic Advisers and/or its affiliates due to investments in a particular country or in an issuer operating in a particular regulated industry, investments in the securities of issuers domiciled or listed on trading markets in that country or operating in that regulated industry above certain thresholds are impractical or undesirable. The foregoing limits and thresholds could apply at the Program Account level or in the aggregate across all accounts (or certain subsets of accounts) managed, sponsored, or owned by, or otherwise attributable to, Strategic Advisers and its affiliates. For investment risk management and other purposes, Strategic Advisers and its affiliates also generally apply internal aggregate limits on the amount of a particular issuer’s securities owned by all such accounts, including funds managed by Strategic Advisers and its affiliates. In such instances, investment flexibility will be restricted, and Strategic Advisers could limit or exclude a client’s investment in a particular issuer, which can also include investment in related derivative instruments.

Material Investment Risks

In general, all the portfolios managed by Strategic Advisers in the Program are subject to the list of investment risks discussed below. However, investment strategies that have higher concentrations of equity will have greater exposure to the risks associated with equity investments, such as stock market volatility and foreign exposure. On the other hand, investment strategies that have higher exposure to fixed income will have greater exposure to the risks associated with those products, such as credit risk and bond investment risk.

Risk of Loss. The discretionary investment management strategies implemented by Strategic Advisers for Program clients, including conservative investments, involve risk of loss. Investments in a Program Account are not bank deposits and are not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (“FDIC”) or any other government agency. You could lose money by investing in mutual funds. You could lose money by investing in a Program Account.

Many factors affect each investment’s or Program Account’s performance and potential for loss. Strategies that pursue investments in equities will be subject to stock market volatility, and strategies that pursue fixed income investments (such as bond or money market funds) will see values fluctuate in response to changes in interest rates. Developments that disrupt global economies and financial markets, such as wars, acts of terrorism, the spread of infectious illness or other public health issues, recessions, or other events can magnify factors that affect performance. All strategies are ultimately affected by impacts to the individual issuers, such as changes in an issuer’s financial condition, or changes in tax, regulatory, market, or economic developments. Nearly all investments or accounts are subject to volatility in non-U.S. markets, through either direct exposure or indirect effects in U.S. markets from events abroad. Those investments and accounts that are exposed to emerging markets are potentially subject to heightened volatility from greater social, economic, regulatory, and political uncertainties, as the extent of economic development, political stability, market depth, infrastructure, capitalization, and regulatory oversight can be less than in more developed markets.

In addition, investments in the mutual funds in a Program Account could be subject to the following risks:

Investing in Mutual Funds. Your Program Account bears all the risks of the investment strategies employed by the mutual funds held in your Program Account, including the risk that a mutual fund will not meet its investment objectives. For the specific risks associated with a mutual fund, please see its prospectus.
Money Market Funds. Cash balances in Program Accounts will be invested in the core Fidelity money market fund, the cash sweep vehicle for the Program. A client could lose money by investing in a money market fund. Although a money market fund seeks to preserve the value of a client’s investment at $1.00 per share, it cannot guarantee it will do so. An investment in a money market fund is not insured or guaranteed by the FDIC or any other government agency. Fidelity, the sponsor of Fidelity’s money market funds, has no legal obligation to provide financial support to a Fidelity money market fund, and a client should not expect that Fidelity will provide financial support to a Fidelity money market fund at any time. Fidelity’s government and U.S. Treasury money market funds will not impose a fee on the sale of shares or temporarily suspend an investor’s ability to sell shares if a fund’s weekly liquid assets fall below 30% of its total assets because of market conditions or other factors.

Quantitative Investing. Funds or securities selected using quantitative analysis can perform differently from the market as a whole as a result of the factors used in the analysis, the weight placed on each factor, changes to the factors’ behavior over time, market volatility, or the quantitative model’s assumption about market behavior. In addition, Strategic Advisers’ quantitative investment strategies rely on algorithmic processes and therefore are subject to the risks described below under the heading “Operational Risks.”

Stock Investments. Stock markets are volatile and can decline significantly in response to adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments. Different parts of the market can react differently to these developments. Value and growth stocks can perform differently from other types of stocks. Growth stocks can be more volatile. Value stocks can continue to be undervalued by the market for long periods of time. In addition, stock investments are subject to risk related to market capitalization as well as company-specific risk.

Bond Investments. In general, the bond market is volatile, and fixed income securities carry interest rate risk. As interest rates rise, bond prices usually fall, and vice versa. This effect is usually more pronounced for longer-term securities. During periods of very low or negative interest rates, we could be unable to maintain positive returns on bond investments. Very low or negative interest rates can magnify interest rate risk for the markets as a whole and for individual bond investments. Changing interest rates, including rates that fall below zero, can also have unpredictable effects on markets and can result in heightened market volatility. The ability of an issuer of a bond to repay principal before a security’s maturity can cause greater price volatility, and, if a bond is prepaid, a bond fund could have to invest the proceeds in securities with lower yields. Fixed income securities also carry inflation risk, as well as credit and default risks for both issuers and counterparties. The interest payments of inflation-protected bonds are variable and usually rise with inflation and fall with deflation. Unlike individual bonds, most bond funds do not have a maturity date, so holding them until maturity to avoid losses caused by price volatility is not possible. In addition, investments in certain bond structures are less liquid than other investments, and therefore are more difficult to trade effectively.

Credit Risk. Changes in the financial condition of an issuer or counterparty, and changes in specific economic or political conditions that affect a particular type of security or issuer, can increase the risk of default by an issuer or counterparty, which can affect a security’s or instrument’s credit quality or value. Lower-quality debt securities and certain types of other securities involve greater risk of default or price changes due to changes in the credit quality of the issuer.

Municipal Bonds. The municipal market can be significantly affected by adverse tax, legislative, or political changes, and by the financial condition of the issuers of municipal securities. Municipal funds normally seek to earn income and pay dividends that are expected to be exempt from federal income tax. If a fund investor is a resident in the state of issuance of the bonds held by the fund, interest dividends could also be exempt from state and local income taxes. Income exempt from regular federal income tax (including distributions from municipal and money market funds) can be subject to state, local, or federal alternative minimum tax. Certain funds normally seek to invest only in municipal securities generating income exempt from both federal income taxes and the federal alternative minimum tax; however, outcomes cannot be guaranteed, and the funds sometimes generate income subject to these taxes. For federal tax purposes, a fund’s distribution of gains attributable to a fund’s sale of municipal or other bonds is generally taxable as either ordinary income or long-term capital gains.

Redemptions, including exchanges, can result in a capital gain or loss for federal and/or state income tax purposes. Tax code changes could impact the municipal bond market. Tax laws are subject to change, and the preferential tax treatment of municipal bond interest income could be removed or phased out for investors at certain income levels. Because many municipal bonds are issued to finance similar projects, especially those relating to education, health care, transportation, and utilities, conditions in those sectors can affect the overall municipal market. Budgetary constraints of local, state, and federal governments on which the issuers are relying for funding can also impact municipal bonds. In addition, changes in the financial condition of an individual municipal insurer can affect the overall municipal market, and market conditions can directly impact the liquidity and valuation of municipal bonds.

Foreign Exposure. Investing in foreign securities and securities of U.S. entities with substantial foreign operations are subject to interest rate, currency exchange rate, economic, tax, operational, regulatory, and political risks, all of which are likely to be greater in emerging markets. These risks are particularly significant for funds that focus on a single country or region or emerging markets. Foreign markets can be more volatile than U.S. markets and can perform differently from the U.S. market. Emerging markets can be subject to greater social, economic, regulatory, and political uncertainties and can be extremely volatile. Foreign exchange rates can also be extremely volatile. Foreign markets can also offer less protection to investors than U.S. markets. For example, foreign issuers are generally not bound by uniform accounting, auditing, and financial reporting requirements and standards of practice comparable to those applicable to U.S. issuers. Adequate public information on foreign issuers might not be available, and it could be difficult to secure dividends and information regarding corporate actions on a timely basis. Regulatory enforcement can be influenced by economic or political concerns, and investors could have difficulty enforcing their legal rights in foreign countries. Furthermore, investments in securities of foreign entities can result in clients owning an interest in a passive foreign investment company (“PFIC”). Clients holding an interest in a PFIC could be subject to additional tax liabilities and filing requirements as a result of such investments. The rules regarding investments in PFICs are complex, and clients are urged to consult their tax advisors.

Derivatives. Certain funds used by Strategic Advisers, including the Flex Funds, contain derivatives. Generally speaking, a derivative is a financial contract whose value is based on the value of a financial asset (such as a stock, bond, or currency), a physical asset (such as gold, oil, or wheat), or a market index (such as the S&P 500® Index). Investments in derivatives subject these funds to risks different from, and possibly greater than, those of the underlying securities, assets, or market indexes. Some forms of derivatives, such as exchange-traded futures and options on securities, commodities, or indexes, have been trading on regulated exchanges for decades. These types of derivatives are standardized contracts that can easily be bought and/or sold, and whose market values are determined and published daily. Nonstandardized derivatives (such as swap agreements), on the other hand, tend to be more specialized or complex and can be more difficult to value. Derivatives could involve leverage because they can provide investment exposure in an amount exceeding the initial investment. As a result, the use of derivatives can cause these funds to be more volatile, because leverage tends to exaggerate the effect of any increase or decrease in the value of a fund’s portfolio securities.

Growth Investing. Growth stocks can react differently to issuer, political, market, and economic developments from the market as a whole and other types of stocks. Growth stocks tend to be more expensive relative to their earnings or assets compared with other types of stocks. As a result, growth stocks tend to be sensitive to changes in their earnings and more volatile than other types of stocks.

Value Investing. Value stocks can react differently to issuer, political, market, and economic developments from the market as a whole and other types of stocks. Value stocks tend to be inexpensive relative to their earnings or assets compared with other types of stocks. However, value stocks can continue to be inexpensive for long periods of time and might never realize their full expected value.
Legislative and Regulatory Risk. Investments in your Program Account could be adversely affected by new (or revised) laws or regulations. Changes to laws or regulations could impact the securities markets as a whole, specific industries, or individual issuers of securities. Generally, the impact of these changes will not be fully known for some time.

Cybersecurity Risks. With the increased use of technologies to conduct business, Strategic Advisers and its affiliates are susceptible to operational, information security, and related risks despite taking reasonable steps to mitigate them. In general, cyber incidents can result from deliberate attacks or unintentional events that can arise from external or internal sources. Cyberattacks include but are not limited to gaining unauthorized access to digital systems (e.g., through “hacking” or malicious software coding) for purposes of misappropriating assets or sensitive information; corrupting data, equipment, or systems; and causing operational disruption. Cyberattacks can also be carried out in a manner that does not require gaining unauthorized access, such as causing denial-of-service attacks on websites (i.e., efforts to make network services unavailable to intended users). Cyber incidents affecting Strategic Advisers, its affiliates, or any other service providers (including but not limited to custodians, transfer agents, and financial intermediaries used by Fidelity or by an issuer of securities) have the ability to cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses, interference with the ability to calculate asset prices, impediments to trading, the inability to transact business, destruction to equipment and systems, violations of applicable privacy and other laws, regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement or other compensation costs, or additional compliance costs. Similar adverse consequences could result from cyber incidents affecting issuers of securities in which an account invests, counterparties with which an account engages in transactions, governmental and other regulatory authorities, exchange and other financial market operators, banks, brokers, dealers, insurance companies and other financial institutions (including financial intermediaries and service providers), and other parties.

Operational Risks. Operational risks can include risk of loss arising from failures in internal processes, people, or systems, such as routine processing incidents or major systems failures, or from external events, such as exchange outages. Strategic Advisers uses algorithms in support of its discretionary portfolio management process. There is a risk that the data input into the algorithms could have errors, omissions, or imperfections, or that the algorithms do not operate as intended (generally referred to as “processing incidents”). Any decisions made in reliance on incorrect data or algorithms that do not operate as intended can expose Program Accounts to potential risks. Issues in the algorithm are often extremely difficult to detect and could go undetected for long periods of time or never be detected. These risks are mitigated by testing and human oversight of the algorithms and their output. We believe that the oversight and testing performed on our algorithms and their output will enable us to identify and address issues appropriately. However, there is no assurance that the algorithms will always work as intended. In general, we will not assess each Program Account individually, nor will we override the outcome of the algorithm with respect to any particular Program Account.

Not all processing incidents arising from operational failures, including those resulting from the mistakes of third parties, will be compensable by Strategic Advisers to clients. Strategic Advisers maintains policies and procedures that address the identification and resolution of processing incidents, consistent with applicable standards of care, to ensure that clients are treated fairly when a processing incident has been detected. The determination of whether, and how, to address a processing incident is made by Strategic Advisers or its affiliates, in their sole discretion.

Processing incidents will be reviewed to determine whether there was a financial impact on a client’s Program Account, and to evaluate the materiality of the impact among other things. If we determine that a material financial impact has occurred, we will generally return the Program Account to the position it would have been in had the processing incident not occurred. Typically, processing incidents that result in a financial impact of less than $10 per Program Account are not considered material. Other examples of impact that could affect the performance of a Program Account but would likely not be material include impacts arising from computer, communications, data processing, network, cloud computing, backup, business continuity or other operating, information, or technology systems, including those we outsource to other providers, failing to operate as planned or becoming disabled, overloaded, or damaged as a result of a number of factors. These factors could include events that are wholly or partially beyond our control and could have a negative impact on our ability to conduct business activities. Though losses arising from operating, information, or technology systems failures could adversely affect the performance of a Program Account, such losses would likely not be reimbursable under Strategic Advisers’ policies and procedures.

Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns. Investing in securities and other investments involves a risk of loss that a client should understand and be willing to bear.

DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

Strategic Advisers deems Strategic Ireland and each of the Strategic Ireland associated employees as “associated persons” of Strategic Advisers within the meaning of Section 202(a)(17) of the Advisers Act. Strategic Ireland associated employees and Strategic Ireland, through such employees, could contribute to Strategic Advisers’ research process and could have access to information concerning securities that are being selected for clients prior to the effective implementation of such selections. As a participating affiliate of Strategic Advisers, Strategic Ireland has agreed to submit itself to the jurisdiction of United States courts for actions arising under United States securities laws in connection with investment advisory activities conducted for Strategic Advisers’ clients. CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING Strategic Advisers has adopted a Code of Ethics for Personal Trading (the “Code of Ethics”). The Code of Ethics applies to all officers, directors, employees, and other supervised persons of Strategic Advisers and requires that they place the interests of Strategic Advisers’ clients above their own. The Code of Ethics establishes securities transaction requirements for all covered employees and their covered persons, including their spouses. More specifically, the Code of Ethics contains provisions requiring the following:

(i) Standards of general business conduct reflecting the investment advisers’ fiduciary obligations;

(ii) Compliance with applicable federal securities laws;

(iii) Employees and their covered persons to move their covered accounts to FBS unless an exception exists or prior approval has been granted;

(iv) Reporting and review of personal securities transactions and holdings for persons with access to certain nonpublic information;
(v) Prohibition of purchasing securities in initial public offerings unless an exception has been approved;
(vi) Reporting of Code of Ethics violations; and
(vii) Distribution of the Code of Ethics to all supervised persons, documented through acknowledgments of receipt.

Core features of the Code of Ethics generally apply to all Fidelity employees. The Code of Ethics also imposes additional restrictions and reporting obligations on certain advisory personnel, research analysts, and portfolio managers. Such restrictions and reporting obligations include (i) the preclearing of transactions in covered securities with limited exceptions, (ii) a prohibition on investments in limited offerings without prior approval, (iii) a prohibition on personal trading by a portfolio manager within seven days before or after a trade in any covered security of the same issuer by a fund or account managed by such portfolio manager except in limited circumstances, (iv) the reporting of transactions in covered securities on a quarterly basis with limited exceptions, (v) the reporting of securities accounts and holdings of covered securities at the time of hire and annually thereafter, and (vi) the disgorgement of profits from short-term transactions with limited exceptions. Violation of the Code of Ethics requirements can also result in the imposition of remedial action. The Code of Ethics will generally be supplemented by other relevant Fidelity policies, including the Policy on Inside Information, Rules for Broker-Dealer Employees, and other written policies and procedures adopted by Fidelity and Strategic Advisers. A copy of the Code of Ethics will be provided to any client or prospective client upon request.

From time to time, Strategic Advisers and its related persons purchase or sell securities for themselves and recommend those securities to you. The conflicts of interest involved in such activities are contemplated in the Code of Ethics and other relevant Fidelity policies. In particular, the Code of Ethics and other Fidelity policies are designed to make it clear to Fidelity personnel that they should never place their personal interests ahead of Fidelity’s clients in an attempt to benefit themselves or another party. The Code of Ethics and other Fidelity policies impose sanctions if these requirements are violated.

From time to time, in connection with our business, certain supervised persons obtain material nonpublic information that is usually not available to other investors or the general public. In compliance with applicable laws, Strategic Advisers has adopted a comprehensive set of policies and procedures that prohibit the use of material nonpublic information by investment professionals or any other employees. In addition, Fidelity has implemented a Corporate Gifts & Entertainment Policy intended to set standards for business entertainment and the giving or receiving of gifts, to help employees make sound decisions with respect to these activities, and to ensure that the interests of Strategic Advisers’ clients come first. Similarly, to support compliance with applicable “pay to play” laws, Fidelity has adopted a Personal Political Contributions & Activities Policy that requires employees to preclear any political contributions and activities. Fidelity also has a Global Anti-Corruption Policy regarding commercial bribery and bribery of government officials that prohibits directly or indirectly giving, offering, authorizing, promising, accepting, or receiving any bribe, facilitation payment, kickback or payoff (whether in cash or any other form) with the intent to improperly obtain or retain business or any improper advantage.

BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Transactions in Program Accounts

In situations where you have imported securities into your Program Account, Strategic Advisers has a duty to seek best execution for transactions in client accounts. In determining a broker-dealer’s ability for a transaction, Strategic Advisers or its affiliates evaluate a variety of criteria and use good faith judgment; such criteria include the broker-dealer’s execution capabilities, reputation, and access to the markets for the securities being traded. Other possibly relevant factors Strategic Advisers or its affiliates consider in the context of a trade include but are not limited to the following: price; costs; the size, nature, and type of the order; speed of execution; and financial condition and reputation of a broker-dealer. Strategic Advisers or its affiliates can choose to place trades for Program Accounts with affiliated or unaffiliated registered broker-dealers and to execute an order using electronic channels, including Fidelity order routing systems or broker-dealer sponsored algorithms, or by verbally working an order with a broker-dealer. To obtain best execution for a transaction, Strategic Advisers can select a broker-dealer that does not necessarily charge the lowest available commission rate; however, Strategic Advisers believes that its order routing policies, taking into consideration the factors stated above, are designed to result in transaction processing that is favorable to Program clients. Strategic Advisers regularly monitors the quality of the execution of transactions allocated to affiliated and unaffiliated broker-dealers.

The Program’s advisory fee includes the cost of any commissions associated with Program Account transactions executed through broker-dealers affiliated with Strategic Advisers but does not include the cost of commissions associated with transactions executed through unaffiliated broker-dealers, provided, however, that Strategic Advisers or its affiliates can voluntarily assume the cost of commissions for Program Account transactions that are executed through unaffiliated broker-dealers, in which case clients will not be charged commissions for such transactions.

As security transactions for Program Accounts will be limited to the sale of transferred securities, it is anticipated that Strategic Advisers will place all transactions for the sale of exchange-traded products (“ETPs”) and individual securities imported into Program Accounts with its affiliate NFS, through FCM. Strategic Advisers places ETP and individual security transactions for execution with NFS, through FCM, when Strategic Advisers reasonably believes that the quality of the execution of the transaction is comparable to what could be obtained through other qualified broker-dealers. NFS transmits orders received for execution through FCM to various exchanges or market centers based on a number of factors. These include the size of the order, trading characteristics of the security, favorable execution prices (including the opportunity for price improvement), access to reliable market data, availability of efficient automated transaction processing, and execution costs. Some market centers or broker-dealers execute orders at prices superior to the publicly quoted market prices. Where Strategic Advisers directs the market center to which an order is routed, FBS or NFS will route the order to such market center in accordance with Strategic Advisers’ instructions without regard to its general order routing practices.

With respect to investments made by Fidelity mutual funds and ETPs, Strategic Advisers and its affiliates can allocate brokerage transactions to unaffiliated broker-dealers that have entered into commission recapture arrangements with Strategic Advisers or its affiliates under which the broker-dealer, using a predetermined methodology, rebates a portion of the compensation paid by the fund to offset that fund’s expenses, which can be paid to Strategic Advisers or its affiliates. Not all broker-dealers with whom Strategic Advisers trades have agreed to participate in brokerage commission recapture. Strategic Advisers expects that broker-dealers from whom Strategic Advisers or its affiliates purchase research products and services with “hard dollars” are unlikely to participate in commission recapture.

Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals for further information about Program fees, brokerage commissions, and additional fees for transactions in a Program Account.

Trade Aggregation and Allocation

Strategic Advisers’ policy is to treat each of its clients’ accounts in a fair and equitable manner over time when aggregating and allocating orders for the purchase and sale of mutual funds, ETPs, and individual securities. While Strategic Advisers is under no obligation to aggregate orders for Program Accounts, in general, Strategic Advisers will choose to aggregate trades for Program Accounts and/or aggregate Program Account trades with trades for other client accounts (including certain proprietary accounts of Strategic Advisers or its affiliates and Fidelity employee accounts managed by Strategic Advisers) when, in Strategic Advisers’ judgment, aggregation is in the best interest of all clients involved and it is operationally feasible to do so. Orders are aggregated to facilitate seeking best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among clients the effects of any market fluctuations that might have otherwise occurred had these orders been placed independently. Aggregated trades are generally allocated pro rata among similarly situated client accounts participating in the transaction until the order is filled, and transactions that are effected on the same trade day are averaged as to price and allocated as to amount according to the purchase and sale orders actually placed for each client account. If Strategic Advisers does not complete an order in a single day (e.g., when an aggregate order for client accounts exceeds the available supply or to minimize market impact), client accounts will trade over multiple days. Although it is Strategic Advisers’ policy to treat each of its clients’ accounts in a fair and equitable manner over time, if trades are executed over multiple days, there can be no assurance that all participating Program Accounts will receive the same execution and certain Program Accounts may experience a more or less favorable execution depending on market conditions. Strategic Advisers has adopted trade allocation policies for managing client accounts, including Program Accounts, and for the funds of funds managed by Strategic Advisers, that are designed to achieve fairness and not to purposefully disadvantage comparable client accounts over time when allocating purchases and sales.

Agency and Advisor Cross Trades

To the extent permitted by law and applicable policies and procedures, Strategic Advisers can execute “agency cross trades” for Program Accounts. Agency cross trades are trades in which Strategic Advisers, or any person controlling, controlled by, or under common control with Strategic Advisers, acts as both investment adviser and broker for a client, and as broker for the party or parties on the other side of the trade. Agency cross trades will be executed in accordance with Section 206(3) of the Advisers Act, requiring written consent, confirmations of transactions, annual reporting, and compliance procedures. In addition, to the extent permitted by law and applicable policies and procedures, Strategic Advisers can execute “advisor cross trades” for Program Accounts when Strategic Advisers believes that such trades are in the best interest of all clients involved. Advisor cross trades are trades in which Strategic Advisers, or an affiliate, acts as investment adviser to both clients involved in the trade. Advisor cross trades will be facilitated either directly or through a broker-dealer (including FBS or NFS) and the relevant crossing value will be determined based on one or more third-party pricing services, actual market bids, and/or closing prices as reflected on a national securities exchange.

Account Transaction Information

When Strategic Advisers trades in a Program Account, clients will receive a confirmation of such transaction from NFS, except with respect to automatic investments, automatic withdrawals, dividend reinvestments, and transactions that involve the core Fidelity money market fund, where a client’s account statement serves in lieu of a confirmation. Clients will receive statements from NFS that will provide holdings and transaction information, including trades, contributions, withdrawals, advisory fees, and estimated gain/loss and tax basis information. Statements and confirmations are also available online at Fidelity.com. Clients should carefully review all statements and other communications received from FBS and NFS. Clients will also receive a prospectus for any new mutual fund not previously held. The routing details of a particular order will be provided upon request, and an explanation of order routing practices will be provided on an annual basis. In addition, from time to time, Fidelity will provide aggregated trade execution data to clients and prospective clients.

Soft Dollars

Strategic Advisers does not have a soft dollar program.

Client-Directed Brokerage Activities

Program Accounts are not available for brokerage activities outside of the activities directed by Strategic Advisers, including but not limited to margin trading or trading of securities by you or any of your designated agents.
Ongoing Review and Adjustments of Program Accounts

Strategic Advisers monitors Program Accounts and their investments periodically. Market conditions and/or an upturn or downturn in a particular security will at times cause a “drift” in your investment portfolio away from the long-term risk level associated with the Program Account. Strategic Advisers can choose to rebalance a Program Account to bring it back in line with your selected asset allocation strategy. The number of times your Program Account is rebalanced will vary based on economic and market conditions, as well as changes in the attractiveness or appropriateness of specific funds or managers. Strategic Advisers can also modify the funds held in a Program Account to accommodate new fund allocations and fund closures. As described earlier in this brochure, we will invest all Program Account assets in certain Flex Funds.

In managing Program Accounts, Strategic Advisers could decide to rebalance or adjust allocations for a number of reasons, including but not limited to the following:

- The weighting of a particular asset class, sector, or individual security that Strategic Advisers believes has too much or too little representation in connection with Program allocations;
- Changes in the fundamental attractiveness or appropriateness of a particular mutual fund;
- Changes in a client’s profile information and any consequent changes to an associated investment strategy;
- Deposits/withdrawals of cash or securities into/from a Program Account; and
- Accommodating mutual fund closures or limitations.

Strategic Advisers’ investment management team will make decisions regarding reallocations within the portfolio in which the Program Account is invested. These decisions are based on the investment management team’s assessment of market and economic conditions and potential investment opportunities. Strategic Advisers will generally trade a Program Account when the portfolio to which it is aligned is changed. In determining whether a Program Account requires trading on a given day, Strategic Advisers relies on the prior night’s closing values of the funds held in a Program Account. In general, Strategic Advisers does not attempt to conduct intraday account evaluations, and Strategic Advisers does not generally attempt to time intraday price fluctuations in its decisions to buy or sell securities.

In certain instances, a “do-not-trade” restriction will be placed on a Program Account for reasons including but not limited to processing a trade correction, client request, or to comply with a court order. For the period when a do-not-trade restriction is on a Program Account, Strategic Advisers will suspend management of the Program Account and will not monitor the Program Account for potential purchases and sales of securities. Additionally, in certain instances, deposits to a Program Account will not be invested and withdrawal requests will not be processed during a do-not-trade period. Strategic Advisers is not held responsible for any market loss experienced as a result of a do-not-trade restriction.

You also have access to information that details the performance of your Program Account and summarizes the market activity during the period. Industry standards are applied when calculating performance information.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Strategic Advisers and its affiliates are compensated for providing services, including investment management, distribution, transfer agency, servicing, and custodial services, to certain Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs, and other investments. This includes FMRCo and its affiliates as the investment adviser for the Fidelity Funds; FDC as the underwriter of the Fidelity Funds; and Fidelity Investments Institutional Operations Company LLC (“FIIOC”) as transfer agent for the Fidelity Funds, servicing agent for non-Fidelity funds, and recordkeeper of certain workplace savings plans.
Strategic Advisers' affiliates also receive compensation and other benefits in connection with portfolio transactions executed on behalf of the Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs, and other investments. FMRCo and its affiliates also obtain brokerage or research services, consistent with Section 28(e) of the Exchange Act, from broker-dealers in connection with the execution of the Fidelity Funds' portfolio security transactions.

FBS and NFS receive compensation for executing portfolio transactions and providing, among other things, clearance, settlement, custodial, and other services to Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs, and other investments, and NFS provides securities lending agent services to certain Fidelity Funds for which it receives compensation. FBS, NFS, and FIIOC also offer Fidelity's mutual fund supermarket, FundsNetwork®, and provide shareholder and other services to participating mutual funds for which FBS, NFS, and FIIOC receive compensation. Neither FBS nor NFS receives any compensation in connection with directing equity trades for Program Accounts to market makers for execution. We can execute trades through alternative trading systems or national securities exchanges, including ones in which a Fidelity affiliate has an ownership interest, such as Members Exchange, a registered national securities exchange.

Any decision to execute a trade through an alternative trading system or exchange in which a Fidelity affiliate has an interest would be made in accordance with applicable law, including best execution obligations. For trades placed on certain national securities exchanges, not limited to ones in which a Fidelity affiliate has an ownership interest, Fidelity could receive exchange rebates from such trades for Program Accounts, and these rebates will be subject to the credit amount (as described below) and will be allocated, pro rata based on assets, among Program Accounts.

The compensation described above that is retained by Strategic Advisers or its affiliates as a result of investments by Program Accounts in Fidelity and non-Fidelity funds and ETPs will be included in a credit amount, which can reduce the Program’s advisory fee. However, to the extent that Strategic Advisers or its affiliates, including FBS, NFS, or FIIOC, retain compensation that is neither a direct result of, nor directly derived from, investments by the Program Accounts, such compensation is not included in the credit amount, does not reduce the advisory fee, and will be retained by Strategic Advisers or its affiliates. Receipt of compensation in addition to the advisory fee creates a financial incentive for FPWA and its affiliates to select investments that will increase such compensation. Strategic Advisers seeks to address this financial conflict of interest through the application of a credit amount, which will reduce the advisory fee, as applicable, and through personnel compensation arrangements (including those of Strategic Advisers’ investment professionals and the Fidelity representatives) that are not differentiated based on the investments or share classes selected for Program Accounts. Strategic Advisers and its affiliates have also implemented controls reasonably designed to prevent the receipt of compensation from affecting the nature of the advice provided to Program Accounts. As described herein, Program Account assets will be invested in certain Flex Funds. The Flex Funds are available only to certain fee-based accounts offered by Fidelity, and compensation for management and expenses of Flex Funds is paid out of the fees charged by Fidelity fee-based accounts that include Flex Funds as underlying investments, including the Program. FMRCo is compensated for its services out of such advisory fees. FMRCo receives no fee from the Flex Funds for handling the business affairs of the funds and pays the expenses of each fund, with limited exceptions as noted above.

See the FPWA Program Fundamentals included in your Program materials for additional information.

Client referrals are provided by affiliated entities, including FBS or other affiliates, pursuant to referral agreements where applicable.
CUSTODY

Strategic Advisers does not maintain custody for Program clients’ assets in connection with the discretionary investment management services it provides to Program Accounts. To participate in either Program, clients must establish and maintain a Program Account with FBS, a registered broker-dealer and an affiliate of Strategic Advisers. NFS, an affiliate of FBS, FPWA, and Strategic Advisers, has custody of your assets and will perform certain Program Account services, including the implementation of trading instructions, as well as custodial and related services. Certain personnel of FPWA, Strategic Advisers, FBS, and NFS share premises and have common supervision. You should carefully review all statements and other communications received from FBS and NFS.

INVESTMENT DISCRETION

Strategic Advisers’ portfolio management services for Program Accounts include the discretionary authority to determine which securities to purchase or sell, the total amount of such purchases and sales, and the brokers or dealers through which transactions are executed in Program Accounts. Such discretionary authority is subject to certain limits, including each of the Program’s investment objectives and policies, regulatory constraints, and those investment restrictions we agree to impose based on a client’s request, in accordance with applicable laws.

VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Strategic Advisers does not acquire authority for, or exercise, proxy voting on a client’s behalf in connection with managing Program Accounts. Unless you direct us otherwise, you will receive proxy materials directly from the funds or NFS. Strategic Advisers will not advise you on the voting of proxies. You must exercise any proxy voting directly.

You do not pay Strategic Advisers for the services it provides under the Program. Strategic Advisers does not solicit prepayment of client fees.
