SUMMARY OF MATERIAL CHANGES

The SEC requires registered investment advisers to provide and deliver an annual summary of material changes to their advisory services program brochure (also referred to as the Form ADV Part 2A). The section below highlights only material revisions that have been made to the Fidelity® Wealth Services Program Fundamentals from March 29, 2018, through March 29, 2019. Please contact a Fidelity representative regarding questions associated with your account at 800-544-3455. For Fidelity Private Wealth Management® clients, please contact your Wealth Management Advisor.

COMPLETION OF CHANGES TO YOUR ADVISORY PROGRAM

Effective as of July 16, 2018 and in connection with the transition to Fidelity® Wealth Services, Strategic Advisers assigned all existing client agreements for several advisory programs to its affiliate, FPWA, who succeeded Strategic Advisers as sponsor to the Program. Strategic Advisers provides sub-advisory services to Program Accounts.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR TAXABLE PROGRAM ACCOUNTS

It is anticipated that Taxable Program Accounts that are not currently managed with tax-sensitive investment management strategies, other than BlackRock® Diversified Income Portfolio accounts and Blended or Fidelity Focused accounts owned by certain business entities, will be transitioned over time beginning in 2019 into Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts. Clients who own such accounts will be contacted as part of the transition to confirm certain Profile Information that will be used to provide tax-sensitive investment management strategies. As we begin to apply such strategies to accounts that have not previously received them, clients should be aware that this conversion is likely to result in securities transactions that may have tax consequences. For clients who enroll in the Program after the date of this Program Fundamentals and current Program clients, your enrollment or continued enrollment, respectively, serves as your consent to the transition of your Taxable Program Account into a Tax-Sensitive Program Account. Please contact a Fidelity representative for more information.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT ACCOUNT MINIMUMS

The minimum investment amount for Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts has been lowered from $200,000 to $50,000. Please see “Account Requirements and Types of Clients” for more information.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT THE STRATEGIC ADVISERS TAX-MANAGED U.S. LARGE CAP SMA

Effective as of July 1, 2019, the Strategic Advisers Tax-Managed U.S. Large Cap SMA will change its reference index from the S&P 500® Index to the Fidelity U.S. Large Cap IndexSM. Please see “Discretionary Investment Management Services” for more information.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT FEES

It is currently anticipated that the methodology for allocating Credit Amounts to individual accounts will be modified during the second half of 2019. In certain situations, the Credit Amount for investments in non-Fidelity mutual funds and ETPs will not be applied to an account that held the investment that generated the credit. In these situations, the Credit Amount will be applied, pro rata, among the accounts that hold the non-Fidelity mutual fund or ETP. Please see “Fees and Compensation” for more information. Clients will be notified after the methodological change has been implemented. For clients who enroll in the Program after the date of this Program Fundamentals and current Program clients, your enrollment or continued enrollment, respectively, serves as your consent to the modified methodology.

SERVICES, FEES AND COMPENSATION

Fidelity Personal and Workplace Advisors LLC ("FPWA") is a registered investment adviser and an indirect, wholly owned subsidiary of FMR LLC (collectively with FPWA and its affiliates, "Fidelity Investments," "Fidelity," "us," or "we"). FPWA was formed in 2017 and offers a number of investment advisory programs, including Fidelity® Wealth Services (the "Program").

As described below, the Program services include discretionary investment management, access to assistance from one or more Fidelity representatives, and access to financial planning (altogether, the "Program Services"). Discretionary investment management is provided through one or more Portfolio Advisory Services accounts (each a "Program Account"). Program Accounts can include tax-advantaged accounts (e.g., Traditional, Roth, SEP, and SIMPLE Individual Retirement Accounts, collectively, "Retirement Program Accounts") and taxable accounts (each a "Taxable Program Account"), which may be managed with tax-sensitive investment management strategies (each a "Tax-Sensitive Program Account"). A client ("client" or "you") must invest and maintain a minimum of $50,000 in at least one Program Account to be eligible for the Program. Program Services may be provided in person, via telephone or digitally.

FPWA has retained the services of its affiliate, Strategic Advisers LLC ("Strategic Advisers"), to provide the discretionary portfolio management services described in this document. Strategic Advisers has access to a wide range of research and analytics that support its management of Program Accounts. Important information regarding Strategic Advisers, including details regarding its research and portfolio management capabilities, can be found in Strategic Advisers' Fidelity® Wealth Services Program Fundamentals ("Strategic Advisers’ Program Fundamentals").

Discretionary Investment Management Services

As a first step in the delivery of Program Services, we will help you identify your investment goals and objectives, risk tolerance, planned investment time horizon, other assets, and other information we collect to understand your situation ("Profile Information"). Based on your Profile Information, we will propose a long-term asset allocation for each of your Program Accounts, as appropriate. Each asset allocation is composed of a combination of stocks, bonds, and short-term investments and is designed to correspond to a level of risk ranging from conservative (lower risk/lower return potential) to aggressive (higher risk/higher return potential).

Each Program Account will typically be invested on a discretionary basis to align with the asset allocation ("Account Asset Allocation") and investment approach and universe you select, and will be subject to ongoing management and rebalancing, as appropriate, to generally maintain such alignment. As described in greater detail below, investments can include mutual funds, exchange-traded products ("ETPs") and, for eligible Taxable Program Accounts of certain asset levels, individual securities. ETPs may include exchange-traded funds ("ETFs"), exchange-traded notes, unit investment trusts, closed-end funds, master limited partnerships, and certain grantor trusts. Mutual funds and ETPs may be managed by Fidelity, including Strategic Advisers, and/or third-party investment managers. Mutual funds used in the Program are selected from among those available through Fidelity's mutual fund supermarket, FundsNetwork®. Mutual funds and ETPs selected for Program Accounts will typically hold investments in a combination of the primary asset classes: domestic stocks (U.S. equity securities), foreign stocks (non-U.S. equity securities), bonds (fixed income securities of all types and maturities, including lower-quality debt securities), and short-term assets (short-duration investments). Program Accounts may also hold shares of mutual funds and ETPs that invest in nontraditional asset classes and/or extended asset classes, including, but not limited to, real estate, inflation-protected debt securities, commodities, or other alternative investments. BlackRock® Diversified Income Portfolio ("BDIP") Program Accounts have specific investment parameters that are discussed below, and, unless specifically stated, other information regarding Program investment approaches and universes is not applicable to BDIP Program Accounts. In addition, clients who participate in Fidelity Private Wealth Management® may be eligible to receive enhanced Program Services, including tailored portfolio management solutions, as discussed below.
Retirement Program Accounts are generally invested in a model-based portfolio composed of mutual funds and, depending on a client's preferred investment approach and universe, ETPs. Taxable Program Accounts, other than BDIP Program Accounts, are invested in a portfolio of mutual funds and/or ETPs, and, for certain Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts, may also be invested in individual securities through separately managed account sleeves (“SMAs”) discussed below. Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts will be managed using tax-sensitive investment strategies that seek to enhance after-tax returns, including, without limitation, harvesting tax losses, analyzing tax lots, and managing exposure to mutual fund distributions. The specific tax-sensitive strategies utilized will depend on the size of the account and the Account Asset Allocation selected.

Clients may select between Total Return and Defensive investment approaches for their Program Accounts. The Total Return investment approach seeks to enhance total return for a given level of risk through broad diversification across asset classes. The Defensive investment approach seeks to temper downside risk in an effort to provide a smoother investment experience over the long term (as compared to a Total Return approach) by investing in “defensive” strategies across asset classes. Clients may select from the following investment universes for their Total Return Program Accounts (please note that only the Blended investment universe is available for Defensive Program Accounts):

- The Blended investment universe uses both Fidelity and non-Fidelity investments and seeks to enhance risk-adjusted returns through broad diversification across asset classes;
- The Fidelity Focused investment universe primarily uses investments from Fidelity and seeks to enhance risk-adjusted returns through broad diversification across asset classes; and
- The Index-Focused investment universe uses both Fidelity and non-Fidelity investments and seeks to enhance risk-adjusted returns through broad diversification across asset classes. Generally, there is a preference for passively managed investments, but this strategy may also invest in actively managed investments when deemed appropriate.

Retirement and Taxable Program Accounts managed using the Total Return approach and either the Blended or Fidelity Focused investment universe invest only in mutual funds; mutual funds and ETPs can be used in all other Program Accounts, including all Fidelity Private Wealth Management Program Accounts.

Depending on the amount invested, Profile Information, and Account Asset Allocation, a portion of a Tax-Sensitive Program Account may be invested in one or more SMAs. SMAs are separate portions or “sleeves” of an account, and are used to hold individual securities. Each SMA is managed using investment models provided by Fidelity or third-party investment advisers (“Model Providers”), which are then individually tailored based on a client’s existing holdings and unique financial situation, as well as the tax attributes of the holdings in the Tax-Sensitive Program Account. We may propose one or more of the following SMAs for a client’s consideration:

- Fidelity Strategic Advisers U.S. Large Cap Equity SMA seeks to outperform the S&P 500® Index;
- Strategic Advisers Tax-Managed U.S. Large Cap SMA currently seeks to approximate the pre-tax risk and return characteristics of the S&P 500® Index (please note that, effective as of July 1, 2019, the S&P 500® Index will be replaced with the Fidelity U.S. Large Cap IndexSM for this SMA);
- Strategic Advisers Equity Growth SMA seeks to outperform the Russell 1000® Growth Index; and
- Strategic Advisers Equity Value SMA seeks to outperform the Russell 1000® Value Index.

Additional SMAs may be made available to Program clients from time to time. Note that there is an additional fee for SMAs where a Model Provider that is unaffiliated with FPWA (“Unaffiliated Model Provider”) is used (see “Fees for SMAs” below). See Strategic Advisers’ Program Fundamentals for more information regarding its tax-sensitive investing process and the SMA models, including additional information about the Fidelity U.S. Large Cap IndexSM.
A client may elect to participate in the Increased International Option, which will modify the Account Asset Allocation of a Tax-Sensitive Program Account by increasing the exposure to international equity securities from approximately 30% of the overall equity allocation to approximately 50% of the overall equity allocation. Performance will differ, at times significantly, from the performance of a Tax-Sensitive Program Account without increased international exposure.

A client may request that monies be invested in a “Short-Term Position” sleeve of a Tax-Sensitive Program Account, whereby such amounts will be invested in the client’s core Fidelity money market fund to be used for short-term and liquidity purposes. Assets held in the Short-Term Position sleeve are not managed on a discretionary basis and are not assessed an annual Gross Advisory Fee (see “Fees and Compensation” below).

As we apply tax-sensitive investment management strategies to a Tax-Sensitive Program Account, transactions will be made in such an account that could trigger taxable gains. For example, trading activity will likely trigger taxable gains in a Tax-Sensitive Program Account if (1) securities in the account have experienced investment gains since last being traded, or (2) the account is reallocated to align with a change in a client’s Account Asset Allocation. In addition, in a given year, a client may receive varying levels of taxable fund distributions within a Tax-Sensitive Program Account. Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts are actively managed for federal income taxes, but are not managed in consideration of state or local taxes, foreign taxes on non-U.S. investments, or estate, gift, or generation-skipping transfer taxes.

Further, clients willing to invest at least $200,000 in a Program Account may also choose to hold Retirement and Taxable Program Account assets in a BDIP Program Account, with respect to which BlackRock Investment Management, LLC (“BlackRock”) serves as the Model Provider. In constructing the model portfolio for BDIP, BlackRock seeks to identify ETPs and mutual funds that can provide risk-adjusted income in response to prevailing market conditions. In selecting investments, BlackRock will primarily select mutual funds and ETPs advised by it (or one of its affiliates) and which pay fees and other compensation to BlackRock (or one of its affiliates), including iShares® ETFs (collectively, “BlackRock Affiliated Funds”). BlackRock may also include mutual funds and ETPs advised by third parties, including Fidelity, if BlackRock determines, in its sole discretion, that a BlackRock Affiliated Fund may not achieve the investment objective. BlackRock seeks to maintain a risk profile for its model that is generally consistent with that of a balanced portfolio that holds 50% equity investments and 50% investment grade fixed income (including short-term assets), but has wide flexibility in the relative investment weightings given to each asset class, and typically identifies an asset allocation that is 20%–60% stocks and 40%–80% fixed income (including high-yield and short-term investments). BlackRock may provide a similar model portfolio to, or manage accounts using a similar investment strategy for, its other clients and may provide the model to such accounts or clients prior to providing it to Strategic Advisers.

All Program Accounts, including BDIP Program Accounts, will be managed on a discretionary basis by Strategic Advisers; BlackRock does not have any discretionary investment authority over any Program Accounts. Strategic Advisers may select investments for your BDIP Program Account that differ from BlackRock’s model portfolio, but may also implement BlackRock’s model portfolio without change. BDIP Program Accounts are not managed based on an Account Asset Allocation, or the investment universes or approaches, and tax-sensitive strategies described above. In addition, although model-based, the composition of BDIP Program Accounts may differ for a variety of reasons, including, but not limited to, the timing of client investments and withdrawals and any client-imposed investment restrictions.

Investment Restrictions

A client has the ability to impose reasonable restrictions on the management of a Program Account. Any proposed restriction is subject to our review and approval. Such a restriction may include prohibitions such as with respect to the purchase of a particular fund, individual security, industry or sub-asset class (e.g., emerging markets funds). If a restriction is accepted, assets will be invested in a manner that is appropriate given the restriction. Imposing an investment restriction can delay the start of discretionary management, and Program Accounts with client-imposed restrictions will experience performance different from Program
Accounts without restrictions, possibly producing lower overall results. Program Account restrictions should be requested through a Fidelity representative.

Access to a Fidelity Representative
Clients have access to assistance provided by a dedicated representative or a team of representatives. Fidelity assigns representatives based on a variety of factors, including Program Account investment levels and complexity of financial situation.

Access to Financial Planning Services
At your request, we can provide financial planning services to help you evaluate your ability to meet identified goals. Typically, we begin by understanding your needs and goals related to your Program Account(s), as well as any “Other Assets” you have identified (e.g., assets held in other Fidelity programs or accounts, or at a third party, that are aligned to the same goal as your Program Account). If requested, we will also discuss goals unrelated to your Program Account(s). We then work with you to obtain information regarding your financial situation. We may complete this step when working with you to gather information in connection with opening your Program Account. Next, we will review your information and prepare an analysis. Our financial planning services typically include asset allocation modeling, which helps you in evaluating your ability to meet your identified goal based on your current asset allocation and may also provide suggestions for changes to your asset allocation.

Depending on the complexity of your financial situation and/or assets held in a Fidelity program or accounts, we may also collaborate with you on general strategies to help you evaluate financial planning needs such as retirement planning, education funding, insurance planning, employee benefits planning (e.g., equity compensation arrangements), tax planning, or estate planning. We use various financial planning analytics and applications to provide financial planning services; the specific analysis provided to you will be based on the assets allocated to a goal and the complexity of your financial situation. Our financial planning services do not include initial or ongoing advice regarding specific securities or other investments, any financial analysis provided outside this Program, or any “what-if” or other changes you may model on your own in any financial planning tool that is made available to you online. In addition, we are not obligated to provide ongoing financial planning advice, update any analysis provided or monitor your progress toward an investment goal.

Other than with respect to your Program Accounts, which are managed on a discretionary basis through the Program, whether and how to implement any asset allocation or other recommendations provided as a component of our financial planning services is the responsibility of each client and is separate and distinct from the Program Services. Specifically, Other Assets are not managed as part of the Program, and are subject to separate and distinct terms, conditions and, as applicable, fees. If a client chooses to implement some or all of the asset allocation or other recommendations provided as part of the Program’s financial planning services through Fidelity, a Fidelity entity will act as a broker-dealer or investment adviser depending on the products or services selected, and the client will be subject to separate, applicable charges, fees or expenses. Please see the “Guide to Brokerage and Investment Advisory Services at Fidelity Investments” included with your Program enrollment materials, or speak with a Fidelity representative for more information.

There can be significant differences between the asset allocation modeling results shown and the performance a client may actually experience. Asset allocation modeling is performed at the asset class level, assumes broad diversification within each asset class, relies on certain estimates about the performance of the securities markets, and is not designed to predict the future performance of any particular security or investment product. In addition, our assumptions and methodologies used in this process may be adjusted from time to time, which can have an impact on the results obtained. It is important to understand that the modeling provided in conjunction with our financial planning services is hypothetical in nature, is for illustrative purposes only, does not reflect actual investment results, and is not a guarantee of future investment outcomes. The modeling results shown may vary with each use and over time.

Limitations on Tax and Estate Planning Suggestions. Although Fidelity may consider the potential effect of certain estate or tax strategies, any information presented to you in conjunction with the Program, including in providing the financial planning services, about tax considerations affecting financial transactions or estate arrangements is not intended as tax or legal advice, and should not be relied on for the purpose of avoiding any tax liabilities or penalties. Fidelity does not provide tax, accounting, or legal advice. You should review any planned financial transactions or arrangements that may have tax, accounting, or legal implications with your personal professional advisors. The Program does not prepare or file personal tax returns. You should consult your legal advisor regarding your particular circumstances.

Private Wealth Management

To be eligible for enhanced discretionary investment management and/or financial planning ("PWM Program Services"), Fidelity Private Wealth Management clients are subject to a qualification and acceptance process, and must typically invest at least $2,000,000, in the aggregate, in Program Accounts and have investable assets of at least $10,000,000. Depending on the eligible client’s situation, PWM Program Services can include either or both of the following:

- With respect to discretionary investment management, a dedicated investment manager will be assigned to discuss, implement and review tailored portfolio management solutions across Program Accounts, including personalized tax-sensitive investment strategies ("PWM tax management services"). These services can include strategically positioning assets among the client’s Tax-Sensitive and Retirement Program Accounts in order to help enhance marginal after-tax returns (e.g., more tax-efficient investments to be held in a Tax-Sensitive Program Account and less tax-efficient investments to be held in a Retirement Program Account).

- With respect to financial planning, eligible clients will receive in-depth analyses and customized financial planning solutions, as well as access to a dedicated team of planning specialists who assist clients in the field of financial and estate planning. These analyses may include information about clients’ employee benefits plans to help them understand components of the benefits offered, and the opportunities that participating in those benefits plans may provide.

Important Information for Taxable Program Accounts

Please note that not all Taxable Program Accounts are managed with tax-sensitive investment management strategies, including BDIP Program Accounts and those previously invested through Fidelity Portfolio Advisory Service® and transitioned into this Program. These accounts will generally not be managed using the same tax-sensitive investment strategies used to manage the Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts as described above, will not have access to the SMAs, will not have the option of electing the Increased International Option, and will not be able to allocate amounts to a Short-Term Position sleeve. Clients may elect to convert their Taxable Program Accounts (other than BDIP Program Accounts and Blended or Fidelity Focused Program Accounts owned by certain business entities) into Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts. It is currently anticipated that all Taxable Program Accounts (other than BDIP Program Accounts and Blended or Fidelity Focused Program Accounts owned by certain business entities) will be transitioned over time beginning in 2019 into Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts, and clients who own such accounts will be contacted as part of the transition to confirm certain Profile Information that will be used by Strategic Advisers in providing tax-sensitive investment management strategies. As we begin to apply such strategies to accounts that have not previously received them, clients should be aware that this conversion is likely to result in securities transactions that may have tax consequences. For clients who enroll in the Program after the date of this Program Fundamentals and current Program clients, your enrollment or continued enrollment, respectively, serves as your consent to the transition of your Taxable Program Account into a Tax-Sensitive Program Account. Please contact a Fidelity representative for more information.
Trust Accounts Where Fidelity Personal Trust Company, FSB Serves as Trustee or Co-Trustee

For trust accounts where Fidelity Personal Trust Company, FSB (“FPTC”) serves as trustee or co-trustee (“Program Trust Accounts”), FPWA acts as sub-advisor to FPTC in providing the Program Services. Strategic Advisers provides discretionary portfolio management for all Program Accounts, including these Program Trust Accounts. FPTC, in its capacity as trustee or co-trustee may provide additional services, including management of certain assets not included in a Program Trust Account. All Program Trust Accounts will be subject to a trust administration fee that is separate from, and in addition to, the Advisory Fee described below. Please see FPTC’s separate fee schedule for a complete listing of its fees. The Program Services provided for the benefit of FPTC’s clients are subject to ongoing supervisory oversight performed by FPTC. Program Trust Accounts will not directly participate in the financial planning services described herein. If Program Services are provided for the benefit of Program Trust Accounts, references to “client” throughout this document assume FPTC is trustee or co-trustee of the applicable trust.

Responsibility of Clients

We rely on client information to provide the Program Services. It is the client’s responsibility to advise us of changes to their goals, time horizon, tax situation, risk tolerance, and personal financial situation that may affect the Program Services, including, if appropriate, to adjust an Account Asset Allocation, to modify tax-sensitive investment strategies, or to update or revise any analyses generated in providing the financial planning services. If you have multiple relationships with Fidelity, you should ensure that your personal, financial, and other important information is independently updated for each respective service or account.

FEES AND COMPENSATION

Advisory Fees—Gross and Net of Fee Credit

The Program charges an annual Gross Advisory Fee that includes access to assistance from one or more Fidelity representatives, access to financial planning services, and the ongoing discretionary management of Program Account(s), as well as the brokerage, clearing and custody services provided by FPWA’s affiliates.

The Gross Advisory Fee does not include (i) any fees associated with investment through an SMA where an Unaffiliated Model Provider is used (see below); (ii) underlying mutual fund and ETP expenses charged at the individual fund level for any such investments in a Program Account; (iii) certain charges resulting from transactions executed with or through broker-dealers that are not affiliates of FPWA; (iv) mark-ups and mark-downs, transfer taxes, exchange fees, regulatory fees, odd-lot differentials, handling charges, electronic fund and wire transfer fees, or any other charges imposed by law or otherwise agreed to with regard to a Program Account; or (v) any additional expenses, including trading fees and management expenses, a client may incur with respect to any non-Program account. FPWA or its affiliate may voluntarily assume the cost of certain commissions for equity transactions executed with or through broker-dealers that are not affiliates of FPWA; clients will not be charged commissions for such transactions. Fund expenses, which vary by fund and class, are expenses that all mutual fund and ETP shareholders pay. Details of mutual fund or ETP expenses can be found in each mutual fund’s or ETP’s respective prospectus. These expenses are not separately itemized or billed; rather, the published returns of mutual funds and ETPs are shown net of their expenses. Some of these underlying mutual fund and ETP expenses are paid to FPWA or its affiliates and will be included in a Credit Amount as described below.

The annual Gross Advisory Fee applied to a Program Account is reduced by a Credit Amount. The Credit Amount is intended to address the potential conflicts of interest that arise in selecting investments that generate revenue for Fidelity by reducing the advisory fees paid to FPWA by the amount of compensation, if any, FPWA or its affiliates retain that is derived as a direct result of investments by Program Accounts, as detailed below. A Credit Amount is calculated monthly and applied quarterly in arrears.

To the extent applicable, a Credit Amount will be calculated for each mutual fund or ETP held by Program Accounts, as follows:
• For Fidelity funds and ETPs, the Credit Amount will equal the underlying investment management and any other fees or compensation FPWA or its affiliates retain from these funds and ETPs, as a result of investments by Program Accounts.

• For non-Fidelity funds and ETPs, the Credit Amount will equal the distribution fees, shareholder servicing fees, and any other fees or compensation FPWA or its affiliates retain from these funds and ETPs or their affiliates, as a result of investments by Program Accounts.

An aggregate Credit Amount is then allocated to each Program Account to arrive at the Net Advisory Fee. Please note that (i) individual securities held in a Program Account do not affect the calculation of the Credit Amount, and (ii) amounts held in a Short-Term Position sleeve of a Tax-Sensitive Program Account qualify for the breakpoints described below, but are not assessed an annual Gross Advisory Fee, and are not subject to the Credit Amount calculation. It is important to understand that FPWA’s affiliates receive compensation for providing a variety of services to mutual funds and ETPs, as described below in “Client Referrals and Other Compensation.” Such compensation is included in the Credit Amount only to the extent that it is retained as a direct result of investment by Program Accounts. Compensation that is not directly derived from Program Account assets is not included in the Credit Amount. In addition, certain de minimis revenue received by FPWA’s affiliates may be donated to charity rather than included in the Credit Amount.

It is currently anticipated that FPWA will modify how it operationally allocates Credit Amounts to individual Program Accounts during the second half of 2019. Credit Amounts for non-Fidelity funds and ETPs will be calculated one month in arrears, and as a result, there are limited circumstances under which a Credit Amount for non-Fidelity funds and ETPs will not be applied against your Gross Advisory Fee. Specifically, you will not receive the benefit of the Credit Amount for (i) any partial period during the month in which your Program Account is closed; or (ii) the month for which the Gross Advisory Fee is calculated if the non-Fidelity mutual fund or ETP is not held for at least one day during that month. Credit Amounts not applied to a specific Program Account will be allocated, pro rata, among the Program Accounts that hold the non-Fidelity Fund or ETP during the month for which the Gross Advisory Fee is calculated. This operational change will result in credits that would otherwise be attributable to one Program Account being received by another Program Account.

†The Gross Advisory Fee is reduced by a Credit Amount (as defined above).

Cash balances in a Program Account will be invested in the core Fidelity money market fund, the cash sweep vehicle for a Program Account. This Fidelity money market fund may return more or less than other comparable money market funds. Any such cash or cash investments in a Program Account will result in a negative yield to the extent the quarterly advisory fee exceeds the rates of return for the core Fidelity money market fund. Please ask a Fidelity representative about current performance of the core Fidelity money market fund.

Fees for SMAs

Where an affiliate of FPWA provides an investment model for an SMA or manages an SMA directly, no additional SMA Fee is charged, and a client will be charged only the Net Advisory Fee. Where an Unaffiliated Model Provider has provided an investment model, an additional fee is charged to cover the costs associated with obtaining and implementing the model (“SMA Fee”). The Credit Amount identified above is applicable to the SMA Fee only to the extent that the SMA holds mutual funds or ETPs for which FPWA or an affiliate retains compensation. Please see the chart below for the SMA fees.

The fees shown for the Strategic Advisers Equity Growth SMA and the Strategic Advisers Equity Value SMA are an approximation of the blended rate of the fees charged by the Unaffiliated Model Providers who provide investment recommendations for those SMAs. The applicable blended rate may change on a quarterly basis as a result of (1) changes in the number of Unaffiliated Model Providers used for these SMAs, or (2) changes in the asset levels assigned to a Model Provider to a given SMA. The SMA Fee for each of these SMAs will be equal to the blended rate for the relevant calendar quarter. While the fee level may vary among Model Providers, the total fee for such SMAs will not exceed 0.35%. Please note that Strategic Advisers uses its discretion with respect to the amount of your assets that may be invested in SMAs.

Additional Fee for Complex Financial Planning

Where a client has a highly complex financial situation, in addition to the Net Advisory Fee and any applicable SMA Fee (in the aggregate, the “Program Fee”), a fee may be assessed for financial planning services. This fee will be negotiated with the client.

Billing

The Net Advisory Fee and, if applicable, any trust administration or SMA Fees, will be deducted, pro rata, from a client’s Program Account(s) or another Fidelity account identified by a client for this purpose, in arrears on a quarterly basis. Certain assets in a Program Account may be liquidated to pay the fees; this liquidation may generate a taxable gain or loss.

Other Services

Clients will be provided with information about the performance of their Program Accounts on a pre-tax basis and, for Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts, an after-tax basis. In addition, clients will typically receive performance information comparing their Program Accounts with the performance of relevant industry standard indexes. Pre-tax Program Account performance is calculated based on industry standards. After-tax Program Account performance is based on the pre-tax performance of the Program Account and other tax-related factors. Detailed information about the calculations and assumptions used in calculating after-tax performance of a Program Account is provided in each client’s periodic performance summary, and can also be obtained by contacting a Fidelity representative. While performance information is reviewed by FPWA and Strategic Advisers, performance information is not reviewed or approved by a third party. Fidelity offers a variety of brokerage and investment advisory services and clients should understand the range of offerings to determine which services are appropriate for them. Please see the “Guide to Brokerage and Investment Advisory Services at Fidelity Investments” document included with your enrollment materials for more information about Fidelity's brokerage and advisory services. FPWA also offers the Fidelity® Personalized Planning & Advice (“FPPA”) program, which is currently available only to certain of our employees and, at our discretion, to a limited number of our existing clients. FPPA provides digital investment management with digital and telephonic financial planning, for a fee that is less than the Program’s fee. However, FPPA portfolios do not offer tax-sensitive investment management strategies, the investment universe is limited to Fidelity funds, and basic financial planning is provided. Please see the FPPA Program Fundamentals for further information about that program. In addition, a client may be able to invest directly in certain of the securities available through the Program through a Fidelity brokerage account or a brokerage account at another firm, without incurring the advisory fee charged by the Program. The investment strategies available through the Program's SMAs, while designed by Fidelity for the Program, may be similar to a mutual fund or other products offered and/or managed by Fidelity or unaffiliated entities, and the operating expenses of such a mutual fund or product may be lower or higher than the Program’s fees. Also, some of the tools and analytics used to support the financial planning services provided through the Program are also available without a fee through Fidelity’s brokerage services. While clients may be able to obtain similar discretionary investment management and/or financial planning services from Fidelity or other firms, clients may not receive the same combination of Program Services; purchasing the services separately may cost more or less than the Program Fee; certain investment products used by the Program may not be available for purchase outside of the Program; and investments may be subject to sales loads or transaction and redemption charges that are generally waived as part of the Program.

Factors that bear upon the cost of the Program in relation to the cost of the same or similar services purchased separately include, among other things, the amount of brokerage trades effected through Fidelity-affiliated broker-dealers (the charges for which are included in the Gross Advisory Fee) as compared with the brokerage trades effected through other broker-dealers (the charges for which are not included in the annual advisory fee), and the number and range of supplementary advisory and other services provided to the Program Account. Clients should consider the value of these advisory services when making such comparisons.

Also, during the time you are enrolled in the Program, you may be eligible to receive certain services offered by FPWA’s affiliates based, in whole or in part, on the amount you invest in your Program Account(s). It is important for you to understand that such services are offered outside of the Program and do not constitute Program Services for which the Program Advisory Fee is paid. In addition, during the time you are enrolled in the Program you may receive information about accessing resources and services to help you improve your financial wellness that are offered by entities unaffiliated with Fidelity who may pay a referral fee to Fidelity. Such resources and services are not included as part of Program Services and any applicable costs associated with enrolling in or subscribing to any such resources or services would be in addition to the Program Advisory Fee (see “Advisory Fees” above).

Additional Fee Information

All fees are subject to change. In rare circumstances, FPWA may agree to negotiate the advisory fee for certain accounts. FPWA may also agree to waive fees, in whole or in part, in its sole discretion, including, but not limited to, in connection with promotional efforts and other programs (including situations designed to facilitate transitions between advisory programs), or for certain current and former employees of Fidelity. This will result in certain clients paying less than the standard fee.

Except as described above, generally, clients will not pay any commissions, transaction fees or sales loads on the securities purchased in a Program Account. Clients are responsible for any fees incurred in connection with wash-sales that can occur in a non-Program Account, as well as short-term trading fees or other charges that result from the sale of existing investments (if any) to fund a client’s initial investment in a Program Account (whether such sale is inside or outside a Program Account) and any subsequent withdrawals that the client initiates. If a fund purchased for a client account incurs a redemption or other administrative fee as a result of not being held for a minimum time period, Fidelity may, in its sole discretion, choose to pay any such redemption fees on behalf of Program clients, but is under no obligation to do so.

The Program Fee is inclusive of fees paid to Strategic Advisers for the discretionary portfolio management services provided to Program Accounts. The Program Fee does not cover costs associated with implementing any suggestions provided as part of our financial planning services, other than the discretionary services provided through the Program. The advisory fee also does not cover a charge that applies to sales of securities made for Program Accounts—an industry-wide assessment mandated by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) totaling a few cents per $1,000 of securities sold. Please note that the amount of this regulatory fee may vary over time, and because variations may not be immediately known to Fidelity, the amount attributable to each Program Account may be estimated and assessed in advance. To the extent that such estimated amount differs from the actual amount of the regulatory fee, Fidelity will retain the excess. These charges will be reflected on your monthly statements and/or trade confirmations.

Information about Representative Compensation

Fidelity representatives who support the Program are associated with FPWA and Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC (“FBS”). Separate and apart from the Program, these Fidelity representatives, or other Fidelity representatives, may provide you with investment education, financial analysis, research, and guidance offered by FBS. When providing services for FBS, these Fidelity representatives are acting solely as representatives of FBS, and Program fees are not related to those additional services provided through FBS.

Fidelity representatives receive a percentage of their total annual compensation as base pay—a predetermined and fixed annual salary. Base pay varies between Fidelity representatives based on experience and position. In addition to base pay, Fidelity representatives are also eligible to receive variable compensation or an annual bonus. Whether and how much each Fidelity representative receives in each component is generally determined by the representative’s role, responsibilities and performance measures. In addition, some Fidelity representatives participate in a rewards program that provides non-cash incentives based on net flows of assets, customer investments in products and services equally weighted across products, and measures of customer service and satisfaction including contacts, appropriate referrals, and customer evaluation scores.

Depending on the specific situation, the compensation received by Fidelity representatives in connection with the Program could be greater than the compensation received by Fidelity representatives if a client participated in another Fidelity advisory program or maintained a brokerage account. In such cases, Fidelity representatives would have a financial incentive to recommend the Program over other programs or services. Fidelity addresses these conflicts of interest by disclosing them to you and by supervising our representatives. It is important to note that in determining a Fidelity representative’s compensation, Fidelity considers whether the Fidelity representative provides guidance about appropriate products and services based on customer needs. Fidelity takes this approach to client relationships very seriously, and reviews representative interactions in order to help ensure that this standard is met.

For information about how Fidelity compensates its representatives in connection with the sale of the Program and other products, please see the “Important Information Regarding Representatives’ Compensation” document (available at Fidelity.com and included with your Program enrollment materials), or contact a Fidelity representative.

ACCOUNT REQUIREMENTS AND TYPES OF CLIENTS

The Program is generally available to individuals, trusts, and certain corporate entities. In order to participate in the Program, a client must be a U.S. person (including a U.S. resident alien), reside in the U.S., have a valid U.S. permanent mailing address, and have a valid U.S. taxpayer identification number. The Program is not available to non-U.S. trusts, foreign investors, and persons who are not U.S. residents.
FPWA may, in its sole discretion, decline to permit participation in the Program for any reason. Please contact a Fidelity representative for additional information about the limitations of the Program.

Clients must maintain a minimum of $50,000 invested in at least one Program Account to be eligible for the Program ("Program Minimum"). In addition, clients must generally maintain at least $50,000 per Program Account, except that Program Accounts for business entities and all BDIP Program Accounts are subject to a $200,000 per account minimum. Access to SMAs is only available for Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts and is limited based on investment balance and Account Asset Allocation. In addition, as discussed above, there are minimums to qualify for the PWM Program Services. FPWA may, in its sole discretion, elect to change or waive the Program Minimum or other identified Program Account minimums at any time, and it is anticipated that the minimum investment amount required for BDIP Program Accounts may be lowered in the future. Program Accounts that fall below required minimums can be removed from the Program.

With respect to Retirement Program Accounts, Program fees are solely attributable to Program Services associated with such Program Accounts. In addition, certain limitations apply to the management of a Retirement Program Account holding defined benefit plan assets. Generally, only single participant defined benefit plan assets will be managed (except in the case of a Retirement Program Account holding defined benefit plan assets where the plan benefits only the owner of the business sponsoring the plan and his or her spouse), and it will be treated as if it were a defined contribution plan. Plan-specific provisions and any plan-related documents will not be considered in the discretionary management of these assets.

To enroll in the Program, a client must agree to the Program Client Agreement, which details the terms and conditions under which the client appoints FPWA to provide the Program Services. Our advisory relationship with you begins when we accept your Program Client Agreement with us. Preliminary discussions or recommendations made before we enter into the Program Client Agreement with you are not intended as investment advice provided by FPWA. As part of the Program Client Agreement, clients will delegate discretionary authority to FPWA, and acknowledge that FPWA has retained its affiliate, Strategic Advisers, to provide discretionary portfolio management for the clients’ Program Account(s), which includes the authority to determine which securities to purchase or sell, the total amount of such purchases and sales, and the brokers or dealers through which transactions are effected in Program Accounts, subject to certain Program and regulatory limitations and Strategic Advisers’ internal policies and procedures. The Program Client Agreement also directs that the client establish a brokerage account with FBS, a registered broker-dealer, affiliate of FPWA, and member of NYSE and SIPC. During a client’s participation in the Program, the client’s Program Account(s) will not be available for brokerage activities outside of the activities directed by Strategic Advisers, including, but not limited to, margin trading or trading of securities. Another affiliate of FPWA, National Financial Services LLC ("NFS"), a registered broker-dealer and a member of NYSE and SIPC, has custody of client assets and will perform certain account services, including the implementation of discretionary management instructions, as well as custodial and related services. Certain personnel of FPWA, FBS, NFS, and Strategic Advisers share premises and have common supervision.

Once the client has agreed to the terms of the Program Client Agreement, the client will have 90 days to reach the Program Minimum in order to receive Program Services. If the client has not reached the Program Minimum within 90 days, Fidelity may elect, in its sole discretion, to terminate the client’s participation in the Program. In general, Program fees will begin to accrue once a Program Account is fully funded and has been deemed in good order for management purposes.

Opening and Funding a Program Account

Clients may fund Program Accounts with cash and/or securities acceptable to us. Fidelity will determine, in its sole discretion, which securities will be eligible to fund a Program Account. A Fidelity representative can provide information as to whether a specific mutual fund, ETP or other security is available to fund a Program Account. These securities must be held free and clear of any liens, pledges, or other legal or contractual restrictions. At times, Fidelity may not accept individual securities that may generally be used to fund a Program Account due to internal guidelines or regulations (state or federal). If a client elects to transfer non-eligible securities into a Program Account, Fidelity will liquidate those securities as soon as reasonably practicable, and the transfer of such securities into a Program Account is deemed a directive by the client to Fidelity to sell any such securities upon transfer. Fidelity does not consider the potential tax consequences of these sales when following a client’s deemed direction to sell such securities. Fidelity does not assess whether there are more advantageous share classes of a mutual fund a client uses to fund a Program Account. Fidelity also reserves the right to transfer a non-eligible security back to the client’s source account based on certain circumstances.

Sales of eligible and non-eligible transferred securities will be subject to redemption and other applicable fees, including commissions on sales of securities; however, under certain circumstances, the Program may voluntarily assume the costs of certain commissions. A client may realize a taxable gain or loss when these shares are sold. In addition, when securities are purchased in Program Accounts, the client may receive taxable distributions out of the earnings that have accrued prior to such purchases (a situation referred to as buying a dividend).

Once the account funding process is complete, discretionary portfolio management will begin. Investment typically occurs within 10 business days of full funding. For initial funding or subsequent deposits to a Tax-Sensitive Program Account, Fidelity must be provided with tax basis information for all securities that will be managed. Discretionary portfolio management will not occur for a Tax-Sensitive Program Account until the completed tax basis information has been received. Although Fidelity is required to report certain tax basis information to the Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”), Fidelity will not otherwise verify (and is not otherwise responsible for) the accuracy of the tax basis information provided. Depending on the amount to be invested, clients may be able to elect to have their Tax-Sensitive Program Account invested over time, as long as 100% of the assets intended for account funding are deposited into the Tax-Sensitive Program Account. In addition, clients may elect to have concentrated positions in a Tax-Sensitive Program Account sold off over time (maximum of three successive tax years), to help defer the realization of associated taxable gains.

If a client transfers assets from another Fidelity investment advisory program account into a Program Account, a “do-not-trade” restriction will be placed on the account from which the client is transferring assets (“source account”) during the processing of the asset transfer. For the period when a do-not-trade restriction is in effect, discretionary management of the source account will be suspended, and the investment manager for such other investment advisory program will not monitor the source account for potential buys and sells of securities, and any deposits during the do-not-trade period will not be invested.

Additional deposits of cash or securities can be made at any time. Discretionary management of additional deposits will occur as soon as reasonably practicable but may be delayed for various reasons, including time needed to liquidate securities or special handling instructions. In general, we will begin charging advisory fees on additional deposits once assets have been received into the Program Accounts and have been deemed in good order for management purposes.

Please see Strategic Advisers’ Program Fundamentals for additional information regarding its discretionary portfolio investment process, or contact a Fidelity representative for details.

Withdrawals and Program Termination/Account Closure

At any time, a client can request a withdrawal from a Program Account, elect to close one or more Program Accounts, or elect to close all Program Accounts and terminate enrollment in the Program, including with respect to the receipt of financial planning services. All closure and termination instructions must be processed through a Fidelity representative. FPWA reserves the right to terminate a client’s Program Services (or limit the client’s rights to access any or all account features, products, or services) for any reason, including (i) if any authorized person on a Program Account resides outside the U.S.; (ii) if the balance of a client’s Program Account(s) falls below the minimum investment level; or (iii) if the Program is deemed no longer appropriate for a client.
Should either party terminate the investment advisory relationship, the Program Fee will be prorated from the beginning of the last quarter to the termination date, which is defined as the date when the Program Account is no longer managed by Fidelity on a discretionary basis.

Clients will be required to provide instructions regarding which of the following methods should be used in the event of withdrawals or Program Account closing:

- Assets liquidated and a check sent with the proceeds;
- Assets transferred in kind into another account; or
- Assets liquidated and proceeds wired or transferred via electronic funds transfer to a bank account or other account.

Generally, partial and full withdrawals may take up to 10 business days to process. For partial withdrawal requests, Fidelity will generally reinvest the cash or securities into the client’s discretionarily managed Program Account after 30 days if instructions are not provided. Note that liquidation of assets in taxable accounts may have adverse tax consequences. Program Account(s) may hold certain mutual funds that clients would not be able to purchase directly or that may only be held as part of an advisory program. In general, if an investor ceases to be a client of the Program, shares of such funds will be redeemed and the client may incur a gain or loss as a result, subject to the terms and conditions specified in that fund’s prospectus.

With respect to nonretirement Program Accounts, a client may elect to have all dividends, interest, and capital gains on eligible holdings set aside for automatic distribution by completing and submitting an Earnings Automatic Withdrawal Plan form. Please note that upon providing these instructions to Fidelity, the amounts awaiting distribution will not be subject to Fidelity’s discretionary authority. For Program Trust Accounts, liquidation processes and time periods may vary from those identified above.

PORTFOLIO MANAGER SELECTION AND EVALUATION

FPWA has retained the services of its affiliate, Strategic Advisers, to provide the discretionary portfolio management services described in this document based on Strategic Advisers’ qualifications in managing assets. Accordingly, FPWA will not provide portfolio construction, investment selection and portfolio management (including execution of transactions for Program Accounts); rather, these services will be provided by Strategic Advisers. In selecting Strategic Advisers, FPWA reviewed a variety of factors, including, but not limited to, Strategic Advisers’ investment approach, total assets under management, experience, and trading and operational capabilities. FPWA has implemented oversight processes to review Strategic Advisers’ performance of portfolio management services for Program Accounts.

Neither FPWA nor Strategic Advisers acquires authority for, or exercises proxy voting on a client’s behalf in connection with offering Program Accounts. However, clients may direct Strategic Advisers to act as agent to vote proxies with respect to the investments held in a Program Account. Please see Strategic Advisers’ Program Fundamentals for information regarding the voting of client securities.

CLIENT INFORMATION PROVIDED TO PORTFOLIO MANAGERS

Through FPWA, Strategic Advisers has access to the relevant Program Account information, including Profile Information and, for Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts, information on record with FPWA regarding the client’s tax situation and tax characteristics of the securities in a client’s Tax-Sensitive Account. The discretionary portfolio management services will be impacted by incomplete or inaccurate information. If changes to a client’s personal, financial, or tax situation occur, the client should promptly contact a Fidelity representative. FPWA does not provide client information to any of the Model Providers.
CLIENT CONTACT WITH PORTFOLIO MANAGERS

Clients should contact a Fidelity representative regarding questions about their Program Accounts, to update their Profile Information, or to provide an update about their personal situations or any other information that may affect how clients’ Program Accounts are managed. A Fidelity representative will act as a liaison between a client and Strategic Advisers (the discretionary portfolio manager), and will help ensure appropriate management of the client’s Program Account(s). While Strategic Advisers may provide clients with information about the management of Program Accounts from time to time, typically Strategic Advisers does not meet or communicate directly with Program clients. The Model Providers do not meet with clients.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

MATERIAL RISKS

Risks Associated with Financial Planning. The financial planning analyses provided through the Program are based on the information provided by clients and, in certain cases, on static assumptions—e.g., fixed return rates, fixed life expectancies, fixed rates of income or cash flow, etc. In reality, these variables will not be static—market fluctuation will affect overall asset performance, and uncertain life expectancy may cause clients to outlive their resources or fail to accumulate necessary resources. In addition, financial planning analysis may include probabilistic modeling, whereby the probability of success varies based on differing assumptions and on changing circumstances and market information. The methodologies and algorithms used in the process may be adjusted from time to time. Results may reflect one point in time only and are only one factor that clients should consider as they determine how to best plan for their future.

The projections and other analyses presented to a client in the course of providing our financial planning services are not guarantees. In particular, projections are hypothetical in nature, are for illustrative purposes only, do not reflect actual investment results, and are not guarantees of future investment outcomes.

Such projections will vary over time and each time a financial planning analysis is updated. In addition, the financial planning analyses do not model the individual return characteristics of every security or investment a client owns, and, as a result, the modeling process is subject to significant variability based on the differences in performance between the securities actually owned by a client and the capital market assumptions used in the modeling process. To the extent that the characteristics of a client’s assets vary significantly from those of the broadly diversified asset class assumptions used, actual performance may deviate significantly from the projections provided as a component of our financial planning services.

The Goal Asset Allocation may differ from the Account Asset Allocation identified for discretionary management services provided to a Program Account. The financial planning analysis assumes that the asset allocation of all the accounts associated with a goal, when aggregated, will generally reflect the Goal Asset Allocation. Clients remain responsible for the asset allocation of any Other Assets associated with a goal. If the aggregated asset allocation for all of a client’s accounts associated with a goal does not match the Goal Asset Allocation recommended for that goal, the differential may have a significant impact on the outcome of our financial planning analysis.

As part of the financial planning services, we may suggest that a client consider certain account types or account structures that are generally designed to help investors reach their goals, including the use of tax-deferred or tax-free retirement, insurance, and educational savings accounts. There is no guarantee that a client’s use of these account structures will be beneficial in helping the client reach his or her goals.

In addition, the legal and tax treatment of these types of accounts may change in the future, leading to unexpected consequences for any such accounts, and we are under no obligation to update clients about potential changes in the tax law or the tax treatment of any account. Each financial planning analysis provides details that are more specific about the risks and limitations associated with that analysis.
Risks Associated with Investment Strategies. The discretionary investment management strategies implemented for clients in the Program, including conservative investments, involve risk of loss.

Investments in a Program Account are not a deposit of a bank and are not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (“FDIC”) or any other government agency. A client may lose money by investing in mutual funds, ETPs, SMAs, and/or individual securities. A client may lose money by investing in the Program.

Many factors affect each investment’s or Program Account’s performance and potential for loss. Strategies that pursue investments in equities will be subject to stock market volatility, and can decline significantly in response to adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments. Strategies that pursue fixed income investments (such as bond or money market funds) will see values fluctuate in response to changes in interest rates, inflation and prepayment risks, as well as default risks for both issuers and counterparties. These strategies are also affected by impacts to the individual issuers, such as changes in an issuer’s credit quality, or changes in tax, regulatory, market, or economic developments. In addition, investments in certain bond structures may be less liquid than other investments, and therefore may be more difficult to trade effectively. Municipal bond funds carry additional risks, which are discussed below.

Nearly all investments or accounts are subject to volatility in non-U.S. markets, through either direct exposure or indirect effects in U.S. markets from events abroad. Those investments and accounts that are exposed to emerging markets are potentially subject to heightened volatility from greater social, economic, regulatory, and political uncertainties, as the extent of economic development, political stability, market depth, infrastructure, capitalization, and regulatory oversight can be less than in more developed markets.

Nondiversified funds, SMAs, and accounts that invest in a smaller number of individual issuers can be more sensitive to these changes, and funds, SMAs, or accounts that pursue strategies that concentrate in particular industries or are otherwise subject to particular segments of the market (e.g., money market funds’ exposure to the financial services industry, municipal funds’ exposure to the municipal bond market, or international or emerging markets funds’ exposure to a particular country or region) may be significantly impacted by events affecting those industries or markets.

Clients with Defensive Program Accounts should understand that the volatility management strategies used in an effort to manage the account’s overall volatility in response to market volatility may cause them to underperform when markets rise, and there can be no guarantee that these strategies will help mitigate losses when markets fall. For Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts, Fidelity relies on information provided by clients in an effort to provide tax-sensitive investment management and does not offer tax advice. Fidelity cannot guarantee the effectiveness of the tax-sensitive investment management techniques used in managing Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts to reduce or minimize clients’ overall tax liability or the tax results of a given transaction. Fidelity believes appropriate asset allocation is of primary importance, and changes may be made to a Tax-Sensitive Program Account’s asset allocation even if such changes may trigger significant tax consequences.

It is important to understand that a Program Account’s actual asset allocation may deviate from the identified Account Asset Allocation for reasons that include market movement and investment decisions to overweight or underweight certain asset classes to seek to increase potential returns or reduce risks. If a client has selected an Account Asset Allocation that differs from the allocation proposed, the performance of the Program Account may differ from the performance of an account managed according to the Account Asset Allocation originally proposed. In addition, please note that the composition of Program Accounts managed using the same model portfolio may differ for a variety of reasons, including, but not limited to, the timing of client investments and withdrawals, and any client-imposed investment restrictions.

For more details about the risks associated with the particular investment strategies employed by Strategic Advisers as portfolio manager to the Program Accounts, including the risks and limitations with the Program’s tax-sensitive investment management approach, please see Strategic Advisers’ Program Fundamentals included in your Program materials.
In addition to the risks identified above, a summary of additional risks follows:

Investing in Mutual Funds and ETPs. A Program Account bears all the risks of the investment strategies employed by the mutual funds and ETPs held in the Program Account, including the risk that a mutual fund or ETP will not meet its investment objectives. For the specific risks associated with a mutual fund or ETP, please see its prospectus.

Money Market Funds. A client could lose money by investing in a money market fund. Although a money market fund seeks to preserve the value of a client's investment at $1.00 per share, it cannot guarantee it will do so. An investment in a money market fund is not insured or guaranteed by the FDIC or any other government agency. Fidelity, the sponsor of Fidelity's money market funds, has no legal obligation to provide financial support to a Fidelity money market fund, and a client should not expect that Fidelity will provide financial support to a Fidelity money market fund at any time. Fidelity's government and U.S. Treasury money market funds will not impose a fee upon the sale of shares, nor temporarily suspend an investor's ability to sell shares, if a fund's weekly liquid assets fall below 30% of its total assets because of market conditions or other factors.

ETPs. An ETP is a security that trades on an exchange and may seek to track an index, a commodity, or a basket of assets. ETPs can include exchange-traded funds, exchange-traded notes, unit investment trusts, closed-end funds, master limited partnerships, and certain grantor trusts. ETPs can be actively or passively managed. The performance of a passively managed ETP may not correlate to the performance of the asset it seeks to track. ETPs trade on secondary markets or exchanges and are exposed to market volatility and the risks of their underlying securities. ETPs that use derivatives, leverage, or complex investment strategies are subject to additional risks.

Growth Investing. Growth stocks can react differently to issuer, political, market, and economic developments than the market as a whole and other types of stocks. Growth stocks tend to be more expensive relative to their earnings or assets compared with other types of stocks. As a result, growth stocks tend to be sensitive to changes in their earnings and more volatile than other types of stocks.

Value Investing. Value stocks can react differently to issuer, political, market, and economic developments than the market as a whole and other types of stocks. Value stocks tend to be inexpensive relative to their earnings or assets compared with other types of stocks. However, value stocks can continue to be inexpensive for long periods of time and may not ever realize their full value.

Municipal Bond Funds. The municipal market can be significantly affected by adverse tax, legislative, or political changes, and by the financial condition of the issuers of municipal securities. Municipal bond funds normally seek to earn income and pay dividends that are expected to be exempt from federal income tax. If a fund investor is a resident in the state of issuance of the bonds held by the fund, interest dividends may also be exempt from state and local income taxes. Income exempt from regular federal income tax (including distributions from municipal and money market funds) may be subject to state, local, or federal alternative minimum tax. Tax code changes could impact the municipal bond market. Tax laws are subject to change, and the preferential tax treatment of municipal bond interest income may be removed or phased out for investors at certain income levels.

Legislative and Regulatory Risk. Investments in a Program Account may be adversely affected by new (or revised) laws or regulations. Changes to laws or regulations can impact the securities markets as a whole, specific industries, individual issuers of securities, and the Investment Team's determinations with respect to the expected rate of return, value, or creditworthiness of a particular security. The impact of these changes may not be fully known for some time.

Cybersecurity Risks. With the increased use of technologies such as the Internet to conduct business, FPWA and its affiliates are susceptible to operational, information security, and related risks. Cyber attacks include, but are not limited to, gaining unauthorized access to digital systems (e.g., through “hacking” or malicious software coding) for purposes of misappropriating assets or sensitive information; corrupting data, equipment, or systems; or causing operational disruption. Cyber attacks may also be carried out in a manner that does not require gaining unauthorized access, such as causing denial-of-service attacks on websites (i.e., efforts to make network services unavailable to intended users). Cyber incidents have the ability to cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses, interference with the ability to calculate asset prices, impediments to trading, the inability to transact business, destruction to equipment and systems, violations of applicable privacy and other laws, regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement or other compensation costs, or additional compliance costs.

Operational Risks. Operational risks can include risk of loss arising from failures in internal processes, people, or systems, such as routine processing incidents or major systems failures, or from external events, such as exchange outages. In addition, algorithms are used in providing the Program Services and contribute to operational risks. For example, algorithms are used as part of the process whereby FPWA suggests an appropriate Account Asset Allocation that corresponds to a level of risk consistent with a client's initial or updated Profile Information. In providing financial planning services, algorithms are also used in analyzing the potential for success of a client's financial plan. Strategic Advisers may also utilize algorithms in support of its discretionary portfolio management process. There is a risk that the algorithms and data input into the algorithms could have errors, omissions, imperfections and malfunctions. Any decisions made in reliance upon incorrect data expose Program Accounts to potential risks. Issues in the algorithm are often extremely difficult to detect and may go undetected for long periods of time; some may never be detected. These risks are mitigated by testing and human oversight of the algorithms and their output. We believe that the oversight and testing performed on our algorithms and their output will enable us to identify and address issues that a prudent person managing a similar service would identify and address. However, there is no assurance that the algorithms will always work as intended. In general, we will not assess each Program Account individually, nor will we override the outcome of the algorithm with respect to any particular Program Account.

Incidents arising from operational failures, including those resulting from the mistakes of third parties, may not be compensable by FPWA to you. FPWA maintains policies and procedures that address the identification and correction of errors, consistent with applicable standard of care, to ensure that clients are treated fairly when an error has been detected. The determination of whether an incident constitutes an error is made by FPWA or its affiliates, in their sole discretion. In the event that FPWA or its affiliates make an error that has a financial impact on a Program Account, FPWA or its affiliates will generally return the Program Account to the position it would have held had no error occurred. FPWA will evaluate each situation independently. This corrective action may result in financial or other restitution to the Program Account, or inadvertent gains being reversed out of the Program Account. Under certain circumstances, clients will not be reimbursed for errors where the loss is less than $10 per Program Account; in such cases, we have instituted procedures designed to prevent Fidelity from receiving economic benefits from limiting the correction of such errors.

DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION
There are no legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of FPWA's advisory business or the integrity of its management personnel.

OTHER FINANCIAL INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS
FPWA is a wholly owned subsidiary of Fidelity Advisory Holdings LLC, which in turn is wholly owned by FMR LLC. FMR LLC is a Delaware limited liability company that, together with its affiliates and subsidiaries, is generally known to the public as Fidelity Investments or Fidelity. Various direct or indirect subsidiaries of FMR LLC are engaged in investment advisory, brokerage, banking, or insurance businesses. From time to time, FPWA and its customers may have material business relationships with any of the subsidiaries and affiliates of FMR LLC. In addition, the principal officers of FPWA serve as officers and/or employees of affiliated companies that are engaged in various aspects of the financial services industry.

FPWA is not registered as a broker-dealer, futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, or commodity trading advisor, nor does it have an application pending to register as such. Certain management persons of FPWA are registered representatives and management persons of FBS, an FPWA affiliate and a registered broker-dealer. In addition, FPWA has entered into an intercompany agreement with FBS, pursuant to which FBS provides to FPWA various operational, promotional, administrative, analytical and technical services, and the personnel necessary for the performance of such services.

FPWA has, and its clients may have, a material relationship with the following affiliated companies:

Investment Companies and Investment Advisers

CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS, AND PERSONAL TRADING
FPWA has adopted a Code of Ethics for Personal Trading (the “Code of Ethics”). The Code of Ethics applies to all officers, directors, employees, and other supervised persons of FPWA, and requires that they place the interests of FPWA’s clients above their own. The Code of Ethics establishes securities transaction requirements for all covered employees and their covered persons, including their spouses. More specifically, the Code of Ethics contains provisions requiring:

(i) Standards of general business conduct reflecting the investment advisers’ fiduciary obligations
(ii) Compliance with applicable federal securities laws
(iii) Employees and their covered persons to move their covered accounts to FBS unless an exception has been granted
(iv) Reporting and review of personal securities transactions and holdings for persons with access to certain nonpublic information
(v) Prohibition of purchasing of securities in initial public offerings unless an exception has been approved
(vi) Reporting of Code of Ethics violations
(vii) Distribution of the Code of Ethics to all supervised persons, documented through acknowledgments of receipt

Core features of the Code of Ethics generally apply to all Fidelity employees. The Code of Ethics also imposes additional restrictions and reporting obligations on certain advisory personnel, research analysts, and portfolio managers, including (i) preclearing of transactions in covered securities; (ii) prohibiting investments in limited offerings without prior approval; (iii) reporting of transactions in covered securities on a quarterly basis; (iv) reporting of accounts and holdings of covered securities on an annual basis; and (v) disgorgement of profits from short-term transactions unless an exception has been approved. Violation of the Code of Ethics requirements may also result in the imposition of remedial action. The Code of Ethics will generally be supplemented by other relevant Fidelity policies, including the Policy on Inside Information, Rules for Broker-Dealer Employees, and other written policies and procedures adopted by Fidelity and FPWA. A copy of the Code of Ethics will be provided upon request.

FPWA's related persons may buy or sell for themselves securities that they also recommend to clients. The potential conflicts of interest involved in such activities are contemplated in the Code of Ethics and other relevant Fidelity policies. In particular, the Code of Ethics and other Fidelity policies are designed to ensure that Fidelity personnel never place their personal interests ahead of Fidelity's clients in an attempt to benefit themselves or another party. The Code of Ethics and other Fidelity policies impose sanctions if these requirements are violated.

From time to time, in connection with our business, supervised persons may obtain material nonpublic information that is usually not available to other investors or the general public. In compliance with applicable laws, FPWA has adopted a comprehensive set of policies and procedures that prohibit the use of material nonpublic information by investment professionals or any other employees, and that limit the transactions that FPWA can implement for Program Accounts.

In addition, Fidelity has implemented a policy on Business Entertainment and Workplace Gifts intended to set standards for business entertainment and gifts, to help employees make sound decisions with respect to these activities, and to ensure that the interests of FPWA's clients come first. Similarly, to ensure compliance with applicable “pay to play” laws, Fidelity has adopted a Political Contributions and Activities policy that requires all employees to preclear any political contributions and activities.

REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

We will contact Program clients at least annually to evaluate whether there have been any changes to their personal financial situation that may affect the client's Profile Information or the Program Services. If we fail to hear from a client during this process, we will update each such client's age, goal horizon, and all other date-relative elements of the client's Profile Information. We may also consider updated account balances of the client's Program Accounts and other Fidelity accounts, as well as updated balances of certain outside accounts a client may have provided, but will otherwise assume that the client's Profile Information has not changed. In some cases, the changes to the date-relative elements of a client's Profile Information and/or account balances may cause us to update a client's Goal or Account Asset Allocation. In these instances, we will notify the client of the resulting change to their Goal or Account Asset Allocation.

Strategic Advisers will use the updated asset allocation information in connection with the discretionary portfolio management services it provides, which can result in material changes to a client's Program Account. A client's continued acceptance of Program services subsequent to notification of a change to a Goal or Account Asset Allocation will be deemed as consent to any modification in the discretionary investment management services provided. At our discretion, updates to a client's Profile Information may also be used to provide additional financial planning analyses.

Clients will receive prompt confirmations from NFS for any transactions in their Program Accounts; however, with respect to automatic investments, automatic withdrawals, dividend reinvestments, and transactions that involve the core Fidelity money market fund, a client's account statement serves in lieu of a confirmation. In addition, clients receive monthly statements from NFS that detail all holdings and transaction information, including trades, additions, withdrawals, shifts in investment allocations, advisory fees, and estimated gain/loss and tax basis information. Monthly statements and confirmations are also available online at Fidelity.com and by enrolling in the electronic delivery program. Clients will not pay a different fee based on their decision to receive electronic monthly statements or trade confirmations. You should carefully review all statements and other communications received from FBS and NFS.
As discussed in “Other Services” above, clients will also have periodic reports available to them that detail the performance of a client’s Program Account(s) and summarize the market activity during the quarter. Industry standards are applied when calculating performance information. FPWA also makes available account performance information on a password-protected website.

CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

Affiliates of FPWA are compensated for providing services, including for investment management, distribution, transfer agency, servicing, and custodial services, to certain Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs and other investments in which Program Accounts are invested. These affiliates include Strategic Advisers, FMRCo and their affiliates as the investment adviser for the Fidelity funds; FDC as the underwriter of the Fidelity funds; and Fidelity Investments Institutional Operations Company, Inc. (“FIIOC”), as transfer agent for the Fidelity funds, servicing agent for non-Fidelity funds, and recordkeeper of certain workplace savings plans. FPWA affiliates also receive compensation and other benefits in connection with portfolio transactions effected on behalf of the Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs and other investments. FMRCo and its affiliates also obtain brokerage or research services, consistent with Section 28(e) of the Exchange Act, from broker-dealers in connection with the execution of the Fidelity funds’ portfolio security transactions.

FBS and NFS receive compensation for executing portfolio transactions and providing, among other things, clearance, settlement, custodial and other services to Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs and other investments, and NFS is anticipated to provide securities lending agent services to certain Fidelity funds beginning in the second quarter of 2019 for which it will receive compensation. FBS, NFS and FIIOC also offer Fidelity’s mutual fund supermarket, the Fidelity FundsNetwork®, and provide shareholder and other services to participating mutual funds for which FBS, NFS and FIIOC receive compensation, including with respect to those mutual funds in which Program Accounts are invested.

The compensation described above that is retained by FPWA’s affiliates as a result of investments by the Program Accounts in Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds and ETPs will be included in the Credit Amount (as described in “Fees and Compensation”), which reduces the gross advisory fee. However, to the extent that FPWA’s affiliates, including FBS, NFS or FIIOC, retain compensation that is neither a direct result of, nor directly derived from, investments by the Program Accounts, such compensation is not included in the Credit Amount, does not reduce the gross advisory fee and will be retained by such affiliates. Receipt of compensation in addition to the gross advisory fee creates a financial incentive for FPWA and its affiliates to select investments that will increase such compensation. FPWA seeks to address this financial conflict of interest through the application of the Credit Amount that will reduce the gross advisory fee, as applicable, and through personnel compensation arrangements (including those of Strategic Advisers’ investment professionals and the Fidelity representatives) that are not differentiated based on the investments or share classes selected for Program Accounts. FPWA and its affiliates have also implemented controls reasonably designed to prevent the receipt of compensation from affecting the nature of the advice provided to Program Accounts.

See “Fees and Compensation” for additional information.

Client referrals are provided by affiliated entities, including FBS, or other affiliates, pursuant to referral agreements where applicable. As noted above in “Information about Representative Compensation,” some Fidelity representatives receive economic incentives in addition to their normal compensation for distributing and supporting Program Accounts. Additionally, FPWA may refer clients to other independent investment advisors in connection with a referral program in which such independent investment advisors participate for a fee payable to FPWA.

COMPLETION OF CHANGES TO YOUR ADVISORY PROGRAM

Effective as of July 16, 2018 and in connection with the transition to Fidelity® Wealth Services, Strategic Advisers assigned all existing client agreements for several advisory programs to its affiliate, FPWA, who succeeded Strategic Advisers as sponsor to the Program. Strategic Advisers provides sub-advisory services to Program Accounts.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR TAXABLE PROGRAM ACCOUNTS

It is anticipated that FPWA will transition Taxable Program Accounts that are not currently managed with tax-sensitive investment management strategies, other than BlackRock® Diversified Income Portfolio accounts and Blended or Fidelity Focused accounts owned by certain business entities, into Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts beginning in 2019. Clients who own such accounts will be contacted by FPWA as part of the transition to confirm certain Profile Information that will be used to provide tax-sensitive investment management strategies. As we begin to apply such strategies to accounts that have not previously received them, clients should be aware that this conversion is likely to result in securities transactions that may have tax consequences. Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals or contact a Fidelity representative for more information.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT THE STRATEGIC ADVISERS TAX-MANAGED U.S. LARGE CAP SMA

Effective as of July 1, 2019, the Strategic Advisers Tax-Managed U.S. Large Cap SMA will change its reference index from the S&P 500® Index to the Fidelity U.S. Large Cap IndexSM. Please see “About the SMAs for Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts” for more information about this change.

Strategic Advisers LLC ("Strategic Advisers") is a registered investment adviser and an indirect, wholly owned subsidiary of FMR LLC (collectively with Strategic Advisers and its affiliates, “Fidelity Investments,” “Fidelity,” “us” or “we”). Strategic Advisers was formed in 1977 and serves as sub-advisor to its affiliate, Fidelity Personal and Workplace Advisors LLC (“FPWA”), in connection with various investment advisory programs offered by FPWA, including Fidelity® Wealth Services (the “Program”). As such, Strategic Advisers will make the day-to-day trading decisions with respect to all Program accounts and will receive a portion of the fees clients pay to FPWA in connection with the Program. Important information regarding FPWA and the Program can be found in FPWA’s Fidelity Wealth Services Program Fundamentals ("FPWA Program Fundamentals").

Strategic Advisers provides a variety of investment management services including discretionary portfolio management services to retail and institutional clients and non-discretionary advisory services, including developing and maintaining asset allocation and portfolio modeling methodologies for use by its affiliates. This brochure provides information about Strategic Advisers’ role only with respect to the Program. For additional services that Strategic Advisers provides, please see Strategic Advisers’ relevant Form ADV Part 2A brochures.

As described in the FPWA Program Fundamentals, the Program includes discretionary investment management, access to assistance from one or more Fidelity representatives, and access to financial planning. Strategic Advisers provides day-to-day discretionary portfolio management of one or more Portfolio Advisory Services accounts (each a “Program Account”). Program Accounts can include tax-advantaged accounts (“Retirement Program Accounts”), taxable accounts (“Taxable Program Accounts”), which may be managed with tax-sensitive investment management strategies ("Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts"), and BlackRock® Diversified Income Portfolio (“BDIP”) Program Accounts. Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts may be invested in individual securities through separately managed account ("SMA") sleeves discussed below, and are managed using a tax-sensitive investment strategy that seeks enhanced after-tax returns. A client has the ability to impose reasonable restrictions on the management of a Program Account. Any proposed restriction is subject to our review and approval. Such a restriction may include prohibitions with respect to the purchase of a particular fund, individual security or sub-asset class (e.g., emerging markets funds). If a restriction is accepted, assets will be invested in a manner that is appropriate given the restriction. Program Accounts with imposed management restrictions will experience performance different from Program Accounts without restrictions, possibly producing lower overall results. Program Account restrictions should be requested through a Fidelity representative.

As of December 31, 2018, Strategic Advisers’ total assets under management were $328,273,842,605 on a discretionary basis, and $15,847,193,268 on a non-discretionary basis.

FEES AND COMPENSATION

Clients of the Program do not pay Strategic Advisers for the services it provides under the Program. Instead, as compensation for its discretionary portfolio management services provided to Program Accounts, Strategic Advisers receives a portion of the advisory fee paid to FPWA by Program clients. Strategic Advisers and its affiliates may receive compensation with respect to the mutual funds and exchange-traded products (“ETPs”) that may be held in a client’s Program Account. However, a crediting program reduces the advisory fees paid to FPWA by the amount of compensation, if any, Strategic Advisers and its affiliates retain with respect to these mutual funds and ETPs that is derived as a direct result of investments by Program Accounts. Compensation that is not directly derived from Program Account assets is not included in the credit amount. Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals for information about Program fees and the application of the crediting program.
Strategic Advisers does not currently charge performance-based management fees for any of its advisory services and, therefore, does not engage in side-by-side management.

Types of Clients

Strategic Advisers provides discretionary portfolio management services for clients’ Program Accounts. Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals for information about the types of clients eligible for the Program.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

This section contains information about how Strategic Advisers provides discretionary portfolio management services to Program Accounts.

FPWA will propose for each Program Account an appropriate long-term asset allocation (an “Account Asset Allocation”) that corresponds to a level of risk consistent with a client’s financial situation, investment goals and objectives, risk tolerance, planned investment time horizon, and other information the client provides (the “Profile Information”). Each Account Asset Allocation is designed to correspond to a level of risk ranging from conservative (lower risk/lower return potential) to aggressive (higher risk/higher return potential). If a client has selected an Account Asset Allocation that differs from the allocation proposed by FPWA, the performance of the Program Account may differ from the performance of an account managed according to the Account Asset Allocation originally proposed, and such clients understand and acknowledge directing Strategic Advisers to manage the Program Account according to such Account Asset Allocation. Subject to the imposition of reasonable restrictions, Strategic Advisers will apply its proprietary methodology to manage a client’s Program Account to align with the identified Account Asset Allocation. It is important to understand that a Program Account’s actual asset allocation may deviate from the identified Account Asset Allocation for reasons that include market movement and investment decisions to overweight or underweight certain asset classes to seek to increase potential returns or reduce risks.

Please note that not all Taxable Program Accounts are managed with tax-sensitive investment management strategies, including BDIP Program Accounts and those previously invested through Fidelity Portfolio Advisory Service® and transitioned into this Program. These accounts will generally not be managed using the same tax-sensitive investment management strategies used to manage the Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts as described herein, will not have access to the SMAs, will not have the option of electing the Increased International Option, and will not be able to allocate amounts to a Short-Term Position sleeve. Clients may elect to convert their Taxable Program Accounts (other than BDIP Program Accounts and Blended or Fidelity Focused accounts owned by certain business entities) into Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts. It is anticipated that FPWA will transition all Taxable Program Accounts (other than BDIP Program Accounts and Blended or Fidelity Focused accounts owned by certain business entities) over time beginning in 2019 into Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts, and clients who own such accounts will be contacted by FPWA as part of the transition to confirm certain Profile Information that will be used to provide tax-sensitive investment management strategies. As we begin to apply such strategies to accounts that have not previously received them, clients should be aware that this conversion is likely to result in securities transactions that may have tax consequences. Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals or contact a Fidelity representative for more information.

Program Accounts will be managed either (i) using individualized, federal tax-sensitive investment management that seeks to enhance after-tax returns, in the case of Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts, or
(ii) without regard to a client’s individual tax situation, in the case of all other Program Accounts. Program Accounts will include allocations to a combination of the primary asset classes: domestic stocks (U.S. equity securities), foreign stocks (non-U.S. equity securities), bonds (fixed income securities of all types and maturities, including lower-quality debt securities), and short-term assets (short-duration investments). Program Accounts may also have allocations to nontraditional asset classes and/or extended asset classes, including, but not limited to, real estate, inflation-protected debt securities, commodities, or other alternative investments. At times, investments in these asset classes may make up a substantial portion of a Program Account. As a result, a client’s exposure to the primary asset classes, particularly bond and short-term investments, may be reduced to gain exposure to these nontraditional and/or extended asset classes.

Program Accounts, other than Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts, are generally invested in a model-based portfolio composed of mutual funds and, depending on a client’s preferred investment approach and universe (discussed below), ETPs. The composition of Program Accounts managed using the same model portfolio may differ for a variety of reasons, including, but not limited to, the timing of client investments and withdrawals, and any client-imposed investment restrictions. Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts may be composed of several different “sleeves” in which different types of investments may be held. For most investment strategies, the majority of positions will be held in the “Central Investment Positions” sleeve, which holds interests in mutual funds and ETPs based on the Tax-Sensitive Program Account’s Account Asset Allocation. If a Tax-Sensitive Program Account qualifies, the account may have SMA sleeves that hold individual securities within a given asset class to provide an additional layer of tax-sensitive investment management. The Fidelity Strategic Advisers U.S. Large Cap Equity, the Strategic Advisers Equity Growth and the Strategic Advisers Equity Value SMAs are implemented within Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts and are based on investment models provided to Strategic Advisers by affiliated and/or unaffiliated investment advisers (“Model Providers”).

In addition, a client may request that monies be invested in a “Short-Term Position” sleeve of a Tax-Sensitive Program Account, whereby such amount will be invested in a client’s core Fidelity money market fund to be used for short-term and liquidity purposes. Please note that Strategic Advisers does not provide portfolio management services over assets held in the Short-Term Position sleeve; however, Strategic Advisers may take into consideration assets designated for the Short-Term Position sleeve when making investment decisions and will manage short-term investment flows into and out of the Short-Term Position sleeve into other sleeves per the client’s direction.

Strategic Advisers will manage eligible securities that a client uses to fund a Tax-Sensitive Program Account. Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals for information about eligible securities. Please note that as Strategic Advisers believes appropriate asset allocation is of primary importance, eligible securities that may not be part of Strategic Advisers’ expected portfolio may be sold, even if such changes may trigger significant tax consequences. Please contact a Fidelity representative for more information.

The mutual funds used in the Program are selected from among those available through Fidelity’s mutual fund supermarket, the Fidelity FundsNetwork®. Mutual funds and ETPs used in the Program may be managed by Fidelity and/or non-Fidelity advisers and may include mutual funds managed by Strategic Advisers or an affiliate that have been developed specifically for use in programs offered or managed by Strategic Advisers or an affiliate (the “Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds”) and/or other funds that are not available for investment directly to retail investors (together with Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds, “Program Only Funds”). The Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds may invest in individual equity and fixed income securities, mutual funds, ETPs, and derivatives, and engage the use of Fidelity and non-Fidelity sub-advisors (“Fund Sub-advisors”).

Strategic Advisers generally uses both fundamental and quantitative investment strategies to manage Program Accounts. Strategic Advisers uses sophisticated research tools to gauge when certain asset and extended asset classes should be used. This involves both evaluating characteristics such as sector weightings, duration, valuation, and market capitalization, as well as focusing on key economic indicators and trends. When determining how to allocate assets among underlying mutual funds and ETPs, Strategic Advisers considers a variety of objective and subjective factors, including, but not limited to, proprietary fundamental and quantitative fund research, a manager's experience and investment style, fund company infrastructure, fund availability, current public information about a fund such as expense ratio, performance history, asset size and portfolio turnover, and overall fit within Program Accounts.

Strategic Advisers’ investment professionals will obtain and use information from various sources to assist in making allocation decisions among asset classes, as well as decisions regarding the purchase and sale of specific mutual funds and ETPs. Sources of information used include publicly available information and performance data on mutual funds and ETPs, individual securities, equity markets, fixed income markets, international markets, and broad-based economic indicators. Strategic Advisers will use both primary sources (e.g., talking directly with fund companies and managers) and secondary sources (reports prepared by fund companies and other sources that provide data on specific fund investment strategies, portfolio management teams, fund positioning, portfolio risk characteristics, performance attribution, and historical fund returns) as inputs into its investment process. In general, Strategic Advisers will evaluate the mutual funds available in the Fidelity FundsNetwork® platform and make fund investment determinations based on investment methodology. Strategic Advisers will review the share classes offered by identified funds and seek to choose the share class that is appropriate for clients after the application of the Credit Amount. In addition, Strategic Advisers generally chooses share classes of the funds it invests in on a Program-wide basis, and generally does not vary its share class selections among Program Accounts or modify its share class selections for clients who receive fee waivers (primarily Fidelity employees). Where a client transfers mutual funds into a Program Account and such mutual fund is retained as part of the Program Account, such shares will be subject to the fee crediting program noted in “Fees and Compensation” above, but will not be evaluated with regard to appropriateness of share class.

About the Program Account Investment Approaches and Universes

The Program offers the following two investment approaches and three investment universes for the management of Program Accounts, other than BDIP Program Accounts, to accommodate investor preferences. Clients may select between Total Return and Defensive investment approaches. The Total Return investment approach seeks to enhance total return for a given level of risk through broad diversification across asset classes. The Defensive investment approach seeks to temper downside risk in an effort to provide a smoother investment experience over the long term (as compared to a Total Return approach) by investing in “defensive” strategies across asset classes. Defensive investment approach Program Accounts will have increased exposures to defensive investments that, in the judgment of Strategic Advisers, may cause the account to have lower sensitivity to broader market price movements. These defensive investments may include conservative equity (those with stable earnings growth, low financial leverage and a high return on equity, or those that are expected to rise and fall in price less or more slowly than the market generally), which may be combined with increased exposure to longer-term high-quality bonds. Strategic Advisers believes these conservative equity investments may have lower variability in returns than the equity market as a whole, and that the longer-term high-quality bonds may help reduce some of the equity and credit risk associated with the other investments used in Defensive Program Accounts. There is no guarantee that the investment techniques used in managing Defensive Program Accounts will produce the desired results, and clients should be aware that this approach may limit a client’s gains during rising market environments. Clients may select from the Blended, Fidelity Focused and Index Focused investment universes for their Total Return Program Accounts (please note that only the Blended investment universe is available for Defensive Program Accounts). Additional investment approaches and universes may be made available from time to time. Retirement and Taxable Program Accounts managed using the Total Return approach and either the Blended or Fidelity Focused investment universe invest only in mutual funds; mutual funds and ETPs can be used in all other Program Accounts, including all Fidelity Private Wealth Management® (“PWM”) Program Accounts.

Blended and Fidelity Focused Program Accounts seek to enhance risk-adjusted returns through broad diversification across asset classes. Blended Program Accounts use both Fidelity and non-Fidelity investments. Fidelity Focused Program Accounts primarily use investments from Fidelity. Blended and Fidelity Focused Program Accounts will generally invest in actively managed investments. Blended and Fidelity Focused Program Accounts may also invest in passively managed investments that seek to replicate the performance of their applicable market indexes, based on market conditions, risk management and trading considerations, and the availability of actively and passively managed investments to be used to gain exposure to a particular asset or sub-asset class, in each case in the judgment of Strategic Advisers.

Index Focused Program Accounts also seek to enhance risk-adjusted returns through broad diversification across asset classes, but will have a preference for passively managed investments. Index Focused Program Accounts use both Fidelity and non-Fidelity investments. Index Focused Program Accounts may also invest in actively managed investments when deemed appropriate by the investment team, based on market conditions and the availability of actively and passively managed investments to be used to gain exposure to a particular asset or sub-asset class, in each case in the judgment of Strategic Advisers. In general, for Index Focused Program Accounts, the investment management team may use actively managed investments to gain exposure to certain fixed income asset classes, including high yield, short-term bond and money market, though this may change in the future depending on the availability and appropriateness of passively managed investments with exposure to certain asset or sub-asset classes. Accordingly, Index Focused Program Accounts that are taxable or that have a more conservative asset allocation can hold a higher percentage of actively managed investments than other accounts with the same asset allocation or investment universe, respectively.

A client may also elect to participate in the Increased International Option, which will modify the asset allocation of a Program Account, other than a BDIP Program Account, by increasing the exposure to international equity securities from approximately 30% of the overall equity allocation to approximately 50% of the overall equity allocation. This increase in international exposure may be accomplished by increasing the percentage of assets invested in international mutual fund or ETP holdings or by adding new mutual fund or ETP holdings to a client’s Program Account. For new Program Accounts, the ability to manage potential tax consequences from funding a client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account will depend on the assets used to fund the account. For existing Program Accounts, Strategic Advisers will generally sell U.S. equity assets (mutual funds, ETPs and, as applicable, SMA equities) and purchase international mutual funds and ETPs. The performance of a Program Account managed using the Increased International Option will differ, at times significantly, from the performance of a Program Account without increased international equity exposure. Please note that the Increased International Option is available to all Tax-Sensitive Accounts, but is not available for certain Retirement or Taxable Program Accounts; please contact your Fidelity representative for more information.

About Tax-Sensitive Investment Management Strategies

Strategic Advisers believes appropriate asset allocation is of primary importance. If, based on information the client provides, Strategic Advisers determines that the client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account requires modification to its Account Asset Allocation, it will generally make such changes as soon as reasonably possible, even if such changes may trigger significant tax consequences. The potential federal income tax consequences of holding, buying, and selling securities are considered as part of the investment services provided to Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts. Please note that Strategic Advisers does not take direction from a client on when to take gains or losses from the client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account. Clients who participate in PWM may provide Strategic Advisers with a target capital gain amount for the year and Strategic Advisers will take this into consideration in managing these clients’ Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts. Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals for information about the types of clients eligible for PWM. Strategic Advisers cannot guarantee the effectiveness of its tax-sensitive investment management techniques in serving to reduce or minimize a client’s overall tax liability or the tax results of a given transaction. The specific tax-sensitive strategies used will depend on the size of the account and the investment strategy selected. Prior to making trading decisions to buy, hold, or sell mutual funds, ETPs, or other types of securities for a client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account, the following is considered:
Purchase of municipal bond funds, based on factors including tax bracket and estimated tax-equivalent yields. When appropriate, Program Accounts may be invested in state-specific municipal bond funds (as alternatives to comparable taxable bond funds) to seek to generate income generally exempt from federal (and state, if a resident of the issuer’s state or another exemption applies) income taxes. When consistent with overall portfolio objectives, Program Accounts may also invest in non-state-specific (i.e., national) municipal bond funds to seek to generate income generally exempt from federal income taxes.

Ability to harvest tax losses. Individual mutual fund, ETP, stock, or bond positions may experience price declines, possibly below a client’s adjusted tax basis in the security (as determined by the tax basis information on record for the client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account). In such instances, losses may be realized in the client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account for tax purposes. In cases where a position is sold to realize a capital loss for tax purposes, the position usually will be replaced with investments we believe will maintain consistent market exposure. In harvesting tax losses, Strategic Advisers does not attempt to harvest every tax loss that occurs in the client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account.

Opportunity to avoid and/or postpone capital gain realizations. As applicable, each specific lot of securities in a client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account—a block of shares bought at a particular time at a particular price—is reviewed and the potential federal income tax burden associated with selling that lot is weighed against the potential investment merits of the sale, such as performance potential, added diversification, and support of risk-management strategies. Once it decides to sell an eligible security, Strategic Advisers will attempt to sell the lot(s) that will generate the lowest overall federal income tax burden (or generate a loss for tax purposes) using the tax basis and holding period information on record, with a preference for long-term capital gains over short-term capital gains.

Seeking to manage exposure to fund distributions. After taking other factors into consideration, Strategic Advisers seeks to manage exposure to taxable fund distributions by considering historical and projected dividend and capital gain distributions when selecting and trading funds for the account. It is important to understand that in a given year, due to investment decisions or market conditions, a client may receive varying levels of taxable fund distributions within a client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account. In general, Strategic Advisers will not sell a fund merely to avoid a taxable fund distribution, but in fact looks at the overall portfolio to determine the most appropriate action.

Asset location services. In addition, for PWM clients with both Tax-Sensitive and Retirement Program Accounts, Strategic Advisers may use asset location strategies to seek to strategically position assets within the type of account (taxable, tax-deferred, or tax-exempt) that may help enhance marginal after-tax returns. Generally, this means locating more tax-efficient investments in a Tax-Sensitive Program Account and less tax-efficient investments in a Retirement Program Account. Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals for information about the types of clients eligible for PWM and the use of asset location services.

About the SMAs for Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts
If a client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account qualifies, a portion of the account may be invested in the SMAs offered by Strategic Advisers. These SMAs provide an additional layer of tax-sensitive investment management within a Tax-Sensitive Program Account.

The Strategic Advisers Tax-Managed U.S. Large Cap SMA will initially consist of a diversified portfolio of approximately 200–300 securities currently selected from the universe of 500 securities that compose the S&P 500® Index (please note that effective as of July 1, 2019, the S&P® 500 Index will be replaced with the Fidelity U.S. Large Cap IndexSM). The Fidelity U.S. Large Cap IndexSM is a float-adjusted market capitalization–weighted index designed to reflect the performance of the stocks of the largest 500 U.S. companies based on float-adjusted market capitalization. The number of securities used by Strategic Advisers within the Strategic Advisers Tax-Managed U.S. Large Cap SMA will vary over time and may be materially higher or lower than Strategic Advisers’ initial estimate. The Strategic Advisers Tax-Managed U.S. Large Cap SMA is intended to act as a diversified, risk-adjusted portfolio that attempts to closely align with the return (before taxes) and overall risk profile of the S&P 500® Index (before July 1, 2019) or Fidelity U.S. Large Cap Index℠ (after June 30, 2019). Strategic Advisers will attempt to trade holdings in the Strategic Advisers Tax-Managed U.S. Large Cap SMA actively within the universe of securities that compose the S&P 500® Index (before July 1, 2019) or Fidelity U.S. Large Cap Index℠ (after June 30, 2019) in an attempt to enhance after-tax returns through methods such as proactive tax-loss harvesting and deferring the realization of capital gains. Note that this trading may result in a “drift” from the S&P 500® Index (before July 1, 2019) or Fidelity U.S. Large Cap Index℠ (after June 30, 2019) and/or wash sales from trading activity in non-Program accounts.

The Fidelity Strategic Advisers U.S. Large Cap Equity SMA is actively managed to seek capital appreciation and to outperform the S&P 500® Index over a full market cycle by investing in U.S. large cap stocks. The Fidelity Strategic Advisers U.S. Large Cap Equity SMA will initially consist of approximately 150–250 securities, selected by Strategic Advisers based on the portfolio recommendations of the affiliated Model Provider that provides investment models to Strategic Advisers. The number of securities used by Strategic Advisers within the Fidelity Strategic Advisers U.S. Large Cap Equity SMA will vary over time. The Model Provider provides multiple investment models to Strategic Advisers, with growth, value and core equity exposures, which Strategic Advisers then blends in its discretion, based on its view of market cycle implications and overall positioning. If the models provided by the Model Provider include securities that cannot be purchased for client accounts, Strategic Advisers may in its discretion substitute other equity securities or ETPs for those securities.

The Strategic Advisers Equity Growth and Strategic Advisers Equity Value SMAs are actively managed to seek additional opportunities for return and tax-sensitive investment management. The Strategic Advisers Equity Growth and Strategic Advisers Equity Value SMAs will invest in recommended portfolios of stocks that are designed to complement the Strategic Advisers Tax-Managed U.S. Large Cap SMA, which provides core market exposure. Both the Strategic Advisers Equity Growth and Strategic Advisers Equity Value SMAs will initially consist of approximately 70–150 securities in each SMA, selected by Strategic Advisers based on the portfolio recommendations of multiple Model Providers that provide investment models to Strategic Advisers. The number of securities used by Strategic Advisers within the Strategic Advisers Equity Growth and Strategic Advisers Equity Value SMAs will vary over time and may be materially higher or lower than Strategic Advisers’ initial estimate. The Model Providers are selected by Strategic Advisers to have complementary investment styles and may be affiliated or unaffiliated with Strategic Advisers. Strategic Advisers then blends those stock portfolio recommendations for each of the Strategic Advisers Equity Growth and Strategic Advisers Equity Value SMAs. If the models provided by the Model Providers include securities that cannot be purchased for client accounts, Strategic Advisers may, in its discretion, substitute other equity securities or ETPs for those securities.

For additional information about the Model Providers who provide stock portfolio recommendations to Strategic Advisers, please contact a Fidelity representative. At any time, Strategic Advisers, in its discretion, may change the weight allocated to a particular Model Provider’s stock portfolio recommendations within client accounts. In addition, Strategic Advisers may, in its discretion, replace the Model Providers from which it receives stock portfolio recommendations, or may contract with additional Model Providers to provide stock portfolio recommendations. There is expected to be an overlap among the securities held in each of the SMAs. Each of the securities purchased in the SMAs will appear on the monthly account statement. Securities selected for the SMAs are individually tailored based on a client’s existing holdings and unique financial situation, and on the tax attributes of the assets in the client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account. A client can expect that the securities that make up the SMAs may vary, perhaps significantly, from the securities purchased for other clients in the Program.

When determining the appropriateness of implementing SMAs, Strategic Advisers considers the trade-offs inherent in managing a client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account toward the appropriate risk and return while monitoring the potential tax consequences. This may mean that the implementation of the SMAs may not happen on the first set of trades, and indeed may happen in small amounts over the course of months or even years from the start date. In some circumstances, a client’s account may have such large embedded gains that it is not in the client’s best interest to sell their existing mutual fund or ETP holdings to invest in SMAs. In the future, Strategic Advisers may offer additional SMAs. These SMAs may be managed by Strategic Advisers or by affiliated or unaffiliated third-party registered investment advisers retained by Strategic Advisers. If such additional SMAs become available, Strategic Advisers will consider whether these SMAs are appropriate for a client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account and may offer these additional SMAs to a client.

About the Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds and Program Only Funds

Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds enable Strategic Advisers to choose from an expanded group of Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds and ETPs and Fund Sub-advisors. All Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds are considered to be Fidelity funds; however, these funds can have a blend of both affiliated and unaffiliated mutual funds, ETPs and Fund Sub-advisors, or a preference for affiliated mutual funds, ETPs and Fund Sub-advisors. Certain of these funds are structured so that, within one fund, Strategic Advisers can hire and/or fire Fund Sub-advisors who will purchase equity or fixed income securities for the fund, and buy and sell mutual funds, ETPs, and certain types of derivatives. This structure is designed to simplify Program Accounts and provide Strategic Advisers with greater visibility into the underlying holdings of the funds. For more information on the investment strategies employed by the Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds, please see the prospectuses for those funds.

Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds can be used in any Program Account and are available only to clients of certain of Fidelity’s managed account programs. A significant portion (up to 100%) of the assets in a Program Account, other than Tax-Sensitive and BDIP Program Accounts, may be invested in the Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds.

If an investor ceases to be a client of the Program, in general, Strategic Advisers will redeem any and all Program Only Fund shares, as well as shares of other funds that can no longer be held by the client due to other restrictions, such as minimum balance requirements, and a client may incur gains or losses as a result of such redemptions.

About Strategic Advisers’ Model Provider Selection Process

Prior to selecting a Model Provider for the Program, Strategic Advisers performs a comprehensive review of the Model Provider and its investment style and approach. Strategic Advisers’ review generally includes, among other things, assessing information about the Model Provider and its investment strategy collected from third-party sources and information received directly from the Model Provider. In selecting a Model Provider, Strategic Advisers will consider a variety of factors, including, but not limited to, investment approach, portfolio characteristics, and total assets of the Model Provider. Strategic Advisers will evaluate information from both quantitative and qualitative analyses, including, but not limited to, the Model Provider’s investment strategy and ability to adhere to the investment guidelines, credit research capabilities, security coverage, experience, growth of assets under management, stability of management, governance program and trading and operational capabilities. Strategic Advisers evaluates a Model Provider’s adherence to the investment strategy not less than semiannually based on the factors described above.

About Program Accounts Selecting BDIP

Clients may select the BDIP strategy, which seeks an attractive level of investment income for an appropriate level of risk by investing mutual funds and ETPs that invest in (or track) the following primary asset classes: domestic stocks, foreign stocks, investment grade and high yield bonds, and short-term investments. Strategic Advisers has retained BlackRock Investment Management, LLC (“BlackRock”) as Model Provider for this strategy. Strategic Advisers may select investments for a BDIP Program Account that differ from BlackRock’s model portfolio, but may also implement BlackRock’s model portfolio without change. Strategic Advisers is responsible for portfolio management, trading, and supervision of BDIP Program Accounts. BlackRock is not acting as an investment adviser or portfolio manager with respect to BDIP Program Accounts.
Mutual funds and ETPs included in the model portfolio are selected by BlackRock based on a variety of objective and subjective factors, including, but not limited to, performance, expenses, quality, history of portfolio management, understanding of style consistency, asset size, availability, trading characteristics, current public information on the investment and its management, and overall fit within the model portfolio. BDIP Program Accounts are not intended to provide a complete investment program. Clients are responsible for appropriate diversification of assets outside of BDIP Program Accounts to help guard against the risk of loss. Cash flows from dividend distributions or interest payments will be reinvested in the portfolio, unless a client elects otherwise. In selecting mutual funds and ETPs for inclusion in the model portfolio provided to Strategic Advisers, BlackRock will primarily select mutual funds and ETPs advised by it (or one of its affiliates) and which pay fees and other compensation to BlackRock (or one of its affiliates), including iShares® ETPs (collectively, “BlackRock Affiliated Funds”). BlackRock may also include mutual funds or ETPs advised by third parties, including Strategic Advisers or its affiliates, if BlackRock determines, in its sole discretion, that a BlackRock Affiliated Fund may not achieve the investment objective. The mutual funds and ETPs included in the model portfolio provided by BlackRock will vary in their exposure to different asset classes, as well as different styles (investing for capital appreciation or income). Strategic Advisers has designed investment guidelines for the mutual funds and ETPs held in BDIP Program Accounts. These guidelines may change from time to time.

BlackRock seeks to maintain a risk profile for the model portfolio that is generally consistent with that of a balanced portfolio that holds 50% equity investments and 50% investment grade fixed income (including short-term assets). However, in constructing the model portfolio, BlackRock has wide flexibility in the relative investment weightings given to each asset class and generally may allocate from 20% to 60% to equity investments and correspondingly from 40% to 80% to fixed income investments. BlackRock seeks to balance income and risk in the model portfolio by limiting volatility over a rolling three-year period in line with a balanced portfolio (as measured by the annualized standard deviation of monthly returns).

Investment Restrictions

A client has the ability to impose reasonable restrictions on the management of a Program Account. Any proposed restriction is subject to our review and approval. Such a restriction may include prohibitions such as with respect to the purchase of a particular fund, individual security, or sub-asset class, provided such restriction is not inconsistent with the Program’s stated investment strategy or philosophy, or is not fundamentally inconsistent with the nature or operation of the Program. If a restriction is accepted, assets will be invested in a manner that is appropriate given the restriction. Imposing an investment restriction can delay the start of discretionary management, and Program Accounts with client-imposed restrictions will experience different performance from Program Accounts without restrictions, possibly producing lower overall results. Program Account restrictions should be requested through a Fidelity representative.

Additional Information about Strategic Advisers’ Investment Practices

In managing Program Accounts, Strategic Advisers will obtain information from various sources. Strategic Advisers will use both primary sources (e.g., talking directly with fund companies and fund managers) and secondary sources (e.g., analysts’ reports from fund companies that will provide data on the investment strategies, risk profiles, and historical returns). Secondary sources also include a variety of publicly available market and economic information and third-party research, as well as proprietary research generated by Strategic Advisers. Strategic Advisers will analyze this information to assist in making allocation decisions among asset classes, as well as in making purchase and sale decisions. Strategic Advisers does not seek access to material nonpublic information on any investment used by the Program. With respect to Fidelity mutual funds or ETPs used by the Program, the investment team at Strategic Advisers that manages Program Accounts does not have access to the proprietary or material nonpublic information of the Fidelity mutual funds or ETPs.

When investing in Fidelity and non-Fidelity funds, Strategic Advisers may from time to time consult the fund manager to understand the manager’s guidelines concerning general limitations, if any, on the aggregate percentage of fund shares that can be held under management by Strategic Advisers on behalf of all its clients. Funds are not required to accept investments and may limit how much Strategic Advisers can purchase. One way that Strategic Advisers deals with potential capacity issues is to use Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds instead of third-party funds. Additionally, Strategic Advisers may establish internal limits on how much it may invest in any one fund across the programs for which it provides management services. Regulatory restrictions also may limit the amount that one fund can invest in another, which means that Strategic Advisers or the Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds may be limited in the amount they can invest in any particular fund. Strategic Advisers will work closely with fund management to minimize the impact of its reallocation activity on acquired funds. In certain situations, liquidating positions in underlying funds may be accomplished over an extended period of time as a result of operational considerations, legal considerations, or input from underlying fund managers. To the extent that a Program Account already owns securities that directly or indirectly contribute to an ownership threshold being exceeded, securities held in such a Program Account may be sold in order to bring account-level and/or aggregate ownership below the relevant threshold. In the event that any such sales result in realized losses for a Program Account, that Program Account may bear such losses depending on the particular circumstances.

Except with respect to Fidelity Focused Program Accounts, Strategic Advisers will invest Program Accounts in mutual funds available through Fidelity's mutual fund supermarket, the Fidelity FundsNetwork, and ETPs available for sale through Fidelity. Strategic Advisers does not have a predetermined allocation to Fidelity or non-Fidelity mutual funds or ETPs, other than the exclusive use of Fidelity money market funds. Similarly, Strategic Advisers does not have a predetermined allocation with respect to the use of Fidelity or non-Fidelity Model Providers for the SMAs. The application of the Credit Amount, lack of additional fees associated with the use of Fidelity Model Providers and that Strategic Advisers’ investment professionals are not compensated based on the amount of Fidelity or non-Fidelity mutual funds or ETPs used in the Program mitigates Strategic Advisers’ economic conflict in choosing between Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs and Model Providers. However, Strategic Advisers will achieve greater efficiencies and economies of scale with respect to the research and management services that it provides to clients when it utilizes Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs and Model Providers and may consider these efficiencies when selecting investments for Program Accounts.

From time to time, Strategic Advisers and/or its affiliates may determine that, as a result of regulatory requirements that may apply to the adviser and/or its affiliates due to investments in a particular country or in an issuer operating in a particular regulated industry, investments in the securities of issuers domiciled or listed on trading markets in that country or operating in that regulated industry above certain thresholds may be impractical or undesirable. The foregoing limits and thresholds may apply at the Program Account level or in the aggregate across all accounts (or certain subsets of accounts) managed, sponsored, or owned by, or otherwise attributable to Strategic Advisers and its affiliates. For investment risk management and other purposes, Strategic Advisers and its affiliates also generally apply internal aggregate limits on the amount of a particular issuer's securities that may be owned by all such accounts. In such instances, the adviser may limit or exclude a client's investment in a particular issuer, which may include investment in related derivative instruments, and investment flexibility may be restricted. Additionally, the mutual funds Strategic Advisers invest in may have policies that restrict excessive trading. As a result, a fund may reject trade orders if they are deemed to represent excessive trading. In general, a fund may restrict future trade activity if it deems the excessive trading policy, as outlined in the fund prospectus, has been violated (for example, a purchase and sale within a 30-day period). As a result, in order to comply with a fund's trading policies, Strategic Advisers may be required to suspend investment management of a Program Account. Strategic Advisers will cease to manage a Program Account as soon as reasonably practicable. The imposition of any such order may take up to one (1) business day to implement, and may stop any trading activity that is occurring in a Program Account.

Material Investment Risks

In general, all the portfolios managed by Strategic Advisers in the Program are subject to the list of investment risks discussed below. However, investment strategies that have higher concentrations of equity have greater exposure to the risks associated with equity investments, such as stock market volatility and foreign exposure. On the other hand, investment strategies that have higher exposure to fixed income will have greater exposure to the risks associated with those products, such as credit risk and bond investment risk.

Risk of Loss. The discretionary investment management strategies implemented by Strategic Advisers for clients in the Program, including conservative investments, involve risk of loss. Investments in a Program Account are not a deposit of a bank and are not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (“FDIC”) or any other government agency. A client may lose money by investing in mutual funds, ETPs, and individual securities. A client may lose money by investing in the Program.

Many factors affect each investment’s or Program Account’s performance. Strategies that pursue investments in equities will be subject to stock market volatility, and strategies that pursue fixed income investments (such as bond or money market funds) will see values fluctuate in response to changes in interest rates. All strategies are ultimately affected by impacts to the individual issuers, such as changes in an issuer’s credit quality, or changes in tax, regulatory, market, or economic developments. Non-diversified funds, SMAs, and accounts that invest in a smaller number of individual issuers can be more sensitive to these changes. Nearly all investments or accounts are subject to volatility in non-U.S. markets, through either direct exposure or indirect effects in U.S. markets from events abroad. Those investments and accounts that are exposed to emerging markets are potentially subject to heightened volatility from greater social, economic, regulatory, and political uncertainties, as the extent of economic development, political stability, market depth, infrastructure, capitalization, and regulatory oversight can be less than in more developed markets. Additionally, investments or accounts that pursue debt exposure are subject to risks of prepayment or default, and funds, SMAs, or accounts that pursue strategies that concentrate in particular industries or are otherwise subject to particular segments of the market (e.g., money market funds’ exposure to the financial services industry, municipal funds’ exposure to the municipal bond market, or international or emerging markets funds’ exposure to a particular country or region) may be significantly impacted by events affecting those industries or markets. Strategies that lead funds, SMAs, or accounts to invest in other funds bear all the risks inherent in the underlying investments in which those funds invest, and strategies that pursue leveraged risk, including investment in derivatives — such as swaps (interest rate, total return, and credit default) and futures contracts — and forward-settling securities, magnify market exposure and losses. Additionally, investments and accounts may be subject to operational risks, which can include risk of loss arising from failures in internal processes, people, or systems, such as routine processing errors or major systems failures, or from external events, such as exchange outages.

In addition, investments in the mutual funds, ETPs, and individual securities in a Program Account may be subject to the following risks:

Investing in Mutual Funds and ETPs. A Program Account bears all the risks of the investment strategies employed by the mutual funds and ETPs held in the Program Account, including the risk that a mutual fund or ETP will not meet its investment objectives. For the specific risks associated with a mutual fund or ETP, please see its prospectus.

ETPs. An ETP is a security that trades on an exchange and may seek to track an index, a commodity, or a basket of assets. ETPs can include exchange-traded funds, exchange-traded notes, unit investment trusts, closed-end funds, master limited partnerships, and certain grantor trusts. ETPs can be actively or passively managed. The performance of a passively managed ETP may not correlate to the performance of the asset it seeks to track. ETPs trade on secondary markets or exchanges and are exposed to market volatility and the risks of their underlying securities. ETPs that use derivatives, leverage, or complex investment strategies are subject to additional risks. Share trading may be halted or the security may cease to trade on an exchange. Trading volume and liquidity may vary and may affect the ability to buy or sell shares, or may cause the market price of shares to experience significant premiums or discounts relative to value of the assets underlying the shares. Because ETPs trade on exchanges, buyers and sellers experience a spread between the bidding price and the asking price, and the size of these spreads may vary significantly. ETPs may also have unique risks depending on their structure and underlying investments.

Money Market Funds. A client could lose money by investing in a money market fund. Although a money market fund seeks to preserve the value of a client’s investment at $1.00 per share, it cannot guarantee it will do so. An investment in a money market fund is not insured or guaranteed by the FDIC or any other government agency. Fidelity, the sponsor of Fidelity’s money market funds, has no legal obligation to provide financial support to a Fidelity money market fund, and a client should not expect that Fidelity will provide financial support to a Fidelity money market fund at any time. Fidelity's government and U.S. Treasury money market funds will not impose a fee upon the sale of shares, nor temporarily suspend an investor's ability to sell shares, if a fund’s weekly liquid assets fall below 30% of its total assets because of market conditions or other factors.

Funds with Multiple Managers. Separate investment decisions and the resulting purchase and sale activities of a fund’s sub-advisors might adversely affect a fund’s performance or lead to disadvantageous tax consequences.

Quantitative Investing. Funds or securities selected using quantitative analysis can perform differently from the market as a whole as a result of the factors used in the analysis, the weight placed on each factor, changes to the factors’ behavior over time, market volatility, or the quantitative model’s assumption about market behavior. In addition, Strategic Advisers’ quantitative investment strategies rely on algorithmic processes, and therefore may be subject to the risks described below under the heading, “Operational Risks.”

Investing for Volatility Management. The ability of Defensive and BDIP Program Accounts to manage the overall level of account volatility in response to market volatility depends on Strategic Advisers’ ability (and, for BDIP Program Accounts, BlackRock’s ability in providing the model portfolio to Strategic Advisers) to estimate correctly the volatility of the investments it chooses relative to the broader market. Volatility may be higher than anticipated, and the specific investments used to manage volatility may not be as correlated or uncorrelated with the broader market as expected. There can be no guarantee of success in managing the overall level of volatility. These accounts may not realize the anticipated benefits from the volatility management process or may realize losses because of the investment techniques used to manage volatility, or because of the limitations of volatility management processes in periods of extremely high or low volatility. Under certain market conditions, the use of volatility management processes may also result in less favorable performance than if such processes had not been used. The volatility management strategies used in managing these accounts may cause them to underperform when markets rise, and there can be no guarantee that these strategies will help mitigate losses when markets fall.

Stock Investments. Stock markets are volatile and can decline significantly in response to adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments. Different parts of the market can react differently to these developments. Value and growth stocks can perform differently from other types of stocks. Growth stocks can be more volatile. Value stocks can continue to be undervalued by the market for long periods of time. In addition, stock investments may be subject to risk related to market capitalization as well as company-specific risk.

Bond Investments. In general, the bond market is volatile, and fixed income securities carry interest rate risk. (As interest rates rise, bond prices usually fall, and vice versa. This effect is usually more pronounced for longer-term securities.) The ability of an issuer of a bond to repay principal prior to a security's maturity can cause greater price volatility, and, if a bond is prepaid, a bond fund may have to invest the proceeds in securities with lower yields. Fixed income securities also carry inflation risk, as well as credit and default risks for both issuers and counterparties. The interest payments of inflation-protected bonds are variable and usually rise with inflation and fall with deflation. Unlike individual bonds, most bond funds do not have a maturity date, so holding them until maturity to avoid losses caused by price volatility is not possible. In addition, investments in certain bond structures may be less liquid than other investments, and therefore may be more difficult to trade effectively.

Credit Risk. Changes in the financial condition of an issuer or counterparty, and changes in specific economic or political conditions that affect a particular type of security or issuer, can increase the risk of default by an issuer or counterparty, which can affect a security's or instrument's credit quality or value. Lower-quality debt securities and certain types of other securities involve greater risk of default or price changes due to changes in the credit quality of the issuer.

Municipal Bonds. The municipal market can be significantly affected by adverse tax, legislative, or political changes, and by the financial condition of the issuers of municipal securities. Municipal funds normally seek to earn income and pay dividends that are expected to be exempt from federal income tax. If a fund investor is a resident in the state of issuance of the bonds held by the fund, interest dividends may also be exempt from state and local income taxes. Income exempt from regular federal income tax (including distributions from municipal and money market funds) may be subject to state, local, or federal alternative minimum tax. Certain funds normally seek to invest only in municipal securities generating income exempt from both federal income taxes and the federal alternative minimum tax; however, outcomes cannot be guaranteed, and the funds may sometimes generate income subject to these taxes. For federal tax purposes, a fund's distribution of gains attributable to a fund's sale of municipal or other bonds is generally taxable as either ordinary income or long-term capital gains.

Redemptions, including exchanges, may result in a capital gain or loss for federal and/or state income tax purposes. Tax code changes could impact the municipal bond market. Tax laws are subject to change, and the preferential tax treatment of municipal bond interest income may be removed or phased out for investors at certain income levels. Because many municipal bonds are issued to finance similar projects, especially those relating to education, health care, transportation, and utilities, conditions in those sectors can affect the overall municipal market. Budgetary constraints of local, state, and federal governments on which the issuers may be relying for funding may also impact municipal bonds. In addition, changes in the financial condition of an individual municipal insurer can affect the overall municipal market, and market conditions may directly impact the liquidity and valuation of municipal bonds.

Foreign Exposure. Foreign securities are subject to interest rate, currency exchange rate, economic, regulatory, and political risks, all of which may be greater in emerging markets. These risks are particularly significant for funds that focus on a single country or region or emerging markets, or for clients who elect the Increased International Option. Foreign markets may be more volatile than U.S. markets and can perform differently from the U.S. market. Emerging markets can be subject to greater social, economic, regulatory, and political uncertainties and can be extremely volatile. Foreign exchange rates can also be extremely volatile. American Depository Receipts (“ADRs”) are certificates evidencing ownership of shares of an underlying foreign issuer that are issued by depository banks and generally trade on an established market in the U.S. or elsewhere. ADRs are alternatives to directly purchasing the underlying foreign securities in their national markets and currencies. However, ADRs continue to be subject to many of the risks associated with investing directly in foreign securities. The depository bank may charge fees for various services, including forwarding dividends and interest and corporate actions.

Derivatives. Certain funds and ETPs used by Strategic Advisers may contain derivatives. Generally speaking, a derivative is a financial contract whose value is based on the value of a financial asset (such as a stock, bond, or currency), a physical asset (such as gold, oil, or wheat), or a market index (such as the S&P 500® Index). Investments in derivatives may subject these funds to risks different from, and possibly greater than, those of the underlying securities, assets, or market indexes. Some forms of derivatives, such as exchange-traded futures and options on securities, commodities, or indexes, have been trading on regulated exchanges for decades. These types of derivatives are standardized contracts that can easily be bought and/or sold, and whose market values are determined and published daily. Nonstandardized derivatives (such as swap agreements), on the other hand, tend to be more specialized or complex, and may be more difficult to value. Derivatives may involve leverage because they can provide investment exposure in an amount exceeding the initial investment. As a result, the use of derivatives may cause these funds to be more volatile, because leverage tends to exaggerate the effect of any increase or decrease in the value of a fund's portfolio securities.

Alternative Investments. Alternatives are classified as assets whose investment characteristics and/or performance differ substantially from the primary asset classes and therefore offer opportunities for additional diversification. Strategic Advisers does not invest in private equity, hedge funds, or similar investments directly in Program Accounts; however, Strategic Advisers may invest in mutual funds that invest significantly in these instruments, and therefore clients may have indirect exposure to these types of investments. Generally, alternatives may be illiquid.

Real Estate. Real estate is a cyclical industry that is sensitive to interest rates, economic conditions (both nationally and locally), property tax rates, and other factors. Changes in real estate values or economic downturns can have a significant negative effect on issuers in the real estate industry.

Commodity-Linked Investing. Commodity-linked investments may be more volatile and less liquid than the underlying commodity, instruments, or measures and their value may be affected by the performance of the overall commodities markets, as well as by weather, political, tax, and other regulatory and market developments.

Illiquid Investments. Illiquid securities sometimes trade infrequently in the secondary market. As a result, valuing an illiquid security can be more difficult, and buying and selling an illiquid security at an acceptable price can be more difficult or delayed. Difficulty in selling an illiquid security can result in a loss. The relative liquidity of any investment, particularly those that trade on exchanges, can vary, at times significantly.

Risks and Limitations Associated with Tax-Sensitive Investment Management Techniques. Strategic Advisers applies tax-sensitive investment management techniques on a limited basis, at its discretion. Strategic Advisers actively manages for federal income taxes, but does not manage in consideration of state or local taxes; foreign taxes on non-U.S. investments; or estate, gift, or generation-skipping transfer taxes. In harvesting tax losses, Strategic Advisers does not attempt to harvest every tax loss that occurs in a Tax-Sensitive Program Account. It is important to understand that in a given year, due to investment decisions or market conditions, a client may receive varying levels of taxable distributions within a Tax-Sensitive Program Account. In general, Strategic Advisers will not sell a fund merely to avoid a taxable fund distribution but, in fact, looks at the overall portfolio to determine the most appropriate action. Strategic Advisers relies on information a client provides in an effort to provide tax-sensitive investment management and does not offer tax advice. Strategic Advisers cannot guarantee the effectiveness of its tax-sensitive investment management techniques in serving to reduce or minimize a client's overall tax liability or the tax results of a given transaction. Strategic Advisers believes appropriate asset allocation is of primary importance, and will make changes to a Tax-Sensitive Program Account's asset allocation even if such changes may trigger significant tax consequences.

Growth Investing. Growth stocks can react differently to issuer, political, market, and economic developments than the market as a whole and other types of stocks. Growth stocks tend to be more expensive relative to their earnings or assets compared with other types of stocks. As a result, growth stocks tend to be sensitive to changes in their earnings and more volatile than other types of stocks.

Value Investing. Value stocks can react differently to issuer, political, market, and economic developments than the market as a whole and other types of stocks. Value stocks tend to be inexpensive relative to their earnings or assets compared with other types of stocks. However, value stocks can continue to be inexpensive for long periods of time and may not ever realize their full value.

Risks Associated with the Strategic Advisers Tax-Managed U.S. Large Cap SMA. The Strategic Advisers Tax-Managed U.S. Large Cap SMA relies on a quantitative model that is designed to replicate the overall risk and return characteristics of the S&P 500® Index (before July 1, 2019) or Fidelity U.S. Large Cap IndexSM (after June 30, 2019). To the extent that the quantitative model fails to adequately match the risk and return profile of the index, the SMA may perform differently from the S&P 500® Index (before July 1, 2019) or Fidelity U.S. Large Cap IndexSM (after June 30, 2019) on a pretax basis. In addition, to the extent that the components of the applicable index perform in a highly correlated fashion, the strategy may be less effective at harvesting the tax losses on which the strategy relies. In addition, the Strategic Advisers Tax-Managed U.S. Large Cap SMA relies on algorithmic processes, and therefore may be subject to the risks described below under the heading, “Operational Risks.”

Model Overlay Risks. There are risks associated with BDIP Program Accounts and the Fidelity Strategic Advisers U.S. Large Cap Equity, Strategic Advisers Equity Growth and Strategic Advisers Equity Value SMAs. Each relies on Strategic Advisers’ ability to purchase the investments in the Model Providers’ portfolio recommendations. This may not be possible due to liquidity constraints or aggregate holdings limitations, among other reasons. BDIP Program Accounts and the Fidelity Strategic Advisers U.S. Large Cap Equity, Strategic Advisers Equity Growth and Strategic Advisers Equity Value SMAs may perform differently from the Model Providers’ portfolio recommendations.

Legislative and Regulatory Risk. Investments in a Program Account may be adversely affected by new (or revised) laws or regulations. Changes to laws or regulations can impact the securities markets as a whole, specific industries, individual issuers of securities, and Strategic Advisers’ determinations with respect to the expected rate of return, value, tax treatment, or creditworthiness of a particular security. The impact of these changes may not be fully known for some time.

Cybersecurity Risks. With the increased use of technologies such as the internet to conduct business, Strategic Advisers and its affiliates are susceptible to operational, information security, and related risks. Cyber attacks include, but are not limited to, gaining unauthorized access to digital systems (e.g., through “hacking” or malicious software coding) for purposes of misappropriating assets or sensitive information; corrupting data, equipment, or systems; or causing operational disruption. Cyber attacks may also be carried out in a manner that does not require gaining unauthorized access, such as causing denial-of-service attacks on websites (i.e., efforts to make network services unavailable to intended users). Cyber incidents have the ability to cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses, interference with the ability to calculate asset prices, impediments to trading, the inability to transact business, destruction to equipment and systems, violations of applicable privacy and other laws, regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement or other compensation costs, or additional compliance costs.

Operational Risks. Operational risks can include risk of loss arising from failures in internal processes, people, or systems, such as routine processing incidents or major systems failures, or from external events, such as exchange outages. Algorithms may be used by Strategic Advisers in support of its discretionary portfolio management process and contribute to operational risks. There is a risk that the algorithms and data input into the algorithms could have errors, omissions, imperfections and malfunctions. Any decisions made in reliance upon incorrect data expose Program Accounts to potential risk. Issues in the algorithm are often extremely difficult to detect and may go undetected for long periods of time; some may never be detected. These risks are mitigated by testing and human oversight of the algorithms and their output. We believe that the oversight and testing performed on our algorithms and their output will enable us to identify and address issues that a prudent person managing a similar service would identify and address. However, there is no assurance that the algorithms will always work as intended. In general, we will not assess each Program Account individually, nor will we override the outcome of the algorithm with respect to any particular Program Account.

Incidents arising from operational failures, including those resulting from the mistakes of third parties, may not be compensable by Strategic Advisers to a client. Strategic Advisers maintains policies and procedures that address the identification and correction of errors, consistent with applicable standard of care, to ensure that clients are treated fairly when an error has been detected. The determination of whether an incident constitutes an error is made by Strategic Advisers or its affiliates, in their sole discretion. In the event that Strategic Advisers or its affiliates make an error that has a financial impact on a Program Account, Strategic Advisers or its affiliates will generally return the Program Account to the position it would have held had no error occurred. Strategic Advisers will evaluate each situation independently.
This corrective action may result in financial or other restitution to a Program Account, or inadvertent gains being reversed out of a Program Account. Under certain circumstances, clients will not be reimbursed for errors where the loss is less than $10 per Program Account; in such cases, we have instituted procedures designed to prevent Fidelity from receiving economic benefits from limiting the correction of such errors.

CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

Strategic Advisers has adopted a Code of Ethics for Personal Trading (the “Code of Ethics”). The Code of Ethics applies to all officers, directors, employees and other supervised persons of Strategic Advisers and requires that they place the interests of Strategic Advisers’ clients above their own. The Code of Ethics establishes securities transaction requirements for all covered employees and their covered persons, including their spouses. More specifically, the Code of Ethics contains provisions requiring:

(i) Standards of general business conduct reflecting the investment advisers’ fiduciary obligations

(ii) Compliance with applicable federal securities laws

(iii) Employees and their covered persons to move their covered accounts to FBS unless an exception has been granted

(iv) Reporting and review of personal securities transactions and holdings for persons with access to certain nonpublic information

(v) Prohibition of purchasing of securities in initial public offerings unless an exception has been approved

(vi) Reporting of Code of Ethics violations

(vii) Distribution of the Code of Ethics to all supervised persons, documented through acknowledgments of receipt

Core features of the Code of Ethics generally apply to all Fidelity employees. The Code of Ethics also imposes additional restrictions and reporting obligations on certain advisory personnel, research analysts, and portfolio managers, including (i) preclearing of transactions in covered securities; (ii) prohibiting investments in limited offerings without prior approval; (iii) reporting of transactions in covered securities on a quarterly basis; (iv) reporting of accounts and holdings of covered securities on an annual basis; and (v) disgorgement of profits from short-term transactions unless an exception has been approved. Violation of the Code of Ethics requirements may also result in the imposition of remedial action. The Code of Ethics will generally be supplemented by other relevant Fidelity policies, including the Policy on Inside Information, Rules for Broker-Dealer Employees, and other written policies and procedures adopted by Fidelity and Strategic Advisers. A copy of the Code of Ethics will be provided upon request.

Strategic Advisers and its related persons may buy or sell for themselves securities that they also recommend to clients. The potential conflicts of interest involved in such activities are contemplated in the Code of Ethics and other relevant Fidelity policies. In particular, the Code of Ethics and other Fidelity policies are designed to ensure that Fidelity personnel never place their personal interests ahead of Fidelity’s clients in an attempt to benefit themselves or another party. The Code of Ethics and other Fidelity policies impose sanctions if these requirements are violated.

From time to time, in connection with our business, supervised persons may obtain material nonpublic information that is usually not available to other investors or the general public. In compliance with applicable laws, Strategic Advisers has adopted a comprehensive set of policies and procedures that prohibit the use of material nonpublic information by investment professionals or any other employees and that limit the transactions that Strategic Advisers can implement for Program Accounts.

In addition, Fidelity has implemented a policy on Business Entertainment and Workplace Gifts intended to set standards for business entertainment and gifts, to help employees make sound decisions with respect to these activities, and to ensure that the interests of Strategic Advisers’ clients come first. Similarly, to ensure compliance with applicable “pay to play” laws, Fidelity has adopted a Political Contributions and Activities policy that requires all employees to preclear any political contributions and activities.

BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Transactions in Program Accounts

Strategic Advisers is authorized to place trades for Program Accounts with affiliated registered broker-dealers or transfer agents. In most cases, Strategic Advisers places ETP and individual security transactions with NFS through FCM for execution when Strategic Advisers reasonably believes that the quality of the execution of the transaction is comparable to what could be obtained through other qualified broker-dealers. Strategic Advisers may allocate up to 100% of a Program client’s order to FCM, subject to Strategic Advisers’ best execution obligation, and regularly monitors the quality of the execution of transactions allocated to FCM. For the Program, all commissions are waived for trades executed through affiliates of Strategic Advisers.

NFS transmits orders received for execution through FCM to various exchanges or market centers based on a number of factors. These include the following: size of the order, trading characteristics of the security, favorable execution prices (including the opportunity for price improvement), access to reliable market data, availability of efficient automated transaction processing, and execution costs. Some market centers or broker-dealers may execute orders at prices superior to the publicly quoted market prices. Where Strategic Advisers directs the market center to which an order is routed, FBS or NFS will route the order to such market center in accordance with Strategic Advisers’ instructions without regard to its general order-routing practices. FBS and/or NFS receive remuneration, compensation, or other consideration for directing some customers’ orders for equity securities to certain market centers for execution. Such consideration may take the form of financial credits, monetary payments, rebates, volume discounts, or reciprocal business; provided, however, that neither FBS nor NFS receives any consideration in connection with directing equity trades for Program Accounts to market centers for execution. The details of any credit, payment, rebate, or other form of compensation received in connection with the routing of a particular order will be provided upon request, and an explanation of order-routing practices will be provided on an annual basis. In addition, from time to time, Fidelity may provide aggregated trade execution data to customers and prospective customers. Strategic Advisers is also authorized to place trades for Program Accounts with unaffiliated broker-dealers. In determining an unaffiliated broker-dealer’s ability to obtain best execution for a transaction, Strategic Advisers or its affiliates evaluate a variety of criteria and use good faith judgment, including the broker-dealer’s execution capabilities, reputation, and access to the markets for the securities being traded. Other possibly relevant factors Strategic Advisers or its affiliates may consider in the context of a trade include, but are not limited to, the following: price; costs; the size, nature and type of the order; speed of execution; and financial condition and reputation of a broker-dealer. In seeking best execution for portfolio transactions, Strategic Advisers or its affiliates may choose to execute an order using electronic channels, including Fidelity order routing systems or broker-dealer-sponsored algorithms, or by verbally working an order with a broker-dealer. To obtain best execution for a transaction, Strategic Advisers may select an unaffiliated broker-dealer that does not necessarily charge the lowest available commission rate, however Strategic Advisers believes that its order-routing policies, taking into consideration the factors stated above, are designed to result in transaction processing that is favorable to Program clients. Strategic Advisers regularly monitors the quality of the execution of transactions allocated to an unaffiliated broker-dealer.

With respect to investments made by Fidelity mutual funds and ETPs, Strategic Advisers and its affiliates may allocate brokerage transactions to unaffiliated broker-dealers that have entered into arrangements with Strategic Advisers or its affiliates under which the broker-dealer, using predetermined methodology, rebates a portion of the compensation paid by the fund to offset that fund’s expenses, which may be paid to Strategic Advisers or its affiliates. Not all broker-dealers with whom Strategic Advisers trades have agreed to participate in brokerage commission recapture. Strategic Advisers expects that broker-dealers from whom Strategic Advisers or its affiliates purchase research products and services with “hard dollars” are unlikely to participate in commission recapture.

When Strategic Advisers trades in a Program Account, unless FPTC is acting as Trustee or Co-Trustee with respect to the Program Account, clients will receive a confirmation of such transaction from NFS, except with respect to automatic investments, automatic withdrawals, dividend reinvestments, and transactions that involve the core Fidelity money market fund where a client’s account statement serves in lieu of a confirmation. Clients will also receive a prospectus for any new mutual fund or ETP not previously held, unless the client has elected to have Strategic Advisers act as agent for the receipt of any non-Fidelity prospectuses. In addition, clients will receive monthly statements from NFS that will provide holdings and transaction information, including trades, contributions, withdrawals, advisory fees, and estimated gain/loss and tax basis information. Monthly statements and confirmations are also available online at Fidelity.com and by enrolling in the electronic delivery program. Clients should carefully review all statements and other communications received from FBS and NFS. Please see the FPWA Program Fundamentals for information about Program fees, brokerage commissions and additional fees you may pay for transactions in a Program Account.

In general, to comply with applicable law, Strategic Advisers will not conduct any brokerage transactions on a principal basis with any affiliate or affiliated broker-dealer. However, a broker-dealer affiliated with Strategic Advisers, including NFS, may act as principal with respect to a client’s transactions in other accounts maintained with Fidelity over which Strategic Advisers has no discretionary management authority to the extent permitted by law and subject to applicable restrictions.

Trade Aggregation and Allocation

When effecting trades of individual securities for Program Accounts, Strategic Advisers may aggregate these trades with trades for other clients when, in Strategic Advisers’ judgment, as applicable, aggregation is in the best interest of all clients involved. Orders are aggregated to facilitate seeking best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among clients the effects of any market fluctuations that might have otherwise occurred had these orders been placed independently.
The transactions are averaged as to price and allocated as to amount according to the purchase and sale orders actually placed for each client account.

With respect to trade allocation, Strategic Advisers’ policy is to treat each of its clients’ accounts in a fair and equitable manner when allocating orders for the purchase and sale of securities. Strategic Advisers has adopted a trade allocation policy designed to achieve fairness and not to purposefully disadvantage comparable client accounts over time when allocating purchases and sales. All allocations among a client’s Program Account(s) and/or funds of funds managed by Strategic Advisers will be made in a manner consistent with Strategic Advisers’ fiduciary duties, taking into account all relevant factors.

Agency and Advisor Cross Trades

To the extent permitted by law and applicable policies and procedures, Strategic Advisers may effect “agency cross trades” for Program Accounts. Agency cross trades are trades in which Strategic Advisers, or any person controlling, controlled by, or under common control with Strategic Advisers, acts as both investment adviser and broker for a client, and as broker for the party or parties on the other side of the trade. Agency cross trades will be executed in accordance with Section 206(3) of the Advisers Act, requiring written consent, confirmations of transactions, annual reporting, and compliance procedures. In addition, to the extent permitted by law and applicable policies and procedures, Strategic Advisers may effect “advisor cross trades” for Program Accounts when Strategic Advisers believes such trades are in the best interest of all clients involved. Advisor cross trades are trades in which Strategic Advisers, or an affiliate, acts as investment adviser to both clients involved in the trade. Advisor cross trades will be done through a book-entry transfer, either directly or through a broker-dealer (including FBS or NFS), based on one or more third-party pricing services and/or actual market bids.

Soft Dollars

Strategic Advisers does not have a soft dollar program.

Client-Directed Brokerage Activities

During your participation in the Program, your Program Account will not be available for brokerage activities outside of the activities directed by Strategic Advisers, including, but not limited to, margin trading or trading of securities by you or any of your designated agents.

REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

Ongoing Review and Adjustments of Program Accounts

Periodically, market conditions and/or an upturn or downturn in a particular security may cause a “drift” in a client’s investment portfolio away from the long-term risk level associated with the client’s Program Account. Strategic Advisers may choose to rebalance a client’s Program Account to bring it back in line with the Account Asset Allocation. The number of times a Program Account is rebalanced will vary based on economic and market conditions, as well as changes in the attractiveness or appropriateness of specific funds or managers. Strategic Advisers may also modify the funds held in a Program Account to accommodate new fund allocations and fund closures.

In managing Program Accounts, Strategic Advisers may decide to adjust allocations for a number of reasons, including, but not limited to, the following:

- The weighting of a particular asset class, sector, or individual security that Strategic Advisers believes has too much or too little representation in a Program Account;
- Changes in the fundamental attractiveness or appropriateness of a particular mutual fund, ETP, or security;
- Changes in a client’s Profile Information and any consequent changes to an associated investment strategy;
• Deposit/withdrawal of cash or securities into a Program Account;
• Accommodating mutual fund or ETP closures or limitations; or
• For Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts, certain changes in the client’s tax situation or in the tax treatment of the investments in the Tax-Sensitive Program Account.

For Program Accounts, other than Tax-Sensitive and BDIP Program Accounts, Strategic Advisers’ investment management team will make decisions regarding reallocations within the model portfolio upon which such Program Account is invested. These decisions are based on the investment management team’s assessment of market and economic conditions and potential investment opportunities. Each model portfolio will be rebalanced periodically. Strategic Advisers will generally trade a Program Account when the model portfolio to which it is aligned is changed, subject to any restrictions a client may request. The Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds are reviewed daily and assets within the Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds are reallocated based on the discretion of the applicable fund’s portfolio managers. As a result, reallocation activity applicable to such a Program Account’s assets invested in the Fidelity Program Dedicated Funds may take place at the fund level, rather than directly in a client’s Program Account.

Generally, Strategic Advisers reviews and adjusts account holdings in Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts as needed, based on the criteria listed above, with additional consideration given to the potential impact of federal income taxes. Periodically, Strategic Advisers will evaluate a client’s Tax-Sensitive Program Account with respect to a variety of factors to determine whether the Tax-Sensitive Program Account may benefit from trading that day. Strategic Advisers does not anticipate that each Tax-Sensitive Program Account will be traded each day. Rather, Strategic Advisers’ proprietary account evaluation system monitors each Tax-Sensitive Program Account periodically to identify those accounts that may benefit from trading, and Strategic Advisers then evaluates those Tax-Sensitive Program Accounts to determine if trading is required.

In determining whether a Program Account requires trading on a given day, Strategic Advisers relies on the prior night’s closing values of the securities held in a Program Account. In general, Strategic Advisers does not attempt to conduct intraday account evaluations, and Strategic Advisers does not generally attempt to time intraday price fluctuations in its decisions to buy or sell securities.

In certain instances, a “do-not-trade” restriction may be placed on a Program Account for reasons including, but not limited to, processing a trade correction, client request, or to comply with a court order. For the period when a do-not-trade restriction is on a Program Account, Strategic Advisers will suspend management of the Program Account and will not monitor the Program Account for potential buys and sells of securities. Additionally, in certain instances, deposits to a Program Account will not be invested and withdrawal requests will not be processed during a do-not-trade period. Strategic Advisers is not held responsible for any market loss experienced as a result of a do-not-trade restriction.

Clients may receive periodic performance summaries or similar reports that detail the performance of a client’s Program Account(s) and summarize the market activity during the quarter. Industry standards are applied when calculating performance information. FPWA also makes available account performance information on a password-protected website.

CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

Strategic Advisers and its affiliates are compensated for providing services, including for investment management, distribution, transfer agency, servicing, and custodial services, to certain Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs and other investments in which Program Accounts are invested. These entities include Strategic Advisers, FMRCo and their affiliates as the investment adviser for the Fidelity funds; FDC as the underwriter of the Fidelity funds; and Fidelity Investments Institutional Operations Company, Inc. (“FIIOC”), as transfer agent for the Fidelity funds, servicing agent for non-Fidelity funds, and recordkeeper of certain workplace savings plans. Strategic Advisers’ affiliates also receive compensation and other benefits in connection with portfolio transactions effected on behalf of the Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs and other investments. FMRCo and its affiliates also obtain brokerage or research services, consistent with Section 28(e) of the Exchange Act, from broker-dealers in connection with the execution of the Fidelity funds’ portfolio security transactions.

FBS and NFS receive compensation for executing portfolio transactions and providing, among other things, clearance, settlement, custodial and other services to Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, ETPs and other investments, and NFS is anticipated to provide securities lending agent services to certain Fidelity funds beginning in the second quarter of 2019 for which it will receive compensation. FBS, NFS and FIOIC also offer Fidelity’s mutual fund supermarket, the Fidelity FundsNetwork, and provide shareholder and other services to participating mutual funds for which FBS, NFS and FIOIC receive compensation including with respect to those mutual funds in which Program Accounts are invested.

The compensation described above that is retained by Strategic Advisers or its affiliates as a result of investments by the Program Accounts in Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds and ETPs will be included in the Credit Amount (as described in “Fees and Compensation”), which reduces the gross advisory fee. However, to the extent that Strategic Advisers or its affiliates, including FBS, NFS or FIOIC, retain compensation that is neither a direct result of, nor directly derived from, investments by the Program Accounts, such compensation is not included in the Credit Amount, does not reduce the gross advisory fee and will be retained by Strategic Advisers or its affiliates. Receipt of compensation in addition to the gross advisory fee creates a financial incentive for Strategic Advisers and its affiliates to select investments that will increase such compensation. Strategic Advisers seeks to address this financial conflict of interest through the application of the Credit Amount that will reduce the gross advisory fee, as applicable, and through personnel compensation arrangements (including those of Strategic Advisers’ investment professionals and the Fidelity representatives) that are not differentiated based on the investments or share classes selected for Program Accounts. Strategic Advisers and its affiliates have also implemented controls reasonably designed to prevent the receipt of compensation from affecting the nature of the advice provided to Program Accounts.

See “Fees and Compensation” for additional information.

Client referrals are provided by affiliated entities, including FBS, or other affiliates, pursuant to referral agreements where applicable. As noted above in “Information about Representative Compensation,” some Fidelity representatives receive economic incentives in addition to their normal compensation for distributing and supporting Program Accounts.

CUSTODY

Strategic Advisers does not maintain custody for Program clients’ assets in connection with the discretionary portfolio management services it provides to Program Accounts. In order to participate in the Program, clients must establish and maintain a brokerage account with FBS, a registered broker-dealer and an affiliate of FPWA and Strategic Advisers. NFS, an affiliate of FBS, FPWA, and Strategic Advisers, has custody of client assets and will perform certain account services, including the implementation of trading instructions, as well as custodial and related services. Certain personnel of FPWA, Strategic Advisers, FBS, and NFS share premises and have common supervision. Clients should carefully review all statements and other communications received from FBS and NFS.

INVESTMENT DISCRETION

Strategic Advisers’ portfolio management services for Program Accounts include the discretionary authority to determine which securities to purchase or sell, the total amount of such purchases and sales, and the brokers or dealers through which transactions are effected in Program Accounts. Such discretionary authority is subject to certain limits, including the Program’s investment objectives and policies, regulatory constraints, and those investment restrictions we may agree to impose based on a client’s request in accordance with applicable laws.
VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Strategic Advisers does not generally acquire authority for, or exercise, proxy voting on a client’s behalf in connection with managing Program Accounts. Unless a client directly directs Strategic Advisers otherwise pursuant to the paragraph below, the client will receive proxy materials directly from the funds, the issuer of the individual security (or their service providers) or NFS. Strategic Advisers will not advise clients on the voting of proxies. Clients must exercise any proxy voting directly.

Notwithstanding the information above, a client may request that Strategic Advisers act as agent for receipt of certain legally required communications, including prospectuses, annual and semiannual reports, and proxy materials for mutual funds and ETPs that are not managed by FMRCo or an affiliate thereof, and other individual securities. A client may also direct Strategic Advisers to act as agent to vote proxies on the client’s behalf for the funds and other securities held in Program Accounts. For Fidelity funds, clients may instruct Strategic Advisers to vote proxies of a Fidelity fund in the same proportion as the vote of all other holders of such Fidelity fund. For non-Fidelity funds and other securities, clients may instruct Strategic Advisers to vote proxies pursuant to the directions provided by Institutional Shareholder Services, Inc. (“ISS”), an unaffiliated third-party proxy advisory services provider. Please note that, unlike general proxy votes, Strategic Advisers generally treats certain voluntary corporate actions as subject to the exercise of its discretion as an investment manager. Accordingly, Strategic Advisers will make decisions with respect to voluntary corporate actions directly as part of the investment management services it provides to Program Accounts. However, clients retain the right to make elections with respect to voluntary corporate actions if they so choose; if a client would like to make an election with respect to a security subject to a voluntary corporate action, the client may contact us to transfer the security out of the client’s Program Account.

In connection with this election, clients must acknowledge that Strategic Advisers is acting solely at the client’s direction, and does not exercise discretion with respect to the voting of any proxy. Clients receive information about ISS’s proxy voting policies in the summary of ISS’s proxy voting guidelines included with the enrollment materials. To obtain a copy of ISS’s summary proxy voting guidelines or information on how investment proxies were voted, contact a Fidelity representative.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Clients of the Program do not pay Strategic Advisers for the services it provides under the Program. Strategic Advisers does not solicit prepayment of client fees. Strategic Advisers is not aware of any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet contractual commitments to clients.
