About This Agreement

Fidelity's Commitments to You
Under this agreement, Fidelity has certain rights and responsibilities. When we accept your account application, we are agreeing to maintain an account for you. We also agree to serve as your broker and to provide various services and features, as described on the following pages.

Your Commitments to Fidelity
Many of these commitments are spelled out more completely on the following pages, but, in general, when you sign the account application, you agree:

- to accept full responsibility for the content and accuracy of all authorized instructions placed on your account, for all results and consequences of these instructions, including all investment decisions, trading orders, tax consequences, and all instructions placed by you or any other person you authorize
- to maintain enough assets in your account to satisfy all obligations as they become due, and to understand that we may take whatever steps we consider necessary to resolve unpaid debts or other obligations
- to use the account and its features according to this agreement and for your own personal purposes only
- to use from time to time the account or some other account with us that is linked or used as a complement to your Fidelity Cash Management Account to buy, sell, or hold securities
- if you use any of our electronic services or if you provide us with your email address, to have your personal financial information transmitted electronically, and to receive your initial notice of our privacy policy electronically
- to keep secure your account number, username, password, and any devices, such as mobile phones or pagers, you use in connection with your account
- to let us monitor and/or record any phone conversations with you
- to let us create a digital representation of your voice, a “voiceprint,” that may be used for verifying your identity when you contact Fidelity
- to let us verify the information you provide and obtain credit reports and other credit-related information about you at any time, such as payment and employment information, and to permit any third-party financial services provider providing services for this account to do likewise
- to resolve disputes concerning your relationship with us (other than class actions) through arbitration rather than in a court of law
- if applying for any other optional features or services, to understand and accept the terms associated with them
- to protect Fidelity against losses arising from your usage of market data and other information provided by third parties
- to understand that, whenever you invest in, or exchange into, any mutual fund, you are responsible for reading that fund’s prospectus, including its description of the fund, the fund’s fees and charges, and the operation of the fund
- to notify us in writing any time there is a material change in your financial circumstances or investment objectives

Who’s Who in This Agreement
In this document, “Fidelity,” “us,” and “we” include Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC (“FBS”), and their employees, agents and representatives, as the context may require. “You,” “You” and “account owner” or “account owners” refer to all owners, collectively and individually.

Things to Know

Before Using Your Account
The Fidelity® Cash Management Account is an alternative for your spending and short-term savings needs. The Fidelity® Cash Management Account offers the ability to purchase and hold mutual funds, CDs, and other short-term instruments in addition to FDIC-eligible cash core.

As the account owner, you are responsible for monitoring your account and for all decisions and instructions concerning your account, including any securities you buy, sell, or hold in your account. Before you start using your account or any account feature, it’s essential that you understand the terms, conditions, and policies that apply. A joint owner can make transactions in a joint account (including removing all the assets) without the approval of the other owner(s) and without any obligation on Fidelity’s part to question the action.

There are certain situations in which it is essential that you get in touch with us.

You need to tell us immediately if any of the following occur:

- You notice incorrect or suspicious account activity.
- Your financial circumstances or goals change.
- You notice incorrect or suspicious account activity.
- You notice incorrect or suspicious account activity.

Disputes between you and Fidelity are settled by arbitration.
Since this is a brokerage account, the parties agree to waive their rights to sue in court, and agree to abide by the findings of an arbitration panel established in accordance with a brokerage industry self-regulatory organization.

Account Features

The Fidelity Cash Management Account offers a range of integrated financial services. Certain features and services are included with your account. Additional features may be added either when you open your account or later. Features and associated fees may vary depending on your relationship with Fidelity.

Standard Features

The features below come standard with your Fidelity Cash Management Account. For more information on these features, please visit Fidelity.com/cashmanagement. Also, please note that each of the features offered below is subject to the approval of Fidelity Investments and/or the third-party provider of the specified service.

Industry regulations require that Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC (FBS) and its clearing firm, National Financial Services LLC (NFS), allocate between them certain functions regarding the administration of your account. The following is a summary of the allocation of those functions performed by FBS and NFS.

FBS is responsible for:
1. Obtaining and verifying account information and documentation.
2. Opening, approving, and monitoring trading and other activity in your account.
3. Accepting orders and other instructions from you regarding your account, and for promptly and accurately transmitting those orders and instructions to NFS.
4. Determining the suitability of investment recommendations and advice, and that those persons placing instructions for your account are authorized to do so.
5. Operating and supervising your account and its own activities in compliance with applicable laws and regulations, including compliance with federal, industry, and NFS margin rules pertaining to your margin account and for advising you of margin requirements.
6. Maintaining the required books and records for the services it performs.
7. Investigating and responding to any questions or complaints you have about your account(s), confirmations, your periodic statements, or any other matter related to your account(s). FBS will notify NFS with respect to matters involving services performed by NFS.

NFS is responsible, at the direction of FBS, for:
1. Obtaining and verifying account information and documentation.
2. The execution of securities transactions, in the event NFS accepts orders from FBS.
3. Preparing and sending transaction confirmations and periodic statements of your account (unless FBS has undertaken to do so).
4. Acting as custodian for funds and securities received by NFS on your behalf.
5. Following the instructions of FBS with respect to transactions and the receipt and delivery of funds and securities for your account.
6. Extending margin credit for purchasing or carrying securities on margin.
7. Maintaining the required books and records for the services it performs.

Core Account

Your Fidelity Cash Management Account includes a core account that holds assets awaiting investment or withdrawal. Your core account utilizes a core position referred to as the “FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep” or the “Sweep.” In connection with the Sweep, cash contributed to or received in your Account is held in the core account (the “Cash Balance”). Once your Cash Balance has been swept into a Program Bank, it is referred to as your “Program Deposit.” Your Program Deposit is also automatically withdrawn from (“swept out of”) a Program Deposit Account back into your Fidelity Cash Management Account, as necessary. Your Program Deposit will earn interest, provided that the accrued interest for a given day is at least half a cent.

In addition to the information provided above, more details about the Sweep can be found in the Fidelity Cash Management Account FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep Program Disclosure document, which is attached hereto, incorporated herein, and forms a part of this Agreement.

If You Reside Outside the United States

If we determine that you reside outside the United States in any country other than Canada (as described in the Residing Outside the United States section of this Agreement), either at the time you open your Fidelity Cash Management Account, or at any point in time after you open your Fidelity Cash Management Account (e.g., as a result of a subsequent move), your core account will not operate as described above. Instead, during such time as we believe you reside outside the United States, the following will apply:

1. New Fidelity Accounts.

The process of sweeping the Intra-day Free Credit Balance to your core account (as described in the Credits to Your Account section of this Agreement) will be suspended. As a result, all uninvested cash in your Fidelity Cash Management Account will be held in the Intra-day Free Credit Balance. The Sweep will remain your core position, but there will be no Cash Balance to be swept into a Program Deposit Account. You will also be unable to make any changes to the Sweep, including making any changes to the Program Bank List assigned to your Fidelity Cash Management Account.

2. Existing Fidelity Accounts.

The process of sweeping the Intra-day Free Credit Balance to your core account will be suspended. This will not affect any existing Program Deposit at a Program Bank. You will be able to liquidate that position should you elect to do so, but you will generally be unable to add to it for so long as we believe you reside outside the 1Fidelity may share the following pieces of information (as available): account owner name, address, phone number(s), Social Security number, date of birth, and Fidelity Cash Management Account number with PNC Bank, N.A., for the Fidelity Visa® Gold Check Card, and with Fiserv for the Fidelity BillPay® service.

2The available options for your core position could also include a money market mutual fund or a taxable interest-bearing option. More details about the money market mutual fund can be found in the fund’s prospectus, which will be made available to you when applicable. The taxable interest-bearing option represents funds payable to you on demand by Fidelity. Subject to applicable law, Fidelity may use these funds in connection with its business. Fidelity may, but is not required to, pay you interest on these funds. Interest, if paid, will be based upon a schedule set by Fidelity, which may change from time to time in Fidelity’s sole discretion. Fidelity reserves the right to make changes to the available options and/or the options available to you.

FIDELITY® CASH MANAGEMENT ACCOUNT AGREEMENT
United States, except for the deposit of accrued interest, which will continue to occur as described in the Fidelity Cash Management Account FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep Program Disclosure document. As a result, all new deposits to your Fidelity Cash Management Account, or settlement proceeds from transactions in your Fidelity Cash Management Account, will be held in the Intra-day Free Credit Balance. The Sweep will remain your core position, but you will be unable to make any changes to it, including making any changes to the Program Bank List assigned to your Fidelity Cash Management Account.

Should we determine you no longer reside outside the United States, if your Fidelity Cash Management Account was subject to a suspension, this suspension will be lifted; the Intra-day Free Credit Balance will be swept to your core account and held in the core position, and, going forward, your Fidelity Cash Management Account will operate as otherwise described herein.

Checkwriting

Unlimited, free checkwriting is available through your Fidelity Cash Management Account. All registered owners requesting checkwriting must complete and sign a checkwriting form. Previously completed checkwriting forms for any other accounts in your name may not be used in conjunction with this account. Checks paid will be reported on your account statement. Note that cancelled checks are not returned to you, although check imaging may be available should you prefer to receive your statements in the mail. You can indicate your preference for check images now on the Fidelity Cash Management Account Application or later on the checkwriting form.

If you view your account statements online, you can click on links of cleared checks within the section for Fidelity Cash Management Account to view an image of these checks.

Fidelity Visa® Gold Check Card (Debit/ATM)

Fidelity currently covers the annual fee for the Fidelity Visa® Gold Check Card debit card. This card is issued by PNC Bank, N.A., and administered by BNY Mellon Investment Servicing Trust Company, neither of which is affiliated with Fidelity Investments. The Fidelity Check Card Agreement and Disclosure Statement will accompany your debit card. With this debit card, you can make withdrawals from any ATM machine displaying the Visa,® Plus,® or Star® logos or make purchases wherever Visa is accepted. All Fidelity ATM withdrawal fees will be waived. In addition, your Fidelity Cash Management Account will be reimbursed for ATM fees charged by other institutions wherever your card is accepted. Reimbursements will be credited the same day the ATM fee is debited from your account. Use of the card and right to reimbursements are subject to Fidelity’s policy on abusive and excessive use of features, explained in this agreement. Please note that there is a foreign transaction fee of 1% that is not waived, which will be included in the amount charged to your account.

Please see the Fidelity Check Card Agreement and Disclosure Statement for additional information on the use of the card. The third-party trademarks appearing herein are the property of their respective owners.

Fidelity BillPay®

Fidelity BillPay® is a free service that allows you to easily manage your bills via Fidelity.com. You can set up one-time, future-dated, and recurring payments. The “Quick Add” feature allows you to easily add many payees by simply entering a phone number. The service offers quicker payment options, including “Same Day” and “Next Day” processing for certain bills. You can also sign up to receive eBills (electronic versions of your bills), alerts, and bill reminders to inform you of upcoming bills.

Please see the separate Fidelity BillPay® Service Agreement at Fidelity.com/goto/billpay for complete details.

Statements

We will send an account statement to the address of record:

- every calendar quarter, at a minimum
- for any month when you have cash management or, possibly, trading activity

Your account statements will show all activity in your account for the stated period, including cash balances, credits, debits to your account, and any securities transactions, as well as all fees paid directly from your account.

To receive your account statements and confirmations faster, you can arrange to have them delivered electronically instead of through the mail. This option is free, and you can switch to or from it at any time upon request.

If you live with immediate family members who also have eligible Fidelity accounts, you can “household” those accounts to potentially qualify for enhanced services and features. You may elect to have accounts householded by completing the information requested at https://www.fidelity.com/customer-service/how-to-relationship-householding. You may also elect to have your statements combined or householded by completing the information requested at https://www.fidelity.com/customer-service/how-to-combine-statements. By electing to participate in householding, you agree that Fidelity may provide the employers of any householded account holders with account statements, trade confirmations, or other documents as required by applicable regulations.

Additional Features

Transferring Money Electronically

Fidelity offers two methods to transfer money electronically between your Fidelity Cash Management Account and an eligible bank or financial institution.

Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT) allows you to transfer money on a one-time or recurring basis between your Fidelity Cash Management Account and an eligible bank or financial institution. To use this service, you must first provide instructions to link your Fidelity account to your external account(s). Fidelity does not charge a fee for this service, but your institution may.

Bank wires allow you to request one-time transfers of cash between your Fidelity Cash Management Account and an eligible bank or financial institution. Fidelity may charge a fee to send a wire, as explained in the Additional Information (Fees) section. Also, other institutions may charge a fee to send or receive a wire.

Direct Deposit

Direct deposit allows you to have all or a portion of your paycheck or other regular payment deposited electronically into your Fidelity Cash Management Account. Direct deposit must be established at the payment initiator such as your employer. Please visit Fidelity.com/depositincome for forms and additional information.

Fidelity MyVoice℠

Fidelity MyVoice℠ is a free security service. When you call Fidelity, you’ll no longer have to enter PINs or passwords because Fidelity MyVoice helps you interact with us securely and more conveniently. Through natural conversation, MyVoice will detect and verify your voiceprint in the first few moments of the call. A voiceprint is a combination of your physical and behavioral voice patterns. Like a fingerprint, it’s unique to you.
Mobile Phone Number Security Check
In order to protect your account, we may review any changes made to your mobile phone number to ensure that a newly entered number is not associated with any known fraudulent activity. You authorize your mobile provider to disclose information about your mobile phone account, such as subscriber status, payment method (whether your account is prepaid or is subject to monthly billing), and device details, if available, to support identity verification and fraud avoidance, and for other security purposes for the duration of your business relationship with us. This information may also be shared with certain third-party companies whose services we utilize for security to support your transactions with us, and for identity verification and fraud avoidance purposes.

Accessing Your Account
There are a variety of ways in which you can access your account, place an order, get market and investment information, or contact Fidelity. Online choices include Fidelity.com, alerts, and other interactive services for computers and handheld devices. Some of these services are offered by Fidelity directly; others are offered by outside providers.

Telephone choices include Fidelity Automated Service Telephone (FAST®) as well as Fidelity’s telephone representatives. Both services are generally available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Please note that our telephone lines may be recorded, and, by signing the account application, you are consenting to such recording. If you do not wish to be recorded, you should contact Fidelity via another means. You can also speak with a Fidelity Representative in person, during business hours, at any of our Fidelity Investor Centers around the country.

Account Policies

Account Registration

Joint Registration
With joint registration accounts, any obligations or liabilities resulting from one account owner’s actions are joint and several (i.e., are the responsibility of each account owner, both individually and jointly). We may enforce this agreement against all account owners or against any owner individually. Each owner of a joint account may act as if he or she were the sole owner of the account, with no further notice or approval necessary from any joint owner. For example, a joint owner can write checks, withdraw assets, transfer assets into or out of the account, arrange for account statements to be sent only to him or her, view all historical account documents, or change the account’s features and services (although no account owner may remove another’s name from the account). A joint owner can also buy and sell securities.

In addition, with joint accounts, the principle of “notice to one is notice to all” applies. We are legally considered to have fulfilled an obligation to the account if we fulfill it with respect to just one account owner (e.g., sending statements or other required communications to just one account owner). Note also that we have no obligation to question the purpose or propriety of any instruction of a joint account owner or authorized person that appears to be authentic, or to let other owners know about any changes an owner has made to the account, unless we have received written notice to the contrary from an authorized person and in good order, at the address referenced earlier under “How to Contact Us.” We do reserve the right to require, at any time, the written consent of all account owners and/or authorized persons before acting on an instruction from any account owner or authorized person, but we use this right only at our own discretion and for our own protection.

Laws covering joint or community property vary by state. You are responsible for verifying that the joint registration you choose is valid in your state. You may want to consult an attorney if you have specific circumstances or questions. For joint tenants with rights of survivorship on the death of an account owner, the entire interest in the account generally goes to the surviving account owner(s), on the same terms and conditions. For tenants in common, a deceased account owner’s interest (which equals that of the other account owner’s) unless specified otherwise) goes to that account owner’s legal representative. Tenants in common are responsible for maintaining records of the percentages of ownership.

Trust Accounts
Applying for a trust account is considered to be a statement from the trustees that they are authorized, under the terms of the trust and applicable law, to open a Fidelity Cash Management Account, make transactions, add or change any account features, and direct trading and other activities, on behalf of the trust, that their transactions will be governed by the terms and conditions of all applicable trust agreements; and that Fidelity is authorized to accept instructions from any of the trustees. Applying for a trust account is also considered to be a statement that all trustees certify that Fidelity can rely on instructions from any one trustee to represent the unanimous consent of all trustees for actions taken on this account. All trustees on the account may be required to complete and sign the Fidelity Trustee Certification Form.

Account Usage

First Use of FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep Program
Making your first deposit into your Fidelity Cash Management Account is your acknowledgment that you have read the full disclosure for the FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep Program, as defined in the “Fidelity Cash Management Account FDIC Insured Deposit Sweep Program Disclosures” document.

Prohibited Uses and Actions
You are strictly prohibited from using your account in conjunction with any business as a broker-dealer, trader, agent, or advisor in any type of security, commodity, future, or contract, or in any business or organization connected with individuals performing these functions. You are also prohibited from publicizing or sharing with anyone any information you obtain through your account (such as securities quotes). In addition, be aware that we may freeze your account or suspend certain privileges, features, or services at any time without notice.

Intended Use
It is expected that your Fidelity Cash Management Account be used for holding short-term assets for spending and short-term savings purposes. As a brokerage account, it provides the opportunity to purchase a range of short-term investment vehicles that may be suitable for these purposes, including money market or other mutual funds, CDs, and fixed-income instruments.

How Transactions Are Settled

Credits to Your Account
During normal hours when the market is open (“Intra-day”), any new deposit to your Fidelity Cash Management Account, or settlement proceeds from a transaction in your Fidelity Cash Management Account are held as a free credit balance (the “Intra-day Free Credit Balance”). Each business day, the Intra-day Free Credit Balance is automatically swept into your core account, where it is handled as described in the Core Account section of this Agreement, except as otherwise noted therein. Like any free credit balance, the Intra-day Free Credit Balance represents an amount payable to you on demand by Fidelity. Subject to applicable law, Fidelity may use this free credit balance in connection with its business. Fidelity may, but is not required to, pay you interest on this free credit balance, provided that the accrued interest for a given...
Debits to Your Account

All debit items are paid daily to the extent that sufficient funds are available. Note that debits for the payment of any account service fees owed to Fidelity will be given priority over other debits, such as checks or debit card transactions.

As an account owner, you are responsible for satisfying all debits on your account, including any debit balance outstanding after all assets have been removed from an account, and any costs (such as legal fees) that we incur in collecting the debit. You are also responsible for ensuring that checks issued to you representing distributions from your account are promptly presented for payment. If a check issued to you from your account remains uncashed and outstanding for at least six months, you authorize and instruct Fidelity, in its sole discretion, to cancel the check and return the underlying proceeds to you by depositing the proceeds into your account.

To help ensure the proper discharge of debits, it is our policy (unless we agree to do otherwise) to turn to the following sources, in this order, when settling debits against your account:

- the Intra-day Free Credit Balance
- the core account
- any shares of a Fidelity money market fund held in the account that maintain a stable (i.e., $1.00/share) net asset value and are not subject to a liquidity fee or a similar fee or assessment
- if you have a margin account, any margin credit available
- In addition to the foregoing, we may turn to the following sources:

  - any shares of a Fidelity money market fund held in another nonretirement account with the same registration (which you authorize us to sell for this purpose when you sign the application)
  - any securities in any other account at Fidelity in which you have an interest

If you want to opt out of the foregoing, please contact Fidelity for more information.

In the event that your account does not contain sufficient cash, Fidelity may liquidate securities to satisfy a court order, levy, or any other legal process payment. For more information on your Cash Balance, please refer to the Fidelity Cash Management Account FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep Program Disclosures document.

Resolving Unpaid Obligations or Other Obligations

If certain of the sources listed above in “Debits to Your Account” (which are defined as your “available balance” for purposes of this agreement) are not enough to satisfy a given debit, we reserve the right to decline to honor the debit, which may result in fees (such as a returned check fee) or other consequences for you.

Note that at any time we may reduce your available balance to cover obligations that have occurred but have not yet been debited, including but not limited to withholding taxes that should have been deducted from your account.

It is important to understand that we do have additional choices for resolving unsatisfied obligations. Like many other securities brokers, we reserve the right to sell or otherwise use assets in an account to discharge any obligations the account owner(s) may have to us (including unmatured and contingent obligations), and to do so without further notice or demand. For example, if you have bought securities but not paid for them, we may sell them ourselves and use the proceeds to settle the purchase.

We may also use property to satisfy an obligation, whether or not we have made advances in connection with this property. This provision extends to any property held by you or carried for any account of yours, including any credit balances, assets, and contracts, as well as shares of any mutual funds or other investment companies for which Fidelity or an affiliate provides management or administrative services.

Although Fidelity may use other methods when it determines they may be more appropriate, Fidelity reserves the right to use the provisions described in this section at any time, except in cases involving retirement accounts when these provisions would conflict with the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) or the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, both as amended.

Policies on Optional Features

Fidelity Visa® Gold Check Card and Fidelity BillPay® Service

These features are available with Fidelity Cash Management Accounts that have individual or joint registrations. Some debit cards may be available for trust registrations. On joint accounts, a co-owner may apply for an additional debit card in his or her own name. As an account owner, you are responsible for all usage of these features.

Each of these features is covered by its own customer agreement, which collectively are incorporated herein by reference (are legally considered part of this agreement). The appropriate agreement will be provided to you when you apply for a feature. For each feature you choose, it is your responsibility to understand the terms of its agreement before you begin using the feature. In the case of a debit card, it is also your responsibility to advise any other cardholders on your account that these agreements will apply to them.

Total debit card and Fidelity BillPay® transactions generally are limited to your available balance. Debit card purchase and transaction limits may apply and are outlined in the Fidelity Check Card Agreement and Disclosure Statement.

Note that on any account, we typically reduce your available balance at the time you make a debit card transaction, rather than waiting for the transaction to be posted to your account.

Electronic Funds Transfers (EFTs) and Bank Wires

Electronic funds transfers (EFTs) are normally completed within three business days of your request. Money deposited via EFT is normally not available for withdrawal for four to six business days. An electronic funds transfer may be for between $10 and $100,000. For the EFT feature to be established, at least one common name must match exactly between your Fidelity and bank accounts. To send and receive EFT transactions, your bank must be a member of the Automated Clearing House (ACH) system. Bank wire transfers to your bank are normally processed the same day, depending on the time received. A wire normally may be for between $10,000 and $999,999.

For electronic fund transfers, you hereby grant us limited power of attorney for purposes of liquidating any cash in your accounts (with the right to make any necessary substitutions), and direct us to accept any orders to make payments to an authorized bank account and to fulfill these orders through the liquidation of cash in your account. You agree that the above appointments and authorizations will continue until we receive written notice of any change, although we may cease to act as agents to the above appointments on 30 days’ written notice to your account’s address of record. You further understand that Fidelity may notify you electronically or by phone when the EFT feature is set up or EFT transactions are initiated on your account.

Abusive and Excessive Use of Features
Fidelity reserves the right to revoke account features for usage that Fidelity, at its sole discretion, deems to be abusive or excessive. Examples of such behavior include but are not limited to:

- Performing or allowing transactions in which you or a related party receive financial benefit at the expense of Fidelity or its provider(s)
- Excessive ATM fees as a result of multiple, small withdrawals in a 24-hour period
- Allowing a person who is not a listed owner of your Fidelity Cash Management Account to use features such as your debit card or checkwriting
- Using the Fidelity Cash Management Account in a manner other than its stated intended use

Closing Your Account
We can close your account, or terminate any optional feature, at any time, for any reason, and without prior notice. You can close your account, or terminate any optional feature, by notifying us in writing or calling us on a recorded line. We may automatically close accounts with zero balances. Regardless of how or when your account is closed, you will remain responsible for all charges, debit items, or other transactions you initiated or authorized, whether arising before or after termination. Note that a final disbursement of assets may be delayed until any remaining issues have been resolved. If your account has a balance of less than $100 and no account activity has occurred for a six-month period, you authorize Fidelity to liquidate the assets in the account, send a check for all the proceeds and any other cash to your address of record, and close your account.

Monitoring Your Account and Notifying Us of Errors
As an account owner, you are responsible for monitoring your account. This includes making sure that you are receiving account statements and any other expected communications. It also includes reviewing these documents to see that information about your account is accurate and contains nothing suspicious. Note that so long as we send communications to you at the physical or electronic address of record given on the application, or to any other address given to us by an authorized person, the communications are legally presumed to have been delivered, whether you actually receive them or not. In addition, confirmations and statements are legally presumed to be accurate unless you specifically tell us otherwise.

If you have not received a communication you expected, or if you have a question or believe you have found an error in any communication from us, telephone us immediately, then follow up with written confirmation.

You agree to notify us immediately if:

- you received confirmation of an order you did not place, or any similar conflicting report
- there is any other type of discrepancy or suspicious or unexplained occurrence relating to your account
- your personal identification number (PIN) or access device is lost or stolen, or you believe someone has been using it without authorization

If any of these conditions occurs and you fail to notify us immediately, neither we nor any other Fidelity affiliate will be liable for any consequences. If you do immediately notify us, our liability is limited, as described in this agreement.

With any feature or service that is governed by a separate agreement (such as a debit card agreement), note that different policies concerning error resolution and liability may apply, as described in the separate agreement.

Complying with Applicable Laws and Regulations
In keeping with federal and state laws, and with securities industry regulations, you agree to notify us in writing if any of the following occurs (with all terms in quotes defined as being within the meaning of the Securities Act of 1933):

- if you are, or later become, an “associated person” of a stock exchange, a member firm of an exchange or the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA), a municipal securities dealer, or Fidelity or any Fidelity “affiliate”
- if you are, or later become, an “affiliate” or “control person” with respect to any security held in your account
- if any transactions in your account regarding securities whose resale, transfer, delivery, or negotiation must be reported under state or federal laws

You also agree:

- if you are, or later become, an “associated person” of a member firm of an exchange or FINRA, that you have obtained consent of the “employer member,” and you authorize Fidelity upon request by an employer member to transmit copies of confirmations and statements, or the transactional data contained therein, with respect to all of your accounts, including all accounts subject to FINRA rules and unit investment trusts, municipal fund securities, and qualified programs pursuant to Section 529 of the Internal Revenue Code.

- to ensure that your account transactions comply with all applicable laws and regulations, understanding that any transaction subject to special conditions may be delayed until those conditions are met

- to comply with all policies and procedures concerning “restricted” and “control” securities that we may require

- to comply with any insider trading policies that may apply to you as an employee or “affiliate” of the issuer of a security

We will assume that any securities or transactions in your account are not subject to the laws and regulations regarding “restricted” and “control” securities unless you specifically tell us otherwise.
Limits to Our Responsibility

Although we strive to ensure the quality and reliability of our services, including electronic services (such as online, wireless, and automated telephone services), neither we nor any third party whose services we arrange for is responsible for the availability, accuracy, timeliness, completeness, or security of any service related to your account.

You therefore agree that we are not responsible for any losses you incur (meaning claims, damages, actions, demands, investment losses, or other losses, as well as any costs, charges, attorneys’ fees, or other fees and expenses) as a result of any of the following:

• cancellation of an accepted trade in which Fidelity reasonably determines, in its sole discretion, that there was a data, clerical, or other similar error in the handling or processing of the trade, including, but not limited to, situations where a third-party caused such error
• the acceptance and processing of any order placed on your account, whether received electronically or through other means, so long as the order reasonably appears to be authentic
• cancellation of an accepted/executed trade when dealers and/or contra-parties notify Fidelity that they are unable to deliver the bonds because the order was filled in error
• investment decisions or instructions placed on your account, or other such actions attributable to you or any authorized person
• occurrences related to governments or markets, such as restrictions, suspensions of trading, or high market volatility or trading volumes
• uncontrollable circumstances in the world at large, such as wars, earthquakes, power outages, or unusual weather conditions
• occurrences related to computers and communications, such as a network or systems failure, a message interception, or an instance of unauthorized access or breach of security
• with respect to electronically provided market data or other information provided by third parties, any flaw in the timing, transmission, receipt, or substance (such as any inaccuracy, error, delay, omission, or sequence error, any nonperformance, or any interruption of information), regardless of who or what has caused it to occur
• the storage and use of information about you and your account(s) by our systems and transmission of this information between you and us; these activities occur entirely at your risk
• the usage of information received by you or us through any electronic services
• telephone requests for redemptions, so long as we transmit the proceeds to you or the bank account number identified
• difficulties receiving information or accessing your account that are due to the equipment you use, including difficulties resulting from technical incompatibilities, malfunctions, inherent limitations, or interruptions in service
• any checks or other debits to your account that are not honored because the account has insufficient funds

If any service failure is determined to be our responsibility, we will be liable only for whatever benefit you would have realized up to the time by which you should have notified us, as specified earlier in “Monitoring Your Account and Notifying Us of Errors.” Fidelity reserves the right to restrict your account from withdrawals and/or trades if there is a reasonable suspicion of fraud, diminished capacity, or inappropriate activity. Fidelity also reserves the right to restrict your account from withdrawals and/or trades if Fidelity is put on reasonable notice that the ownership of some or all of the assets in the account is in dispute.

Indemnification

You agree to indemnify us from, and hold us harmless for, any losses (as defined in “Limits to Our Responsibility”) resulting from your actions or failures to act, whether intentional or not, including losses resulting from actions taken by third parties.

If you use any third-party services or devices in connection with your account (such as Internet service or wireless devices), all service agreements and payments for these are your responsibility. Rates and terms are set by the service providers and are not Fidelity’s responsibility.

Note that beyond taking reasonable steps to verify the authenticity of instructions, we have no obligation to inquire into the purpose, wisdom, or propriety of any instruction we receive.

Terms Concerning This Agreement

Applicability

This agreement is the only agreement between you and us concerning its subject matter, and covers all accounts that you, at whatever time, open, reopen, or have opened with us. In addition, if you have already entered into any agreements concerning services or features that relate to this account (such as the usage agreement for Fidelity.com), or if you do so in the future, this agreement incorporates by reference the terms, conditions, and policies of those agreements. In the case of any conflict between this agreement and an agreement for a particular service or feature, the service or feature agreement will prevail.

Governing Laws and Policies

This agreement and its enforcement are governed by the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, except with respect to its conflicts-of-law provisions.

All transactions through Fidelity are subject to the rules and customs of the marketplace where they are executed, as well as to applicable state and federal laws. In addition, the services below are subject to the following laws and policies:

• Securities trades: any Fidelity trading policies and limitations that are in effect at the time
• Online services: the license or usage terms posted online
• Checkwriting: the applicable provisions of the Uniform Commercial Code and the terms governing the service

Modification and Enforcement

We may amend or terminate this agreement at any time. This may include changing, dropping, or adding fees and policies, changing features and services or the entities that provide them (such as the bank that provides clearing services for checkwriting), and limiting the usage or availability of any feature or service, within the limits of applicable laws and regulations. Although it is our policy to send notice to account owners of any material changes, we are not obligated to do so in most cases. Outside of changes originating in these ways, no provision of this agreement can be amended or waived except in writing by an authorized representative of Fidelity.

Fidelity may transfer its interests in this account or agreement to any of its successors and assigns, whether by merger, consolidation, or otherwise. You may not transfer your interests in your account or agreement (including de facto transferal by giving a nonowner access to the account using a password) except with the prior written approval of Fidelity, or through inheritance, corporate dissolution, or similar circumstance, as allowed by law, in which case any rights and obligations in existence at the time will accrue to, and be binding on, your heirs, executors, administrators, successors, or assigns.
FIDELITY® CASH MANAGEMENT ACCOUNT AGREEMENT

We may enforce this agreement against any and all account owners. In addition, any securities exchanges or associations that provide information to you through your account may enforce the terms of this agreement directly against you. Although we may not always enforce certain provisions of this agreement, we retain our full right to do so at any time.

If any provision of this agreement is found to be in conflict with applicable laws, rules, or regulations, either present or future, that provision will be enforced to the maximum extent allowable, or made to conform, as the case may be. However, the remainder of this agreement will remain fully in effect.

Fidelity may use the electronically stored copy of your (or your agent’s) signature, any written instructions or authorizations, the account application, and this agreement as the true, complete, valid, authentic, and enforceable record, admissible in judicial, administrative, or arbitration proceedings to the same extent as if the documents and records were originally generated and maintained in printed form. You agree to not contest the admissibility or enforceability of the electronically stored copies of such documents in any proceeding between you and Fidelity.

Things to Know
If You Trade or Hold Securities in Your Fidelity Cash Management Account

Trading in your account involves risks for which you assume full responsibility
Placing orders during times when markets are volatile can be risky, particularly when you are using electronic services to access information or to place orders through your Fidelity Cash Management Account.

A joint owner can place any order in a joint account (including removing all the assets) without the approval of the other owner(s) and without any obligation on Fidelity’s part to question the action.

Commitments to and from Fidelity
When you sign the account application, you are also agreeing:
• to accept full responsibility for the content and accuracy of all authorized instructions placed on your account and for all results and consequences of these instructions; this includes all investment decisions and trading orders, and all instructions placed by you or any other person you authorize
• to understand that, whenever you invest in, or exchange into, any mutual fund, you are responsible for obtaining and reading that fund’s prospectus, including its description of the fund, the fund’s fees and charges, and the operation of the fund

We agree to serve as your broker and, subject to our acceptance of an authorized order, to buy, sell, or otherwise dispose of securities for you according to your instructions.

Features
Securities Trading
Because the Fidelity Cash Management Account is a brokerage account, it allows for trading and holding of many securities that are publicly traded in the United States, such as most securities in these categories:
• stocks, including common and preferred
• bonds, including corporate, municipal, and government
• convertible securities
• mutual funds, including Fidelity funds, non-Fidelity funds, and closed-end funds such as exchange-traded funds (ETFs)
• certificates of deposit (CDs)
• unit investment trusts (UITs)

In addition, the account can be used to trade certain foreign securities (either directly or as depository receipts) and precious metals. Note that foreign jurisdictions may impose additional fees, taxes, or other charges from time to time, which may not be reflected in the fee schedule in effect at that time. By placing a trade in a foreign security, you agree to pay any such applicable fees, taxes, or other charges, regardless of notice. In addition, participation in shareholder voting and/or dividend payments in non-U.S. securities is subject to the rules and regulations of the non-U.S. market in which the security was issued and may require the disclosure of your personal information, including but not limited to, name, address, and country of citizenship and/or residence. Fidelity may make non-personal historical trading data available to institutional clients on an aggregate basis for analysis purposes (such as trending). Some investments that cannot be traded through your Fidelity Cash Management Account are futures, commodities, and currencies.

When you place a trade, you may have a choice of order types, including market orders, limit orders, stop orders, and stop-limit orders. To find out how these different types of orders work, and for other helpful information, go to Fidelity.com/brokerage. Margin and option trading features are not allowed on the Fidelity Cash Management Account.

Trading Confirmations
We will send a confirmation for every securities transaction in your account. The only exceptions are automatic investments, automatic withdrawals, dividend reinvestments, and transactions that involve only your core position or the Intra-day Free Credit Balance; for these activities, your regular account statement serves in place of a confirmation.

Account Protection
Any securities that may be held in your account are protected in accordance with the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC) for up to $500,000 (including up to $250,000 for uninvested cash). We also provide additional coverage above these limits. Neither coverage protects against a decline in the value of your securities, nor does either coverage extend to certain securities that are considered ineligible for coverage. For more details on SIPC, or to request a SIPC brochure, visit sipc.org or call 202-371-8300.

Please note that until funds are swept to a Program Bank, they are covered by SIPC. Once funds are swept to a Program Bank, they are no longer covered by SIPC, but they are eligible for FDIC insurance subject to FDIC insurance coverage limits. For more information about the Bank Sweep, please refer to the Fidelity® Cash Management Account FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep Program Disclosure document.

Dividend Reinvestment
In addition to reinvestment of mutual fund dividends, reinvestment of dividends from eligible equities and closed-end funds is an option for most Fidelity accounts, including retirement accounts and those with margin. You can choose to have the service apply to all eligible securities in your Fidelity Cash Management Account, or only to certain ones. You can request this feature by phone, online, or in writing (for all securities or for individual ones).
Account Policies Regarding Trading

Account Usage

Limits on Mutual Fund Trades
Because excessive trading in mutual fund shares can be detrimental to a fund and its shareholders, we may block account owners or accounts that engage in excessive trading from making further transactions in fund shares. A block on trading fund shares may be temporary or permanent, and may apply only to certain mutual funds or to all mutual funds, including Fidelity funds.

The decision to impose a block may originate with a mutual fund company or may be made by Fidelity at the brokerage account level, if Fidelity believes such a block is warranted. To see a given fund company’s definition of “excessive trading,” check the fund’s prospectus.

In addition, we may restrict or limit any transaction in any mutual fund or other investment company that we or an affiliate manages or advises if we believe the transaction could adversely affect the investment company or its shareholders.

Transaction Settlement Deadlines
Generally, you need to pay for all transactions or deliver all securities by 2 p.m. Eastern time on the settlement date. We reserve the right to cancel or liquidate, at your risk, any transaction not settled in a timely way.

Dividend Reinvestment
With this feature, all dividends paid by eligible securities that you designate for reinvestment are automatically reinvested in additional shares of the same security. (For purposes of the Dividend Reinvestment Program, “dividends” means cash dividends and capital gain distributions, late ex-dividend payments, and special dividend payments, but not cash-in-lieu payments.) In designating any eligible security for reinvestment, you authorize us to purchase shares of that security for your account.

To be eligible for this feature, a security must satisfy all of the following:
• be a closed-end fund, common stock, or foreign security (generally American depositary receipts [ADRs])
• be margin eligible (as defined by NFS)
• be held in street name by NFS (or at a securities depository on its behalf)
• not be held as a short position

Dividends are reinvested on shares that satisfy all of the following:
• the security is eligible
• you own the shares on the dividend record date
• you own the shares on the dividend payable date (even if you sell them that day)
• your position in the security has been settled on or before the dividend record date
• the shares are designated for reinvestment as of 9 p.m. Eastern time on the dividend record date

Shares purchased through the Dividend Reinvestment Program will generally be placed in your account as of the dividend payable date. Note, however, that the stock price at which your reinvestment occurs is not necessarily the same as the price that is in effect on the dividend payable date. This is because we generally buy the shares of domestic companies two business days before the dividend payable date, at the market price(s) in effect at the time, in order to help ensure that we have shares on hand to place in your account on the dividend payable date. Other factors may require the purchase of the shares on a different business day, which may be before, on, or after the dividend payable date, e.g., dividends of foreign companies. Also, shares of securities that have an irregular ex-dividend date are purchased on the ex-dividend date and placed in your account on the third business day following the ex-dividend date. Therefore, you may end up receiving more or fewer shares than if your dividend had been reinvested on the dividend payable date itself, particularly if there are significant changes in the market price of the security just before its dividend payable date. If several purchase transactions are necessary to reinvest your and other customers’ dividends in a particular security, the price per share will be the weighted average price per share for all shares purchased. If sufficient shares are unavailable in the market to satisfy all customers’ requirements for dividend reinvestment for a security, the dividend will not be reinvested. The reinvestment of dividends may be delayed in certain circumstances. NFS reserves the right to suspend or completely remove securities from participation in dividend reinvestment and credit such dividends in cash at any time without notice.

Automatic reinvestments often involve purchase of fractional shares, calculated to three decimal places. Partial shares pay prorated dividends and can be sold if you sell your entire share position, and will be liquidated automatically in transfers and certain other situations, but otherwise typically cannot be sold.

Although for dividend reinvestments your regular account statement takes the place of a trade confirmation, you can generally obtain status information the day after the reinvestment date by contacting Fidelity.

If you transfer or reregister your account within Fidelity (for example, by changing from a Traditional IRA to a Roth IRA), you need to redesignate any securities whose dividends you want reinvested.

Wherever possible, we will buy reinvestment shares through a program offered by the Depository Trust Company (DTC) that offers a share price discount (generally up to 5%). To find out which securities are currently available through DTC, contact Fidelity. Note that the availability of any given security through this program may change without notice. Also note that DTC program transactions take longer to process: although the transactions are effective as of the dividend payable date, they are generally not posted to your account until 10 to 15 days later.

Note that dividend reinvestment does not ensure a profit on your investments and does not protect against loss in declining markets. If you sell your dividend-generating shares before the posting date, the dividend will not be reinvested.

Precious Metals
Precious metals are not covered by SIPC account protection, but are insured by the depository at market value if stored through us. When trading precious metals, note that because they can experience sudden and rapid price changes, they are risky as investments, and we cannot guarantee you an advantageous price when you trade them. If you take delivery of precious metals, delivery charges, sales and use taxes, and storage fees will apply.

Non-Transferable Securities
In the event that any securities in your account become non-transferable, NFS may remove them from your account without prior notice. Non-transferable securities are those where transfer agent services have not been available for six or more years. A lack of transfer agent services may be due to a number of reasons, including that the issuer of such securities may no longer be in business and may even be insolvent. NFS may remove non-transferable securities from your account pursuant to a Securities and Exchange Commission approved program that permits our custodian for these securities to no longer maintain the physical certificates representing the positions in these securities. Please note the following:
• There are no known markets for these securities.
• We are unable to deliver certificates to you representing these positions.

FIDELITY® CASH MANAGEMENT ACCOUNT AGREEMENT
• These transactions will not appear on Form 1099 or any other tax reporting form.
• If the position is held in a retirement account, we will not report the removal of the position as a taxable distribution, and any reinstatement of the position will not be reported as a contribution.
• If transfer agent services become available sometime in the future, NFS will use its best efforts to have the position reinstated in your account.
• Positions removed from your account will appear on your next available account statement following such removal as an “Expired” transaction.

By opening and maintaining an account with us, you consent to our actions as we have described them above, and you waive any claims against us arising out of such actions. You also understand that we do not provide tax advice concerning your account or any securities that may be the subject of removal from or reinstatement into your account, and you agree to consult your own tax advisor concerning any tax implications that may arise as a result of any of these circumstances.

Monitoring Your Account and Notifying Us of Trading Errors
As an account owner, you are responsible for monitoring your account. This includes making sure that you are receiving transaction confirmations and any other expected communications. You agree to notify us immediately if:

• you placed an order electronically but did not receive a reference number for it (an electronic order is not considered received until we have issued an acknowledgment);
• you received confirmation of an order you did not place, or any similar conflicting report;
• there is any other type of discrepancy or suspicious or unexplained occurrence relating to your account.

Trading in Volatile Markets — Understand the Risks
Volatile markets can present higher trading risks, especially when you are using electronic services to access information or place orders. Ways to manage some of these risks include:

• Consider placing limit orders instead of market orders. Ways to manage some of these risks include:

  • Be aware that quotes, order executions, and execution reports could be delayed.
  • During periods of heavy trading or volatility, quantities that are provided as “real time” may be stale—even if they appear not to be—and you may not receive every quote update. Security prices can change dramatically during such delays.
  • When cancelling an order, be sure your original order is actually cancelled before entering a replacement order. Order cancellations are performed on a “best efforts” basis. There is no guarantee that an open order can be cancelled, in whole or in part.
  • Don’t rely on a receipt for your cancellation order: that order may not be immediately cancelled. You can check the status of your order at any time by calling us or accessing your account.
  • Use other ways to access Fidelity during peak volume times.

Phone or computer capacity limitations could mean delays in getting information or placing orders. If you are having problems with one method, try another. The chances of encountering these risks are higher for individuals using day-trading strategies. In part for this reason, Fidelity does not promote day-trading strategies. For more information on trading risks and how to manage them, visit Fidelity.com or contact Fidelity.

Service Providers
Brokerage account services are provided by NFS, an affiliate of FBS. Bonds may be traded through NFS (which may choose to act as principal or agent) or through external dealers. Services available through this account are the property of Fidelity or the third parties from which Fidelity has obtained rights. Market data provided by national securities exchanges or associations remain the property of those entities.

Money Market Fund Investments

You could lose money by investing in a money market fund. Unless the fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it cannot guarantee it will do so. An investment in the fund is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. The fund’s sponsor has no legal obligation to provide financial support to money market funds, and you should not expect that the sponsor will provide financial support to the fund at any time.

Credit-Related Information
For the name and address of any credit reporting agency from which we or a third-party provider has obtained information about you, send a written request to us or the third-party provider, as applicable.

If you apply for a debit card, we may share information about you and other card applicants with card issuers, which are not affiliated with Fidelity. If you don’t want a card issuer to share information about you with other entities in turn, it is your responsibility to inform the card issuer of this.

Consumer Reporting Agencies
We may report information about you to credit bureaus. Late payments, missed payments, or other defaults on your account may be reflected in your credit report. We may also provide information about you and your account as well as the activity in your account to one or more consumer report-

FBS, NFS, or their affiliates may receive compensation in connection with the purchase and/or ongoing maintenance of positions in certain mutual funds in your account. FBS, NFS, or their affiliates may also receive compensation for such things as systems development necessary to establish a fund on their systems, a fund’s attendance at events for FBS clients and/or representatives and opportunities for the fund to promote its products and services. This compensation may take the form of sales loads and 12b-1 fees described in the prospectus, as well as program participation and maintenance fees, and infrastructure support paid by the fund, its investment advisor, or an affiliate. Additional information about the source(s) and amount(s) of compensation, as well as other remuneration received by FBS and/or NFS will be furnished to you upon written request.

Certain Fees We Receive
Fidelity and its affiliates receive fees for providing certain products and services. Following is a partial list of affiliates and the services they are paid for:

- Fidelity Management & Research Company—fee for serving as an investment advisor to the Fidelity funds.
- Fidelity will receive a fee from banks supporting the sweep. For more information, please refer to the “Benefits to Fidelity and Others” section within “Details” of the Fidelity Cash Management Account FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep Program Disclosures document.
- FBS and/or NFS—receives remuneration, compensation, or other consideration (such as financial credits or reciprocal business) for directing orders in certain securities to particular broker/dealers or market centers for execution. In addition to sales loads and 12b-1 fees described in the prospectus, FBS and/or NFS receives other compensation in connection with the purchase of certain mutual fund shares and/or the ongoing maintenance of those positions in your brokerage account. This additional compensation may be paid by the mutual fund, its investment advisor, or one of affiliates. FBS, NFS, or their affiliates may receive compensation in connection with the purchase and/or ongoing maintenance of positions in certain mutual funds in your account. FBS, NFS, or their affiliates may also receive compensation for such things as systems development necessary to establish a fund on their systems, a fund’s attendance at events for FBS clients and/or representatives and opportunities for the fund to promote its products and services. This compensation may take the form of sales loads and 12b-1 fees described in the prospectus, as well as program participation and maintenance fees, and infrastructure support paid by the fund, its investment advisor, or an affiliate. Additional information about the source(s) and amount(s) of compensation, as well as other remuneration received by FBS and/or NFS will be furnished to you upon written request.

Redemption Features/Callable Securities Lottery
Certain debt securities may have redemption features in addition to those disclosed on the trade confirmation, including, for example, special mandatory redemption features such as sinking funds provisions. It is the customer’s obligation to review all disclosure documents the customer may receive, and to understand the risks of calls or early redemptions, which may affect yield. Issuers may, from time to time, publish notices of offers to redeem callable securities within limited time, price, and tender parameters. NFS is not obligated to notify customers of such published calls. Information about whether a municipal security is callable can be accessed via the Municipal Securities Rulemaking Board’s Electronic Municipal Market Access (“EMMA”) website (www.emma.msrb.org).

When street name or bearer securities held for you are subject to a partial call or partial redemption by the issuer, NFS may or may not receive an allocation of called/redeemed securities by the issuer, transfer agent, and/or depository. If NFS is allocated a portion of the called/redeemed securities, NFS utilizes an impartial lottery allocation system, in accordance with applicable rules, that randomly selects the securities within customer accounts that will be called/redeemed. NFS’ allocations are not made on a pro rata basis and it is possible for you to receive a full or partial allocation, or no allocation. You have the right to withdraw uncalled fully paid securities at any time prior to the cutoff date and time established by the issuer, transfer agent, and/or depository with respect to the partial call, and also to withdraw excess margin securities, provided your account is not subject to restriction under the Federal Reserve’s Regulation T or such withdrawal will not cause an undermargined condition. If you have bought or sold a security, and prior to the settlement of your trade, the issuer initiates a call of the security, NFS reserves the right to cancel your trade. Customers are responsible for covering any outstanding short positions, as well as any other resulting costs in their account, that result from the lottery. For more information and an example of the impartial lottery process, please go to: http://personal.fidelity.com/products/fixedincome/FI_Common_Risk.shtml.

Texas House Bill 1454 “Designated Representative”
For Texas residents (or those using a Texas address as a legal address), under Texas House Bill 1454 Act No. 350, you, as an account owner of shares of a mutual fund, may designate a representative for the purpose of receiving a due diligence notice; however, you are not required to designate a representative. If you add a designated representative, you acknowledge that:

- Fidelity is required to mail written notice to the representative, in addition to mailing the notice to the owner, upon presumption of abandonment of the account.
- The designated representative does not have any rights to the mutual fund shares and may not access the shares.

The process by which you select a designated representative is done through a written form, which may be accessed online or requested by phone.

Wisconsin Marital Property Act
Married Wisconsin residents should be aware that no provision of any marital property agreement, unilateral agreement, or court decree under Wisconsin’s Marital Property Act will adversely affect a creditor’s interest unless, prior to the time credit is granted, the creditor is furnished a copy of, or given complete information about, that agreement or decree.

Residing Outside the United States
If we determine that you reside outside the United States, you will be subject to certain limitations. While we generally make this determination by looking at the address information on our books and records (including the addresses maintained by the account owner and certain individuals with control over the account), we reserve the right to consider other information when making this determination and/or subjecting you to these limitations.

Generally speaking, regardless of where you reside, you will be subject to certain limitations. These include, but are not limited to, the following: (i) we will provide you with only ministerial or administrative services, which means that, among other things, our representatives will not engage in discussions with you about such topics as asset allocation, income planning, or portfolio composition; and (ii) you will not be permitted to purchase additional shares of any U.S. mutual fund (except pursuant to a dividend reinvestment program or in other limited circumstances), which among other things will affect the operation of your core account (please refer to the Core Account section of this Agreement for further details).

In addition to the foregoing, depending on where you reside, you may be subject to additional restrictions (for example, margin lending or options trading may not be permitted) up to and including restrictions that will prevent you from making additional deposits or purchasing additional securities positions (i.e., you will be prohibited from doing anything in your account other than selling your existing holdings and withdrawing the proceeds).

Notwithstanding the above, special rules govern your relationship with us if you live in Canada. Because of this, and because every situation is unique, you should contact Fidelity if you have questions about how you may be affected. If you notify us that you do not reside outside the U.S., these limitations may be lifted.

Unclaimed Property

Your account balance and certain uncashed checks issued from your account may be transferred to a state unclaimed property administrator if no activity occurs in the account or the check remains outstanding within the time period specified by the applicable state law.

FINRA BrokerCheck

As part of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) BrokerCheck program, you have access to the FINRA BrokerCheck hotline at 800-289-9999 and the FINRA website at finra.org. You can call or email your inquiries and request a brochure that includes information detailing the BrokerCheck program.

MSRB Investor Brochure

Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC is registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and the Municipal Securities Rulemaking Board (MSRB). An investor brochure may be obtained at msrb.org that describes the protections that may be provided by the MSRB and how to file a complaint with an appropriate regulatory authority.
Resolving Disputes — Arbitration

This agreement contains a predispute arbitration clause. Under this clause, which you agree to when you sign your account application, you and Fidelity agree as follows:

A. All parties to this agreement are giving up the right to sue each other in court, including the right to a trial by jury, except as provided by the rules of the arbitration forum in which a claim is filed.

B. Arbitration awards are generally final and binding; a party’s ability to have a court reverse or modify an arbitration award is very limited.

C. The ability of the parties to obtain documents, witness statements, and other discovery is generally more limited in arbitration than in court proceedings.

D. The arbitrators do not have to explain the reason(s) for their award unless, in an eligible case, a joint request for an explained decision has been submitted by all parties to the panel at least 20 days prior to the first scheduled hearing date.

E. The panel of arbitrators may include a minority of arbitrators who were or are affiliated with the securities industry.

F. The rules of some arbitration forums may impose time limits for bringing a claim in arbitration. In some cases, a claim that is ineligible for arbitration may be brought in court.

G. The rules of the arbitration forum in which the claim is filed, and any amendments thereto, shall be incorporated into this agreement.

All controversies that may arise between you and us concerning any subject matter, issue, or circumstance whatsoever (including, but not limited to, controversies concerning any account, order, distribution, rollover, advice interaction, or transaction, or the continuation, performance, interpretation, or breach of this or any other agreement between you and us, whether entered into or arising before, on, or after the date this account is opened) shall be determined by arbitration in accordance with the rules then prevailing of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) or any United States securities self-regulatory organization or United States securities exchange of which the person, entity, or entities against whom the claim is made is a member, as you may designate. If you commence arbitration through a United States self-regulatory organization or securities exchange and the rules of that organization or exchange fail to be applied for any reason, then you shall commence arbitration with any other United States securities self-regulatory organization or United States securities exchange of which the person, entity, or entities against whom the claim is made is a member. If you do not notify us in writing of your designation within five (5) days after such failure or after you receive from us a written demand for arbitration, then you authorize us to make such designation on your behalf. The commencement of arbitration through a particular self-regulatory organization or securities exchange is not integral to the underlying agreement to arbitrate. You understand that judgment upon any arbitration award may be entered in any court of competent jurisdiction.

No person shall bring a putative or certified class action to arbitration, or seek to enforce any predispute arbitration agreement against any person who has initiated in court a putative class action, or who is a member of a putative class action who has not opted out of the class with respect to any claims encompassed by the putative class action until (i) the class certification is denied; or (ii) the class is decertified; or (iii) the customer is excluded from the class by the court. Such forbearance to enforce an agreement to arbitrate shall not constitute a waiver of any rights under this agreement except to the extent stated herein.
Fidelity® Cash Management Account FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep Program Disclosure

Summary
This document provides important information about the FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep Program offered in connection with the Fidelity® Cash Management Account (the “Account”). If you have questions or need additional information, you can call a Fidelity Representative at 800-544-6666.

How It Works
Your Fidelity® Cash Management Account utilizes a core account. Uninvested balances in your core account will be held in a core position called the “FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep” (the “Sweep”). Cash contributed to or received in your Account is held in the core account (the “Cash Balance”). On the next business day (not including bank holidays or days on which the New York Stock Exchange is closed, such as Good Friday) after receipt, Cash Balances are automatically “swept into” an FDIC-insured interest-bearing account (a “Program Deposit Account”) at one or more participating banks (each a “Program Bank”). A hierarchical list of Program Banks will be assigned to your Account (the “Program Bank List”) and the first bank on your Program Bank List will be designated as your “Primary Program Bank.” Cash Balances up to the Maximum Deposit Limit (as further defined below) will be swept to your Primary Program Bank. The additional Program Banks, if any, on your Program Bank List will be available to accept excess Cash Balances in the event that you reach the Maximum Deposit Limit at your Primary Program Bank. The Program Deposit Account is also automatically withdrawn from (“swept out of”) a Program Deposit Account back into your Fidelity Cash Management Account as necessary. In this document, the sweep process between your Fidelity Cash Management Account and the Program Deposit Account is referred to as the “Program.” The Program is only available to account owners of Fidelity Cash Management Accounts registered in the name of individuals or trusts, but only if all the beneficiaries of that trust are natural persons.

You will be informed of the Program Bank List assigned to your Account. If you open a new Account, you will receive this information in connection with the account opening process. For more information about the method used to generate your Account’s Program Bank List, please refer to the “Details” section of this document.

Program Deposit Accounts are established on behalf of you and other Fidelity customers who participate in the Program. Although Fidelity will sweep your Cash Balance into a Program Deposit Account at a Program Bank, you will only have access to your Cash Balance through your Fidelity Cash Management Account. Please call a Fidelity Representative with questions on accessing your Cash Balance. You cannot make withdrawals from the Program Deposit Account, even if you contact the Program Bank. A full list of current Program Banks can be found on our Web site at Fidelity.com/FCMACoreBanks or by calling a Fidelity Representative. Once your Account is established, you will have the ability to modify the Program Bank List assigned to your Account by opting out of one or more of the Program Banks. You may also select a different Program Bank List if one is available. To discuss either possibility, please contact a Fidelity Representative.

Fidelity has the right to limit the amount of your Cash Balance that is swept into a Program Deposit Account, or to move your Cash Balance to another Program Bank if Fidelity determines that such action is necessary to protect your funds, or in the event that a Program Bank is not able or willing to take additional deposits. Please consult the “Details” section for further important information, as such action may affect your effective rate of return as well as eligibility for FDIC insurance.
Interest Rates

You will earn interest on your Program Deposit. The rate of interest varies over time. The rate may be tiered based on the balance of your FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep plus the value of any additional eligible accounts or assets held at Fidelity that in the future may be added for purposes of qualifying for a particular interest rate tier ("Eligible Assets").

The interest rate for each tier is based on a number of factors, including general economic and business conditions. Interest on Program Deposits will be paid by the Program Bank. Customers with higher Eligible Assets generally will receive higher interest rates on their Program Deposits than customers with lower Eligible Assets.

Fidelity offers similar programs to account owners who maintain other types of accounts ("Other Accounts"). These Other Accounts currently include Health Savings Accounts (HSAs) and certain individual retirement accounts (IRAs), but this may change over time without notice to you. While the same Program Bank may participate in the Program as well as the programs for these Other Accounts, the interest rate paid by a Program Bank in connection with the Program may be different from that paid by the same Program Bank in connection with similar programs offered to account owners who maintain Other Accounts with Fidelity.

Over any given period, the interest rates on the Program Deposits may be lower than the rate of return on similar non-FDIC-insured investments or deposit accounts offered outside of the Program. To compare current rates of return between the Program Deposit in your Fidelity Cash Management Account and similar, non-FDIC-insured cash balance options available at Fidelity, please visit Fidelity.com/FCMACoreRates.

Interest rates, tier levels, and Eligible Assets may be changed at any time and without prior notice to you. Current interest rates and annual percentage yields (APYs) for Program Deposits and a description of any assets at Fidelity that currently qualify as Eligible Assets can be found at Fidelity.com/FCMA or by calling a Fidelity Representative at 800-544-6666. Interest on your Program Deposit accrues daily, is compounded monthly, and will be reflected on your Fidelity Cash Management Account statement as of the last business day of each month. Your continued use of your Fidelity Cash Management Account after Fidelity posts on its Web site any change to applicable interest rates, tier levels, and/or Eligible Assets shall constitute your consent to any such change.

Important information regarding the calculation and payment of interest on your Program Deposit, including how your Eligible Assets will be determined, can be found in the section entitled “Interest” or by calling 800-544-6666.

FDIC Insurance Coverage/SIPC Protection

Your Program Deposit, together with any non-Program deposits you may have at the same Program Bank, which include deposits arising in connection with similar programs offered to account owners who maintain Other Accounts with Fidelity, as well as savings and checking accounts, money market deposit accounts, and CDs issued directly to you by the Program Bank, are insured by the FDIC, an independent agency of the U.S. government, up to a standard maximum amount in accordance with the rules of the FDIC. The applicable FDIC insurance limit depends upon the ownership capacity in which you hold the Program Deposit, and the relevant limit will be applied to all deposits (including Program Deposits and non-Program deposits) held in the same ownership capacity by you at the same Program Bank. Deposits held in different ownership capacities, as provided in FDIC rules, are insured separately. Single ownership accounts are insured up to $250,000 and each co-owner’s share of joint accounts is insured up to $250,000. For retirement accounts such as IRAs, the limit is typically $250,000. HSAs, unless they possess special features, are considered to be held in the same right and capacity as other single ownership accounts of a depositor, and are combined with such other single ownership accounts, for the purpose of applying the $250,000 maximum limit. Special rules apply to insurance of trust deposits. If you have both a Program Deposit and non-Program deposits at the same Program Bank held in the same right and legal capacity as your Program Deposit, you must aggregate all such deposits with your Program Deposit for purposes of determining FDIC coverage. If your total funds on deposit at a Program Bank exceed the applicable FDIC insurance limit, the FDIC will not insure your funds in excess of the limit.

For more information, please refer to the “Details” section. For more information, visit fdic.gov or call 877-ASK-FDIC (877-275-3342).
Fidelity is not responsible for monitoring the amount of your Program Deposit in any Program Bank to determine whether it exceeds the limit of available FDIC insurance. You are responsible for monitoring the total amount of your assets on deposit with each Program Bank (including amounts in other accounts at the Program Bank held in the same right and legal capacity) in order to determine the extent of deposit insurance coverage available to you on those deposits, including your Program Deposit. If you are a trustee, you are responsible for determining the application of the insurance rules for you and your beneficiaries.

Any securities held in the Fidelity Cash Management Account (as opposed to the Program Deposit) are investment products and as such: (i) are not insured by the FDIC; (ii) carry no bank or government guarantees; and (iii) have associated risks.

By investing in securities you can lose your money, including the principal amount you invested. Securities held at Fidelity (as well as funds held at Fidelity and not at a Program Bank) are covered by the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC). SIPC currently protects these funds and securities up to $500,000, including $250,000 for claims for cash. SIPC coverage does not cover fluctuations in the market value of your investments. Your Cash Balance is only eligible for FDIC insurance once it becomes a Program Deposit held by a Program Bank. Your Cash Balance while held by Fidelity and in transit to or from a Program Bank is not FDIC-insured but is covered by SIPC. For more information regarding FDIC insurance, please consult fdic.gov. For more information regarding SIPC coverage, including the SIPC brochure, please consult sipc.org or call 202-371-8300.

Financial Benefits to Fidelity and Others

Fidelity receives a fee from each Program Bank in connection with the Program. This fee is typically based on the average aggregate daily Program Deposits on deposit with the Program Bank. The fee paid to Fidelity may vary from Program Bank to Program Bank. The fee paid to Fidelity by such Program Bank may also be different from that paid by the same Program Bank in connection with similar programs offered to account owners who maintain Other Accounts with Fidelity. In addition, the fee paid to Fidelity by each Program Bank may vary over time and may range up to an annualized rate equivalent to 4% of the balance of all Program Deposits held at that Program Bank.

The Program Administrator will receive a service fee from Fidelity, which will range between 0.010% and 0.035% of the aggregate daily balance of all Program Deposits. This fee is compensation for technology and accounting services rendered and assistance with regulatory compliance. Fidelity may be a customer of the Program Administrator or a Program Bank and may have other financial interactions with the Program Administrator or a Program Bank. Additionally, the Program Administrator may also be a Program Bank, in which case Fidelity will receive the fee described above. Finally, Fidelity may in the future designate one of its affiliates as the Program Administrator or a Program Bank or both.

Details

In this Disclosure Statement, “Fidelity,” “us,” and “we” include Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC (FBS) and National Financial Services LLC (NFS), as the context may require. “You” and “account owner” refer to the owner indicated on the account application; for any account with more than one owner or authorized person (such as a joint or trust account), “you” and “account owner” or “account owners” refer to all owners, collectively and individually.

Overview

Under the Program, the Cash Balance in your Fidelity Cash Management Account is automatically swept into and out of an interest-bearing Program Deposit Account at one or more Program Banks with which Fidelity has contracted.

The Sweep should not be viewed as a long-term investment option. If you are interested in a long-term investment option for your Cash Balances, please consider alternatives other than the Sweep that may be better suited for such purpose.
How the Program Works

Deposits
The Cash Balance in your Fidelity Cash Management Account will be automatically swept on the next business day after receipt (not including bank holidays or days on which the New York Stock Exchange is closed, such as Good Friday) into one or more Program Deposit Accounts established by Fidelity on behalf of you and other Fidelity customers who participate in the Program at the Program Banks.

Starting with your Account's Primary Program Bank, Fidelity will sweep Cash Balances to the Program Deposit Account at such bank until the total amount of your Program Deposit at that Program Bank is equal to the Maximum Deposit Limit. If, after this process is completed, there is a remaining Cash Balance in your Account, Fidelity will sweep those funds into the next available Program Bank on your Account's Program Bank List (as more fully described below) until the total amount of your Program Deposit at that Program Bank is equal to the Maximum Deposit Limit. This process will repeat itself until either (a) there is no remaining Cash Balance in your Account or (b) a Cash Balance remains in your Account and you have Program Deposits at each available Program Bank on your Account's Program Bank List in an amount equal to the Maximum Deposit Limit, in which case the remaining Cash Balances will be swept to your Account's Primary Program Bank. Please note that if, as a result of this process, you have Program Deposits in excess of the Maximum Deposit Limit at your Account's Primary Program Bank, it is very likely that some of those funds will not be covered by FDIC insurance.

Maximum Deposit Limit
The Maximum Deposit Limit will at all times be equal to 98% of the then applicable standard maximum deposit insurance amount for a nonretirement single ownership deposit account. For example, if the standard maximum deposit insurance amount is $250,000, then the Maximum Deposit Limit is $245,000.

Withdrawals
If funds are needed to cover a debit in your Account at the end of a business day (such as to cover an ATM withdrawal or a security purchase you made in the Account), the funds will be automatically swept out of the Program Deposit Account(s) back into your Account. Funds are swept out of the Program Banks in the same order that they are swept in, starting with the Primary Program Bank (up to the amount of your Program Deposit at that bank) and then moving to the next available Program Bank on your Account's Program Bank List (as more fully described below) until either the debit is satisfied or the total amount of your Program Deposits have been swept back into your Account. Program Deposits remaining at the Program Bank(s) will not be reallocated as part of this process, so as a result, you may have less than the Maximum Deposit Limit in Program Deposits at your Account's Primary Program Bank, but still have Program Deposits equal to the Maximum Deposit Limit at other Program Banks on your Account's Program Bank List.

Interest Posting
Each month, your Account statement will reflect the interest accrued on Program Deposits at each Program Bank separately. Interest accrues daily, is compounded monthly, and posted to the Program Deposit Account on the last business day of each month. After being posted to the Program Deposit Account, interest payments are swept to your Account where they could create a Cash Balance. In the event there is a Cash Balance, it will be swept to one or more Program Banks in accordance with the deposit methodology described above.

Changes to FDIC Insurance Limits
If the standard maximum deposit insurance amount for a nonretirement single ownership deposit account increases or decreases, Fidelity will determine a new Maximum Deposit Limit as of the effective date of the change. If the standard maximum deposit insurance amount increases and you have Program Deposits at your Account's Primary Program Bank in excess of the new Maximum Deposit Limit, then Fidelity will sweep these funds into the next available Program Bank on your Program Bank List (as more fully described below), until the total amount of your Program Deposits at that Program Bank are equal to the Maximum Deposit Limit. This process will repeat itself until either (a) you no longer have Program Deposits at your Account's Primary Program Bank in excess of the new Maximum Deposit Limit or (b) you have Program Deposits at each available Program Bank on your Account’s Program Bank List in an amount equal to the Maximum Deposit Limit, in which case any excess Program Deposits will remain at your Account’s Primary Program Bank. If the standard maximum deposit insurance amount decreases,
Fidelity will redistribute all of your Program Deposits across all of the available Program Banks in your Account's Program Bank List in accordance with the deposit methodology described above. Please note that if you have Program Deposits in excess of the Maximum Deposit Limit at your Account's Primary Program Bank, it is very likely that some of those funds will not be covered by FDIC insurance.

Evidence of Ownership

No evidence of ownership of the Program Deposit Account, such as a passbook or certificate, will be issued to you. Instead, the Program Deposit Account will be evidenced by (1) a book entry on the account records of each Program Bank showing an omnibus Program Deposit Account as being held in the name of NFS for the benefit of you and other Fidelity customers that participate in the Program, and (2) records of your Program Deposit from time to time in the Program Deposit Account maintained by NFS as your custodian and recordkeeper for the Program Bank.

Program Banks

Fidelity maintains a list of Program Banks for the Program (the “Master List”). This Master List may differ from similar master lists used with Other Accounts. From time to time, a Program Bank may be added to or removed from the list. Removing a Program Bank from the Master List means that Fidelity has terminated its relationship with such Program Bank and the Program Bank no longer participates in the Program. If a Program Bank is removed from the Program, Fidelity will transfer your Program Deposit from that Program Bank into another Program Bank or Program Banks in accordance with the deposit methodology discussed above as if you had opted out of such Program Bank (as more fully described below).

Each Program Bank may accept deposits up to an aggregate deposit limit (the “Deposit Limit”), which generally caps the total amount on deposit at the Program Bank in connection with the Program as well as similar programs offered in connection with Other Accounts. The Deposit Limit is set by contract between Fidelity and the Program Bank.

Program Bank Status

A status is assigned to each Program Bank. This status, which may change daily, reflects the Program Bank’s ability to accept Program Deposits. As a general rule, a Program Bank's ability to accept Program Deposits is unrestricted except when one of the following applies:

Unavailable — A Program Bank that is unable to accept additional Program Deposits because it has reached its Deposit Limit. Characterizing a Program Bank as Unavailable will not affect existing Program Deposits at the Program Bank, but new deposits will be prohibited, except in situations where: (i) the Unavailable Program Bank is the only Program Bank on the Master Program Bank List, or (ii) the Unavailable Program Bank is the Primary Core Bank and every other Program Bank in the Program Bank List assigned to an Account is unavailable to take deposits because they are also Unavailable, have been Opted Out (as further defined below), or are Pending Activation (as further defined below).

Overflow — A Program Bank that is unable to serve as a Primary Core Bank because the total amount on deposit at the Program Bank in connection with the Program as well as in connection with similar programs offered in connection with Other Accounts is within $50,000,000 of such Program Bank’s Deposit Limit. Assigning a Program Bank an Overflow status will not affect existing Program Deposits at the Program Bank, but the Program Bank will be ineligible to serve as a Primary Core Bank except in situations where the Overflow Program Bank is the only Program Bank on the Master Program Bank List.

Pending Activation — A Program Bank that has been added to the Master Program Bank List, but is not yet available to receive Program Deposits.

Opted Out — The Account owner has elected not to utilize this Program Bank. While the Program Bank will remain on the Account’s Program Bank List, the Program Bank is not available to receive Program Deposits. This status applies only to the Account at issue and has no impact on the Program Bank's ability to accept Program Deposits in connection with the broader Program. To opt out of a Program Bank, please call a Fidelity Representative.
Program Bank List

Your Account will be assigned a Program Bank List that may contain one or more Program Banks. Your Account’s Program Bank List will be generated from the Master List. This Master List may differ from similar master lists used with Other Accounts. The hierarchy of the Program Banks on your Account’s Program Bank List reflects the order in which these Program Banks will be utilized in connection with your Account. The first bank on your Account’s Program Bank List will be designated as your Account’s Primary Program Bank. Fidelity may from time to time generate different Program Bank Lists. As a result, the Program Bank List assigned to one Account may differ from the Program Bank List assigned to another Account.

New Accounts

The Program Bank List assigned to your Account will be determined based upon the day your Account is established, and all Accounts established that day will generally be assigned the same Program Bank List. If your Account is assigned a Program Bank List that contains only a single Program Bank, then that Program Bank will be the Primary Program Bank. Please note that if this occurred and, as a result, you have Program Deposits in excess of the Maximum Deposit Limit at your Primary Program Bank, it is very likely that some of those funds will not be covered by FDIC insurance.

You will receive a New Account Profile that includes the Program Bank List assigned to your Account. You will generally not be able to modify the Program Bank List assigned to your Account or select a different Program Bank List during the account-opening process. However, once your Account is established, except as otherwise described in the Fidelity Cash Management Account Customer Agreement, you will have the ability to modify the Program Bank List assigned to your Account by opting out of one or more of the Program Banks. You may also select a different Program Bank List if one is available. To discuss either possibility, please contact a Fidelity Representative.

The Program Bank List assigned to your Account is available on Fidelity.com. To access the Program Bank List, you must log in to your Account, navigate to the “Positions” page, and then click on the “FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep” link. The status of one or more of the Program Banks on these Program Bank Lists may be reflected as “pending” for a period of time after the Program Bank List is first assigned to your Account. If you have questions about a particular Program Bank’s status, or need further information about the Program Bank List assigned to your Account, please contact a Fidelity Representative.

Changes to Program Bank Lists

Customer-Initiated Changes

Except as otherwise described in the Fidelity Cash Management Account Customer Agreement, once your Account has been established, you can modify the Program Bank List assigned to your Account by calling Fidelity and “opting out” of any one or more Program Banks on your Account’s Program Bank List, provided, however, that you must have at least one Program Bank in your Program Bank List in order to utilize the Program. By opting out of a Program Bank, you make the Program Bank inactive and ineligible or unavailable to receive Program Deposits from your Account. A Program Bank you have opted out of will still appear on the Program Bank List assigned to your Account with a designation that indicates its status. Your decision to opt out is revocable. You can call Fidelity at any time and opt back into a Program Bank, provided that the Program Bank is still participating in the Program.

Except as otherwise described in the Fidelity Cash Management Account Customer Agreement, you can call Fidelity at any time to request a different Program Bank List, if one is available. If you elect to utilize a different Program Bank List, you previously opted out of one or more Program Banks, those opt out elections will carry over to your Account’s new Program Bank List, provided, however, that because you may not opt out of the Primary Program Bank, if the Primary Program Bank on this new Program Bank List is one that you previously opted out of and you wish to maintain that election, you must utilize a different Program Bank List with a different Primary Program Bank.

If you opt out of one or more Program Banks and you currently have Program Deposits with these Program Banks, those Program Deposits will be treated as if they were a Cash Balance in your Account and reallocated to the remaining active Program Banks on your Account’s Program Bank List in accordance with the Deposit methodology described above. Likewise, if you elect to use a different Program Bank List, all your Program Deposits will be treated as if they were a Cash Balance in your Account and reallocated to the Program Banks on this new Program Bank List in accordance with the Deposit methodology described above.

Programmatic Changes

From time to time, a Program Bank may be added to or removed from a Program Bank List. New Program Banks will be added to the end of a Program Bank List and existing Program Banks being removed will be deleted from a Program Bank List. If more than one Program Bank is added at any given time, the banks will be added to the end of a Program Bank List in alphabetical order. A Program Bank List will not be reordered as a result of either the addition or removal of a Program Bank. If a Program Bank has been removed from a Program Bank List, that Program Bank will no longer be available to receive Program Deposits. If you have a Program Deposit on deposit with the removed Program Bank, Fidelity will transfer your Program Deposit from that Program Bank into the remaining Program Banks on your Account’s Program Bank List as if you had opted out of such Program Bank. In the event the Program Bank that is removed from the Program Bank List is your Primary Program Bank, then the next available Program Bank on your Account’s Program Bank List will be designated the Primary Program Bank.

Every Account must be assigned a Program Bank List with at least one available Program Bank. If the removal of a Program Bank combined with your election to opt out of one or more Program Banks results in your Account’s Program Bank List having no available Program Banks, then you direct Fidelity to (1) void your opt out election, (2) assign as your Account’s Primary Program Bank the Program Bank on your Account’s Program Bank List immediately following the Program Bank that was removed, and (3) transfer your Program Deposit from the removed Program Bank into your Account’s Primary Program Bank as if you had opted out of the removed Program Bank.

Bank Status Changes

In certain circumstances, a Program Bank that has been added to your Account’s Program Bank List will appear on your Account’s Program Bank List with a designation that indicates its status as “pending.” A pending Program Bank will not be available to receive Program Deposits until the pending designation is removed (generally thirty (30) days). However, you may elect to opt out of a pending Program Bank at any time in accordance with the process described above.

Once the status of a Program Bank changes such that it is no longer pending, any cash balances in the Account’s Primary Core Bank in excess of the Maximum Deposit Limit will be automatically swept into the newly available Program Bank in accordance with the deposit methodology discussed above.

Likewise, if the status of a Program Bank changes such that it is no longer Unavailable or Opted Out, any cash balances in the Account’s Primary Core Bank in excess of the Maximum Deposit Limit will be automatically swept into the newly unrestricted Program Bank in accordance with the deposit methodology discussed above.

Changes Affecting Your Account

Fidelity may from time to time make changes in the Program that include making Program Deposit Accounts available at banks other than the current Program Banks or shifting Program Deposits between Program Banks. Fidelity has the right to limit the amount of your Cash Balance that is swept into a Program Deposit Account or to move your Cash Balance to another Program Bank if Fidelity determines that such action is necessary to protect your funds, or in the event that a Program Bank is not able or willing to take additional deposits, a Program Bank’s participation in the Program is terminated or a Program Bank’s ongoing viability may be in question. In such case, any or all of the Cash Balance in your Fidelity Cash Management Account may be placed into a core position other than the FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep, such as a money market mutual fund, a free credit balance position, or other available cash investment vehicle. These alternative core positions would not be eligible for FDIC insurance but may be eligible for SIPC protection.

The new core position that Fidelity chooses for you may receive a lower effective rate of return. Fidelity will attempt to select an alternative core position for you that provides a rate of return that is equal to or better than the rate of return you were receiving on your Program Deposit. Fidelity, however, cannot guarantee any rate of return, including a return that is equal to or greater than your current return. Fidelity may also receive different and potentially greater compensation in connection with the alternative core position than was the case with your original Program Bank.
By signing the Fidelity Cash Management Account Application, you represent that you have read this Disclosure Statement and understand and consent to Fidelity changing your core position at its discretion to a money market mutual fund, a free credit balance position, or another cash investment vehicle, if available. You agree to hold Fidelity harmless for any actions that might result from Fidelity changing your core position, including any lower or different rate of return that may be paid by the new core position that Fidelity selects for you. You also acknowledge and agree to allow Fidelity to share personal information about you, including such things as your name, Social Security number or tax identification number, address, or date of birth, with certain entities that provide services to Fidelity in connection with the Program. These service providers, which include the Program Banks, will use such information solely to satisfy their own statutory or regulatory obligations, or obligations that attach to Fidelity.

You will be notified if we change the Program Banks into which your Cash Balance is swept. Your continued use of your Fidelity Cash Management Account after receiving notice of a change in one or more Program Banks will constitute your affirmative consent to Fidelity to the transfer of your Program Deposit into any Program Bank that Fidelity has disclosed to you. Because you are responsible for monitoring the total amount of your deposits at a Program Bank (including any Program Deposit held at such Program Bank and all deposits you may make at a Program Bank outside the Program), in order to determine the extent of FDIC insurance coverage available, you should carefully consider whether the change in the Program Bank has an impact on your deposit insurance coverage. Fidelity may add an affiliated bank to the list of Program Banks in the future, including making an affiliated bank the sole available Program Bank under the Program.

Statements and Confirmations

The statement for your Account will: (i) indicate your balance in your core account as well as your Program Deposit balance at each Program Bank as of the last business day of each monthly statement period; (ii) detail sweeps to and from your core account during the statement period; and (iii) reflect interest accrued on Program Deposits at each Program Bank separately. This information is provided in lieu of separate confirmations for each sweep into and from a Program Deposit Account. Transfers between your MMDA and Transaction sub-accounts (each of which are further described below) will not be reflected in your Fidelity Cash Management Account statements.

Access to Your Cash Balance

You may only access your Cash Balance through your Fidelity Cash Management Account. You cannot access or withdraw your Program Deposit by contacting the Program Bank directly. Your Program Deposit is also subject to legal process such as a levy or a garnishment delivered to Fidelity to the same extent as if those funds were in your Fidelity Cash Management Account.

Your Program Deposit constitutes a direct obligation of the bank to you and is not an obligation of Fidelity. Fidelity does not guarantee in any way the financial condition of the Program Banks. Under federal banking regulations, each Program Bank has the right to require seven days’ prior notice before permitting a withdrawal of any Program Deposits. Your interest in a Program Deposit Account is not transferable.

Deposit Accounts

Fidelity is taking certain steps outlined in this section to help Program Banks manage the reserves that the Federal Reserve Board requires them to maintain against certain types of deposit accounts. These steps are in accordance with established banking laws, regulations, and practices.

Each Program Bank uses one of the following two deposit account structures, either: (1) a master account with two linked legally separate sub-accounts: (a) an interest-bearing transaction sub-account, which may be a Negotiable Order of Withdrawal (“NOW” account) or a Demand Deposit Account (“DDA” account), referred to herein as a “Transaction” account, and (b) an interest-bearing savings deposit account, commonly referred to as a Money Market Deposit Account (“MMDA” account); or (2) legally separate linked Transaction and MMDA accounts. Regardless of whether the Bank utilizes structure (1) or (2) noted above, the accounts will be referred to throughout this document as, respectively, the “Transaction sub-account” and the “MMDA sub-account” and collectively the “sub-accounts,” and Program Deposits at the Program Bank will be held in the sub-accounts. Interest will accrue on the combined balance of both sub-accounts at the same rate. The Program Administrator will allocate your Program Deposit (and those of each other Fidelity customer that participates in the Program) between the Transaction sub-account and the MMDA sub-account on a daily basis. You will not have an individual Transaction sub-account or MMDA sub-account at the Program Bank but, rather, your Program Deposit will be aggregated with the Program Deposits of other Fidelity customers that participate in the Program. For ease of reference, however, the portion of your Program Deposit that is allocated to the Transaction sub-account is referred to as “your” Transaction sub-account and the portion of your Program Deposit that is allocated to the MMDA sub-account is referred to as “your” MMDA sub-account. The aggregated sub-accounts at a Program Bank are referred to as the “omnibus Transaction sub-account” and the “omnibus MMDA sub-account.” This will allow tracking and limitation of the number of withdrawals from your MMDA sub-account and, to the extent that Fidelity elects to limit such transfers from the omnibus MMDA sub-accounts that occur during any given statement cycle, will help ensure that the total number of either type of such withdrawals does not exceed the number permitted by law.

Under applicable Federal Reserve Board regulations, your Transaction sub-account is considered to be like a “transaction account” from which an unlimited number of transfers of funds (i.e., withdrawals) may be made. While there is no limit on the number of withdrawals that may be made from your Transaction sub-account, the only withdrawals that are permitted from your Transaction sub-account under the Program are (1) transfers to your MMDA sub-account (to the extent funds in your Transaction sub-account exceed any target balance that the Program Administrator and/or Program Bank may have established for that sub-account), and (2) transfers from the Transaction sub-account back to your Fidelity Cash Management Account (to the extent needed to pay for transactions in that account, such as checks you write).

Conversely, under Federal Reserve Board regulations, your MMDA sub-account is considered to be like a “savings account” from which generally no more than six transfers of funds may be made per statement cycle. The only type of withdrawal that is permitted directly from your MMDA sub-account under the Program is a transfer to your Transaction sub-account (to fund transfers from your Transaction sub-account back to your Fidelity Cash Management Account or to maintain any target balance that the Program Administrator and/or Program Bank may have established for your Transaction sub-account) and/or transfers of the remaining balance of your MMDA sub-account on the sixth transfer from the omnibus MMDA sub-account to the omnibus Transaction sub-account at a Program Bank during any given monthly statement cycle as discussed below.

Your Program Deposit will always be credited to your Transaction sub-account. However, to maximize the amount of funds that may be held in your MMDA sub-account, the Program Administrator and/or the Program Bank may from time to time establish a target balance for your Transaction sub-account. The Program Administrator may change or vary target balances at any time and from time to time. To the extent funds in your Transaction sub-account exceed any such target balance, the excess will be transferred to your MMDA sub-account unless the maximum number of transfers from your MMDA sub-account or the omnibus MMDA sub-account at a Program Bank for that monthly statement cycle have already occurred.

The target balance in your Transaction sub-account may be initially set by the Program Administrator at 100%, which would result in all funds being placed and retained in your Transaction sub-account until the Program Administrator changes the target balance, resulting in use of your MMDA sub-account, as described herein, at a later time.

Sweeps of the Program Deposit into your Fidelity Cash Management Account will be made from your Transaction sub-account. If the amount to be swept exceeds the available balance in your Transaction sub-account, funds from your MMDA sub-account will be transferred to your Transaction sub-account (up to the full balance of available funds in your MMDA sub-account) to cover the shortfall (and to replenish any target balance that the Program Administrator and/or the Program Bank may have established for your Transaction sub-account). No more than six of these transfers from your MMDA sub-account to your Transaction sub-account are permitted per monthly statement cycle. If a sixth transfer is needed, it will be for the full balance of available funds in your MMDA sub-account (but not including accrued interest). In addition, Fidelity may elect to limit the number of transfers from the omnibus MMDA sub-account to the omnibus Transaction sub-account at a Program Bank to six per monthly statement cycle. If this limitation is imposed and a sixth such transfer is needed, it will be for the full balance of available funds in the omnibus MMDA sub-account at that Program Bank, which would result in all funds in your MMDA sub-account at that Program Bank being transferred to your Transaction sub-account and remaining there for the rest of that monthly statement cycle. In either case, at the beginning of the next monthly statement cycle, funds in your Transaction sub-account that exceed any target balance that the Program Administrator and/or Program Bank may have established for your Transaction sub-account will be transferred back to your MMDA sub-account.
Transfers between your Transaction and MMDA sub-accounts of the Program Deposit Account are managed automatically. This process does not impact the interest rate earned on your Program Deposit and it does not affect the number of withdrawals you can make from your Fidelity Cash Management Account.

Interest

Each Program Bank that holds your Program Deposits will pay you the same rate of interest on funds in your Transaction sub-account and your MMDA sub-account. The rate of interest paid by each Program Bank is variable and is tiered based in part on the value of your Eligible Assets. Fidelity determines the interest rates, tier levels, and Eligible Assets, all of which may change at any time in Fidelity's sole discretion and may be based on a number of factors, including general economic and business conditions. Customers with higher Eligible Assets generally will receive higher interest rates on their Program Deposits than customers with lower Eligible Assets. Interest on your Program Deposit will be paid by the Program Bank.

Over any given period, the interest rates on the Program Deposits may be lower than the rate of return on similar non-FDIC-insured investments or deposit accounts offered outside of the Program including deposit accounts held directly with a Program Bank. To compare current rates of return between your Program Deposit and similar, non-FDIC-insured cash balance options available at Fidelity, please visit Fidelity.com/FCMAcoreRates.

Fidelity offers similar programs to account owners who maintain Other Accounts. While the same Program Banks may participate in the Program as well as the programs for these Other Accounts, the interest rate paid by a Program Bank in connection with the Program may be different from that paid by the same Program Bank in connection with similar programs offered to account owners who maintain Other Accounts with Fidelity.

Accounts and assets that qualify as Eligible Assets may be found on Fidelity's Web site at Fidelity.com/FCMA. Please contact us at 800-544-6666 to find out more about how your Eligible Assets are determined and to ensure all eligible accounts are linked in your household.

Interest on your Program Deposit is accrued daily, compounded monthly, and is reflected on your Fidelity Cash Management Account monthly statement as of the last business day of the month. Interest on your Program Deposit begins to accrue on the business day those funds are received by the Program Bank, which will typically be the first business day (excluding bank holidays or days on which the New York Stock Exchange is closed, such as Good Friday) after the day those funds are posted to your Fidelity Cash Management Account as reflected on your statement.

The current interest rate and Annual Percentage Yield (APY) on Program Deposits will vary over time and can change daily. Current rates and APYs can be found on our Web site, Fidelity.com, or by calling 800-544-6666.

The applicable interest rates, tier levels, and Eligible Assets may be changed from time to time without notice to you. Any change in these terms will be posted at Fidelity.com/FCMA. You agree to check for updates to these terms. You understand that by continuing to maintain your Fidelity Cash Management Account without objecting to any change in terms, you are accepting any new terms and you will be legally bound by all new terms and conditions. If required by applicable law, we will provide you with prior notice of changes to these terms.

Relationship Between Fidelity, the Program Administrator, and the Program Banks

Under the Program, FBS serves as your broker, maintains your Fidelity Cash Management Account, and provides certain services to you in connection therewith. NFS acts as your agent in establishing an interest-bearing omnibus Program Deposit Account at a Program Bank, sweeping the Cash Balance in your Fidelity Cash Management Account into the Program Deposit Account, and sweeping funds from your Program Deposit back into your Fidelity Cash Management Account. The Program Administrator provides certain recordkeeping, technology, and consulting services to Fidelity and the Program Banks with respect to the allocation of funds between your Transaction and MMDA sub-accounts as referenced in the “Deposit Accounts” section of this Disclosure Statement. NFS will provide you a 1099 INT for interest earned on your Program Deposit at year-end.

Fidelity may be a customer of the Program Administrator or Program Bank and may have other financial interactions with the Program Administrator or a Program Bank. Additionally, the Program Administrator may also be a Program Bank. Finally, Fidelity may in the future designate one of its affiliates as the Program Administrator or a Program Bank or both.
Fees paid to Fidelity and the Program Administrator in connection with administering the Program are described below in the section entitled “Benefits to Fidelity and Others.”

Benefits to Fidelity and Others

Fidelity receives a fee from each Program Bank in connection with the Program that is typically based on the average aggregate daily Program Deposits held by such Program Bank. The fee paid to Fidelity may vary from Program Bank to Program Bank and will generally increase as the aggregate amount on deposit with the Program Bank increases. Fidelity offers similar programs to account owners who maintain Other Accounts. The same Program Banks may participate in the Program as well as the programs for these Other Accounts and the fee paid to Fidelity by the same Program Bank in connection with this Program may be different from that paid in connection with similar programs for Other Accounts.

The fee paid to Fidelity by each Program Bank may vary over time and may range up to an annualized rate equivalent to 4% of the balance of all Program Deposits at that Program Bank. Fidelity may from time to time reduce or waive all or a portion of the fee the Program Bank is otherwise obligated to pay. You will receive notification of any increase in the fee above 4.0%.

The fee paid to Fidelity by each Program Bank, which is a function of the “Rate” (as described below) and the interest rate (as described above), is established by Fidelity in accordance with Fidelity’s agreement with each Program Bank. The fee is calculated by multiplying the Program Deposits (or, in some cases, all or a portion of the Program Deposits held in each of the MMDA and Transaction sub-accounts) at a Program Bank by that Bank’s “Rate” and then subtracting total interest paid by the Program Bank to accounts with Program Deposits at that Program Bank. The “Interest Rates” section above describes how the interest rate is determined as well as how the interest paid to each customer is calculated. The total interest paid by the Program Bank will depend in part on the number of accounts with Program Deposits at that Program Bank as well as the level of Program Deposit balances at the Program Bank. The Rate is determined by Fidelity’s contract with each Program Bank, and will vary depending on the identity of the Program Bank, but will generally be tied to the London Interbank Offered Rate (LIBOR), the Federal Funds Effective Rate (FFE), or Federal Funds Target Rate (FFT). Depending on the Program Bank, the Rate may be tiered based upon the level of Program Deposits and may span a spectrum of up to 0.75% above or below LIBOR, FFE, or FFT.

For the provision of certain services in connection with the Program, including technology and accounting services and assistance in compliance with regulatory requirements, the Program Administrator will receive an annual fee from Fidelity equivalent to 0.010% of the aggregate daily balance of all Program Deposits up to a fixed cap. In addition, the Program Administrator will assist Fidelity with identifying new Program Banks to participate in the Program. For such assistance, the Program Administrator will receive a fee from Fidelity that will range from 0.010% to 0.020% of such Program Bank's Deposit Limit. These fees may be negotiated periodically. If the Program Administrator is also a Program Bank, the fee paid to Fidelity by the Program Bank and the service fee Fidelity pays the Program Administrator are separate and distinct and unrelated to one another.

The Program Banks use Program Deposits to fund current and new lending and for investment activities. The Program Banks earn net income from the difference between the interest they pay on Program Deposits and the fees paid to Fidelity and the income they earn on loans, investments, and other assets. As noted above, the Program Banks may pay rates of interest on Program Deposits that are lower than prevailing market interest rates.

FDIC Insurance Coverage/SIPC Protection

Your Program Deposit, together with any non-Program deposits you may have at the same Program Bank, which include deposits arising in connection with similar programs offered to account owners who maintain Other Accounts with Fidelity, as well as savings and checking accounts, money market deposit accounts, and CDs issued directly to you by the Program Bank, are insured by the FDIC, an independent agency of the U.S. government, up to a standard maximum amount in accordance with the rules of the FDIC. The applicable FDIC insurance limit depends upon the ownership capacity in which you hold the Program Deposit, and the relevant limit will be applied to all deposits (including Program Deposits and non-Program deposits) held in the same ownership capacity by you at the same Program Bank. Deposits held in different ownership capacities, as provided in FDIC rules, are insured separately. Single ownership accounts are insured up to $250,000 and each co-owner’s share of joint accounts is insured up to $250,000. For retirement accounts such as IRAs, the limit is typically $250,000. HSAs, unless they possess special features, are considered to be held in the same right and capacity. as other single ownership accounts of a depositor, and are combined with such other single ownership accounts, for the purpose of applying the $250,000 maximum limit. Special rules apply to insurance of trust deposits. If you have both a Program Deposit and non-Program deposits at the same Program Bank held in the same right and legal capacity as your Program Deposit, you must aggregate all such deposits with your Program Deposit for purposes of determining FDIC coverage. If your total funds on deposit at a Program Bank exceed the applicable FDIC insurance limit, the FDIC will not insure your funds in excess of the limit.

For more information, please visit fdic.gov or call 877-ASK-FDIC (877-275-3342).

Program Deposits (principal and accrued interest) at each Program Bank are eligible for FDIC insurance up to the applicable limits. Fidelity is not responsible for monitoring the amount of your Program Deposit in any Program Bank to determine whether it exceeds the limit of available FDIC insurance. You are responsible for monitoring the total amount of your assets on deposit with each Program Bank (including amounts in other accounts at the Program Bank held in the same right and legal capacity) in order to determine the extent of deposit insurance coverage available to you on those deposits, including your Program Deposit. If you are a trustee, you are responsible for determining the application of the insurance rules for you and your beneficiaries. If you expect to have total deposits at any Program Bank (including your Program Deposit and non-Program deposits) that exceed FDIC insurance coverage limits, you should carefully consider whether you should arrange for other investment options for amounts in excess of such coverage, in order to reduce your investment risk. Fidelity will not be responsible for any insured or uninsured portion of your Program Deposit. In the event that federal deposit insurance payments should become necessary, payments of FDIC-Insured principal plus unpaid and accrued interest will be made to you by the FDIC. There is no specific time period during which the FDIC must make insurance payments available to you and you may experience a significant delay in accessing your Program Deposits in the event that it becomes necessary for the FDIC to make such payments. You may be required to provide certain documentation to the FDIC and Fidelity before insurance payments are made.

Any securities held in your Account (as opposed to the Program Deposit) are investment products and as such: (i) are not insured by the FDIC; (ii) carry no bank or government guarantees; and (iii) have associated risks. By investing in securities you can lose your money, including the principal amount you invested. Securities held at Fidelity (as well as funds held at Fidelity and not at a Program Bank) are covered by SIPC. SIPC currently protects these funds and securities up to $500,000, including $250,000 for claims for cash. SIPC coverage does not cover fluctuations in the market value of your investments. Your Cash Balance is only eligible for FDIC insurance once it becomes a Program Deposit held by a Program Bank. Your Cash Balance while held by Fidelity and in transit to or from a Program Bank is not FDIC-insured but is covered by SIPC. For more information regarding FDIC insurance, please consult fdic.gov. For more information regarding SIPC coverage, or to request the SIPC brochure, please consult sipc.org or call 202-371-8300.

If Fidelity exercises its right to place your Cash Balance into a core position other than the FDIC-Insured Deposit Sweep, such as a money market mutual fund, a free credit balance position, or other available cash investment vehicle, your new core position would not be eligible for FDIC insurance, but may be protected by SIPC in accordance with applicable legal requirements and limitations.
Fidelity® Cash Management Account Fees

The Fidelity® Cash Management Account is highly flexible, and our cost structure is flexible as well. Our use of “à la carte” pricing for many features helps to ensure that you only pay for the features you use.

About Our Commissions and Fees

The most economical way to place trades is online, meaning either through Fidelity.com, Fidelity Active Trader Pro®, or Fidelity Mobile®. The next most economical way is Fidelity Automated Service Telephone (FAST®). This automated service is available around the clock and can be accessed from a touch-tone phone. The fees described in this document apply to the Fidelity® Cash Management Account.

These commissions and fees apply to securities including, but not limited to, domestic (U.S.) equities traded on national exchanges, short sales, exchange-traded funds (ETFs), and U.S.-traded foreign securities (ADRs, or American Depository Receipts, and ORDs, or Ordinaries). For details on foreign stock trading, see the Foreign Stocks section.

In addition to the commission, there is an assessment charged on all sell orders. This assessment, which typically ranges from between $0.01 to $0.03 per $1,000 of principal, is intended to cover what is sometimes referred to as a “regulatory fee” or “Section 31 Fee.” Fidelity reminds these fees to certain self-regulatory organizations and national securities exchanges, which in turn make payment to the SEC. These fees are intended to cover the costs incurred by the government, including the SEC, for supervising and regulating the securities markets and securities professionals. Because the fees may vary over time, and because these variations may not be immediately known to Fidelity, you acknowledge and agree that Fidelity shall have the right to determine the amount of such assessment in its sole and exclusive discretion, that the assessment may differ from or exceed the actual amount of the fee applicable to your transaction, and that Fidelity may retain any such excess for its benefit.

Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC (“FBS”) and/or NFS receive reimbursement, compensation, or other consideration (such as financial credits or reciprocal business) for directing orders to particular broker/dealers or market centers for execution. The payer, source, and nature of any compensation received in connection with your particular transaction will vary based on the venue that a trade has been routed to for execution and will be disclosed upon written request to FBS. Please refer to Fidelity’s customer agreement for additional information about order flow practices and to Fidelity’s commitment to execution quality (http://personal.fidelity.com/products/trading/Fidelity_Services/Service_Commitment.shtml) for additional information about order routing. Also review FBS’s annual disclosure on payment for order flow policies and order routing policies.

FBS has entered into a long-term, exclusive, and significant arrangement with the advisor to the iShares Funds that includes but is not limited to FBS’s promotion of iShares funds, as well as in some cases purchase of certain iShares funds at a reduced commission rate (“Marketing Program”). FBS receives compensation from the fund’s advisor or its affiliates in connection with the Marketing Program. FBS is entitled to receive additional payments during or after termination of the Marketing Program based upon a number of criteria, including the overall success of the Marketing Program. The Marketing Program creates significant incentives for FBS to encourage customers to buy iShares funds. Additional information about the sources, amounts, and terms of compensation is described in the ETF’s prospectus and related documents.

Free commission offer applies to online purchases of Fidelity ETFs and select iShares ETFs in a Fidelity brokerage account. The sale of ETFs is subject to an activity assessment fee (of between $0.01 and $0.03 per $1,000 principal).

NEW ISSUE

Fidelity makes certain new issue products available without a separate transaction fee. Fidelity may receive compensation for participating in the offering as a selling group member or underwriter. The compensation Fidelity receives from issuers when acting as both underwriter and selling group member is reflected in the “Range of Fees from Underwriting” column. When Fidelity acts as underwriter but securities are sold through other selling group members, Fidelity receives the underwriting fees less the selling group fees.

Sales compensation for such things as systems development necessary to positions in certain mutual funds in your account. FBS may also receive compensation in connection with the purchase and/or the ongoing maintenance of fundsNetwork NTF funds. At the time you purchase shares of funds, those shares will be assessed based on the status assigned to the shares at the time of purchase.

Short-term Trading Fees

Fidelity charges a short-term trading fee each time you sell or exchange shares of a FundsNetwork NTF fund held less than 60 days. This fee does not apply to Fidelity funds, money market funds, FundsNetwork Transaction Fee funds, FundsNetwork load funds, funds redeemed through the Personal Withdrawal Service, or shares purchased through dividend reinvestment. In addition, Fidelity reserves the right to exempt other funds from this fee, such as funds designed to achieve their stated objective on a short-term basis. The fee will be based on the following fee schedule:

- Online: $49.95 flat fee
- Fidelity Automated Service Telephone (FAST): 0.5625% of principal (25% off representative-assisted rates), maximum $187.50, minimum $75
- Representative-Assisted: 0.75% of principal, maximum $250, minimum $100

Keep in mind that the short-term trading fee charged by Fidelity on FundsNetwork NTF funds is different and separate from a short-term redemption fee assessed by the fund itself. Not all funds have short-term redemption fees; so please review the fund's prospectus to learn more about a potential short-term redemption fee charged by a particular fund.

Fidelity reserves the right to change the funds available without transaction fees and reinstate the fees on any funds.

FundsNetwork Transaction-Fee Funds

Purchases:
- Online: $49.95 or $75 per purchase. To identify any applicable transaction fees associated with the purchase of a given fund, please refer to the “Fees and Distributions” tab on the individual fund page on Fidelity.com.
- FAST®: 0.5625% of principal per purchase; minimum $75, maximum $187.50
- Representative-Assisted: 0.75% of principal per purchase; minimum $100, maximum $250

Redemptions:
- Fidelity does not charge a transaction fee on any redemption of shares of a transaction-fee fund that were purchased with no load. A fund's own redemption fees may apply.
- You can buy shares in a transaction-fee fund from its principal underwriter or distributor without a Fidelity transaction fee.

FundsNetwork Load Funds
- A fund's sales charges may apply. Fidelity does not charge a transaction fee on a load fund. A fund's own redemption fees may apply.

FOREIGN STOCKS

Fidelity offers you two different ways to trade foreign stocks. You can utilize either Fidelity's “International Trading” functionality or its “Foreign Ordinary Shares Trading” service. Depending on the service, different commissions, taxes and fees may apply as more fully described below. You can also call a Fidelity representative for further detail.

International Trading

International Trading allows customers to trade stocks from 25 countries and exchange between 16 currencies. These trades are placed using a root symbol, followed by a colon (:), and then the two-letter country code for the market the customer wants to trade in. The commission and additional charges that may apply for International Trading will vary as noted below, depending on the market and whether the trade is placed online or through a representative. Please also note that if a security trading on an exchange in one of the markets noted below is only listed for trading in a currency other than that country's local market's currency, then the commissions and fees that will be charged will be based on the currency the security is trading in instead of the local market's currency. The list of countries, currencies, taxes, and fees provided below is subject to change without notice.

- Austria, Belgium, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Netherlands, Portugal, and Spain
  - Online: $19 EUR per trade
  - Rep-Assisted: 50 EUR per trade

  Note: There may be additional fees or taxes imposed on transactions in certain securities including: Financial Transaction Tax 0.30% of principal per trade on purchases of French securities and 0.10% of principal per trade on purchases of Italian securities.

- Stamp Tax 1.00% of principal per trade on purchases of Irish securities.

- Australia
  - Online: $32 AUD per trade
  - Rep-Assisted: $70 AUD per trade

- Canada
  - Online: $19 CAD per trade
  - Rep-Assisted: $70 CAD per trade
Foreign Ordinary Share Trading

Foreign Ordinary Share Trading allows customers to trade shares in foreign corporations on the over-the-counter (OTC) market using a five-character symbol ending in “F.” Trades in foreign ordinary shares can be placed online or through a Fidelity representative. In either case, the domestic commission schedule for stocks/ETFs will apply. A $50 fee will also be charged on each transaction in any foreign ordinary stock that is not Depository Trust Company eligible. Depending on the security and the market, additional charges will apply, as described below. There may also be further fees, taxes, or other charges assessed when conducting transactions in foreign securities beyond those described here. Details regarding these charges are available from a Fidelity representative. These fees and taxes, if any, will be disclosed on the trade confirmation (either individually or in the aggregate) and/or may be incorporated into the execution price.

All Other Countries

For every country other than Canada, shares will be traded on the over-the-counter market through a U.S. market maker, unless you direct otherwise when you place your trade through a representative. In that situation (that is, if you direct that the transaction occur other than on the over-the-counter market), an additional foreign exchange fee of up to 0.30% of principal per trade may be incorporated into the execution price.

OTHER INVESTMENTS

Commercial Paper  $50 per transaction
Unit Investment Trusts (UITs) $35 minimum per redemption; no fee to purchase. Fidelity makes certain new issue products available without a separate transaction fee. Fidelity receives compensation for participating in the offering as a selling group member. Fees from participating in the selling group range from 1% to 4% of the public offering price. Fidelity may also receive compensation for reaching certain sales levels, which range from 0.001%–0.0025% of the monthly volume sold.

Fidelity charges a quarterly storage fee on precious metals. Fidelity charges a quarterly storage fee of 0.125% of the total value of precious metals transaction: $44. Minimum fee for precious metals transaction: $2,500 ($1,000 per IRAs).

OTHER FEES AND COMPENSATION

Foreign Currency Wires up to 3% of principal; charged when converting USD to wire funds in a foreign currency
Foreign Dividends/Reorganizations 1% of principal; charged when a dividend is paid or a reorganization event occurs on a foreign asset held in an account in USD
Debit Card and ATM Fees

There is no annual fee for the Fidelity® Visa® Gold Check Card. Your Fidelity Cash Management Account will automatically be reimbursed for ATM fees charged and itemized by other institutions when using the card at any ATM displaying the Visa®, Plus®, or Star® logos. The reimbursement will be credited to your Fidelity Cash Management Account the same day the ATM fee is debited from the account. In rare instances, ATM owners may not itemize fees, which may cause disruption of individual automatic rebates. Should this occur, please contact Fidelity. Note: There is a foreign transaction fee of 1% that is not waived or reimbursed, and will be included in the amount charged to your account.

The Fidelity® Visa® Gold Check Card is issued by PNC Bank, NA, and administered by BNY Mellon Investment Servicing Trust Company, which are not affiliated with Fidelity.

Transfer and Ship Certificates $100 per certificate; applies only to customers who have certificate shares reregistered and shipped; waived for households that meet certain asset and trade minimums at Fidelity.

Fee Waiver Eligibility

To determine your eligibility for fee waivers, we group the assets and trading activity of all of the eligible accounts shown on your periodic account statement. Eligible accounts generally include those maintained with Fidelity Service Company, Inc., or FBS [such as 401(k), 403(b), or 457 plan assets] or held in Fidelity Investments Life Insurance Company accounts, Fidelity Portfolio Advisory Service® or Fidelity® Personalized Portfolios accounts. Assets maintained by Fidelity Personal Trust Company, FSB, are generally not included. We may include other assets at our discretion.

We will review your account periodically to confirm that your household is receiving the best fee waivers it qualifies for; and may change your fee waiver eligibility at any time based on these reviews. We update fee waiver eligibility across household accounts promptly after a daily review of trading activity, and monthly after a review of household assets. All trading activity is measured on a rolling 12-month basis.

If you believe there are eligible accounts within your household that are not being counted in our fee waiver eligibility process—for example, accounts held by immediate family members who reside with you—you may authorize Fidelity to consolidate these accounts into an aggregated relationship household and review them for eligibility. Any resulting fee waivers would extend both to you and to all immediate family members residing with you.

Most customers receive only a single customer reporting statement from Fidelity and do not need to take any action. However, for more information, go to Fidelity.com/goto/commissions or call us at 800-544-6666.

Prospectuses and Fact Sheets

Free prospectuses are available for UITs, Fidelity funds, and Fidelity FundsNetwork® funds. Fact sheets are available for certificates of deposit. To obtain any of these documents, and for other information on any fund offered through Fidelity, including charges and expenses, call 800-544-6666 or visit Fidelity.com.

WHAT?
The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:
- Social Security number and employment information
- Assets and income
- Account balances and transaction history

When you are no longer our customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.

HOW?
All financial companies need to share customers' personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their customers’ personal information, the reasons Fidelity Investments and the Fidelity Funds (hereinafter referred to as “Fidelity”) choose to share, and whether you can limit this sharing.

WHO WE ARE

| Who is providing this notice? | Companies owned by Fidelity Investments using the Fidelity name to provide financial services to customers, and the Fidelity Funds. A list of companies is located at the end of this notice. |

WHAT WE DO

| How does Fidelity protect my personal information? | To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings. |
| How does Fidelity collect my personal information? | We collect your personal information, for example, when you open an account or direct us to buy/sell your securities, provide account information or give us your contact information, and tell us about your investment portfolio. We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates, or other companies. |
| Why can’t I limit all sharing? | Federal law gives you the right to limit only sharing for affiliates’ everyday business purposes—information about your creditworthiness, affiliates from using certain information to market to you, sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you. State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing. |

DEFINITIONS

| Affiliates | Companies related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies. Fidelity Investments affiliates include companies with the Fidelity name (excluding the Fidelity Funds), as listed below, and other financial companies such as National Financial Services LLC, Strategic Advisers LLC, and FIAM LLC. |
| Nonaffiliates | Companies not related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies. Fidelity does not share with nonaffiliates so they can market to you. |
| Joint marketing | A formal agreement between nonaffiliated financial companies that together market financial products or services to you. Fidelity doesn’t jointly market. |

OTHER IMPORTANT INFORMATION

If you transact business through Fidelity Investments life insurance companies, we may validate and obtain information about you from an insurance support organization. The insurance support organization may further share your information with other insurers, as permitted by law. We may share medical information about you to learn if you qualify for coverage, to process claims, to prevent fraud, or otherwise at your direction, as permitted by law. You are entitled to receive, upon written request, a record of any disclosures of your medical record information. Please refer to your statements and other correspondence for mailing addresses.

If you establish an account in connection with your employer, your employer may request and receive certain information relevant to the administration of employee accounts.

If you interact with Fidelity Investments directly as an individual investor (including joint account holders), we may exchange certain information about you with Fidelity Investments financial services affiliates, such as our brokerage and insurance companies, for their use in marketing products and services as allowable by law. Information collected from investment professionals’ customers is not shared with Fidelity Investments affiliates for marketing purposes, except with your consent and as allowed by law.

The Fidelity Funds have entered into a number of arrangements with Fidelity Investments companies to provide for investment management, distribution, and servicing of the Funds. The Fidelity Funds do not share personal information about you with other entities for any reason, except for everyday business purposes in order to service your account. For additional information, please visit Fidelity.com.

Fidelity is committed to providing continuous customer service and support; however, we recognize that there are potential risks that could disrupt our ability to serve you. We are confident that we have taken the necessary steps that will allow us to reduce or eliminate the impact of a business disruption.

Fidelity recognizes the responsibility we have to our customers. We have implemented a business continuity management program with a strong governance model and commitment from senior management. Our continuity program’s primary objectives are to meet the needs of our customers, maintain the wellbeing and safety of our employees, and meet our regulatory obligations. The planning process is risk based and involves the understanding and prioritization of critical operations across the firm, the anticipation of probable threats, and the proactive development of strategies to mitigate the impact of those events.

Our continuity planning teams work closely with local governments and officials in the event of an outage impacting our operations. Additionally, Fidelity has identified three large scale scenarios that require particular focus: pandemics, events impacting stock and bond market operations, and cyber events. Detailed response plans have been developed and cross-discipline teams have been trained to address both day-to-day disruptions as well as these specific events.

Each Fidelity department has developed the capabilities to recover both operations and systems. All continuity plans are designed to account for disruptions of various lengths and scopes, and to ensure that critical functions are recovered to meet their business objectives. Critical business groups operate from multiple sites. Dedicated teams within our technology organizations ensure that critical applications and data have sufficient redundancy and availability to minimize the impact of an event. Key components of Fidelity’s continuity and technology recovery planning include:

- Alternate physical locations and preparedness
- Alternative means to communicate with our customers
- Back-up telecommunication and systems
- Employee safety programs

Plans are tested regularly to ensure they are effective should an actual event occur. Fidelity’s Business Continuity Plans are reviewed no less than annually to ensure the appropriate updates are made to account for operations, technology, and regulatory changes. Material changes will be reflected in an updated “Notice of Business Continuity Plan.” You may obtain a copy of this notice at any time by contacting a Fidelity Representative.
